History of Higher Education in the State
A brief note that covers the major trends in higher education in your state such as emergence of private colleges, growth of professional education, neglect of any particular faculty areas; any other pertinent information that explains the topography of the State's higher education sector today and how it effects future plans for the state.

HISTORY OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN KARANATAKA

Knowledge of History of Higher Education helps one to examine the policies pursued in the past and resultant development of higher education sector. History throws light on the path traded by the State; trends emerged over different time periods, important milestones of achievements and reasons for successes, pitfalls and constraints faced by different sub-sectors, failures and deficiencies, confronted by the sector over time. The knowledge of history enables analysis of the past mistakes, be it in policy issues, planning issues or in implementation of schemes and the lessons learnt thereof. The historical knowledge helps in finding ways and means to prevent bad history getting repeated. India has moved ahead after independence when limited number of population were fortunate to get higher education onto a stage of mass education and surged as major human resource producing country in the world.

The world has moved quite far since the era of globalisation. A chain of reforms have swept India since the beginning of liberalization, privatisation and globalisation from the beginning of the 1990s in India. Higher Education has become globalised; private sector's role in higher education has dominated the total higher education scenario, and as a consequence, commercialization has become hallmark of education that has been forcing majority of parents for making huge investment on children's education, taking away their savings and alternative investment opportunities. With the depletion of per capita land availability, people are forced to invest on acquiring knowledge in place of physical property. Worldwide, society is increasingly evolving to transform into a learning society, a society of Knowledge. Information technology and communication technology are fueling the transformation. Whichever State invests early and more on building infrastructure for knowledge society, flourishes quickly reaping the benefits of higher education, be it research output, innovation, employment, economy or business in goods and services and overall development.

Karnataka has emerged as the Knowledge capital of India and a well known education destination in the country. Bangalore is the Silicon Valley of India, IT and BT capital, medical destination. Though Karnataka has emerged as one of the leading state educationally, still the disparities persists among genders, regions, and social categories, causing social tensions and inequities. Gradual transformation of Class Education into Mass Education has resulted in many systemic deficiencies like poor quality of teaching and learning infrastructure, poor standards of outgoing students and unemployability of bigger share of outgoing graduates.

It is interesting to review the growth and development of higher education in Karnataka over the past few decades since its origin in India and Karnataka. The sector growth and subsector growth over decades under different plan periods, different policy regimes when taken cognizance would be useful for deciding the right course of action for future.

Education in Ancient India

The Indian education system can be traced to the Vedic period (prehistoric period of 1000 BC) and the Epic Period (1000-800 BC) common educational institutions of those days were the Ashramas and hermitages of Acharyas and Kulgurus. Besides Vedas, Politics, Economics, Ethics, Technical Education, and Science of warfare, and Metallurgy were the important subjects.
Education in ancient Karntaka had its beginnings in agraharas, mathas and a little later in the mosques as well. The intellectual atmosphere in Karnataka nurtured great thinkers such a Madhvacharya, Ramanujacharya, Sarvajna, Purandara Dasa, Kanakadasa and Basavanna.

Education in Medieval India

Educational system of Ashramas during the epic period slowly developed into three types of institutions: the Gurukula Schools, Temple Colleges and the Agrahara Village institutions. In Karnataka with its profusion of temples led to temple colleges in the medieval times. These colleges offered free lodging, boarding and tuition and even paid for other personal expenses. South Indian inscriptions, especially those from Mysore, have revealed another kind of educational institutions known as Agrahara, Ghatika or Brahmapuri. These institutions represented colonies of scholarly Brahmins who specialized in different branches of study and were free to impart education to willing pupils. . Logic, philosophy, poetry and drama were taught.
Christian Missions started providing education to children of all communities.

Evolution Concept of University Education.

It is an assembly of many teachers and students, the students must be drawn from many places and not, merely adjoining areas, and many subjects must be taught. The word univeritas was used as collective noun to indicate the association of businessmen, teachers, students, scholars and so on. Nalanda, Valabhi, Vikramashila and Mithila were the medieval Universities in India.

Pre-Independence Era

Karnataka being far away from the University centres like Madras and Bombay, could not get the advantage of of Modern University education in th eearley days of the establishment of Universities (1857) and suffered a great disadvantage in educational matters in the 19th century.

Survey Schools were the first to start in 1794 although they were training only the English boys in the beginning as a precaution against reliable maps falling into hands of the French, the Dutch and other rival powers that were operating in India at that time.

The modern period of higher education in India can be traced back to British in Macaulay's words wanted to create, "a class who would be interpreters between us and the millions whom we govern, a class of persons Indian in blood and colour, but English in tastes, in opinions, in moral and in intellect," who would be consumers of British goods, provide recruits for the subordinate ranks of the East India Company's civil service and be loyal to the Raj.

English higher education in India can be said to have begun with the establishment of the Hindu College in Calcutta in 1817 with the efforts of Raja Ram Mohan Roy and David Hare.

Lord Hardinge's government announced that those receiving English education would get preference in all government appointments.

The genesis of Higher Education in Karnataka can be traced back to the late 1800s when some colleges affiliated to University of Madras were established in Mysore province. To begin with several schools were established by both maharajas as well as States, which were subsequently upgraded to colleges.
Education in the new schools and colleges became a passport for entrance to government service and the professions. Thus the British rule gradually supplanted the pre-colonial indigenous system of education and imposed a new language and curricula. The purpose of education, too, altered. In traditional Indian institutions, education had mainly a religious and cultural aim while the new English high schools and colleges were degree-granting institutions that enabled students' access to power in the colonial political and economic system.
University College, Mangalore 1868, Maharaja Sanskrit College, Mysore, 1876, St. Aloysius College, Mangalore, 1881, St. Josephs Arts & Science College, Bangalore, 1882, Maharaja College, Mysore, 1886, are some of the colleges established during 19th century. University Visvesvaraya College of Engineering Bangalore was perhaps the first Engineering College that was established by Sir M Visvesavaraya under the patronage of Mysore Maharaja in 1917.

Women's education was given a great emphasis in early 20th century and the then Maharaja established Maharani's Science College For Women, Mysore in 2017 after the Mysore University was started in 1916. Mysore Medical College was started in the year 1924. Govt. Arts College Bangalore was started in 1927, Yuvaraja College at Mysore in 1928, Maharani's Science College Bangalore was started in 1938, the second engineering college SKSJT Technological Institute Bangalore was started in 1938, Govt. Science college Tumkur in 1940, Sahyadri Science College, Shimoga in 1940, National College Bangalore, Vijaya College Bangalore were started in 1945, St Philomina's College Mysore and BMS college Bangalore were started in 1946. The third Engineering college National Institute of Engineering, Mysore was started in 1946.

The year 1945 is an important year in the history of higher education in Karnataka as the State Government directly entered in the field of higher education. a number of private colleges were also opened during that year. The University was able to secure the services of scholars of great reputation like S Radhakrishnan, A R Wadia, Brijendranath Seal, C R Reddy, KT Shah and R K Mukherjee.

In India between 1855-1856 and 1921-1922, the number of general colleges increased from 21 to 172 and pupils in them from 4,355 to 58,837. By 1947, there were 19 universities and 496 colleges with 2, 37,546 pupils. The growth was mainly in privately managed colleges. It is well known that Indian education had a predominantly literary bias. The number of `arts' colleges and pupils in them far surpassed the professional colleges. In 1901-02, while there were 140 Arts colleges with 17,655 pupils in them, there were only 46 professional colleges with 5,358 pupils. Between 1886-87 and 1946-47, the number of Arts colleges increased from 86 to 420 but the growth in professional colleges was much slower.

Post Independence era

The Government of India had appointed the University Education Commission in 1948 under the Chairmanship of Dr. S. Radhakrishna to report on India University Education and suggest improvements that may be desirable to suit the present and future requirements of the country.

The Commission among other things recommended that Government should not administer any Government College and all Colleges now under the administrative control of Government should be transferred to the Universities. This recommendation does not appear to have been uniformly accepted by all the States and even where it was accepted the result was not satisfactory.

At the time of reorganization of State as on 1, Nov.1956, 4 Government Colleges (at Dharwad, Madikeri, Mangalore and Gulbarga) were brought under the purview the only University namely University of Mysore. This wholesale transfer of Government Colleges to the University, but the experience was so discouraging that they had to be re-transferred to Government.
The University Grants Commission has recommended that the University should give primary importance to the development of Post-Graduate studies and Research work under its direct administration. In view of the recommendation of U.G.C., University should not take the responsibility of administrating Under-Graduate College. However it can restrict itself to maintenance of the academic standards and entrust administrative problems to a separate agency.

Government of Karnataka constituted a University Education Integration Committee in 1958 under the Chairmanship of Dr. Lakshmana Swamy Modaliyar to examine the problem of under-graduate education. The Committee recommended for establishment of a separate Directorate for Collegiate Education in Karnataka.These recommendations were accepted by the Government and the under-graduate Colleges were transferred to the newly established Department of Collegiate Education with effect from 24.06.1960.

From this day onwards, the Department of Collegiate Education is functioning under the direct supervision of Department of Higher Education. To start with the Department of Collegiate Education was only managing the establishment and administration of Government Colleges, with the Director as its Head.

Government of Karnataka introduced a policy of grant-in-aid to Private Colleges. Accordingly the Department of Collegiate Education was entrusted with the responsibility of implementation and administration of grant-in-aid policy to Private Institutions. Due to enhancement of work as a consequence of grant-in-aid policy, Regional Offices were established. As on now there are Six Regional Offices at Dharwad, Bangalore, Mysore, Mangalore, Gulbarga and Shimoga.

The Government of Karnataka created a post of Commissioner for Collegiate Education since 1997.

Decadal Growth in number of General Degree Govt. Colleges of Karnataka

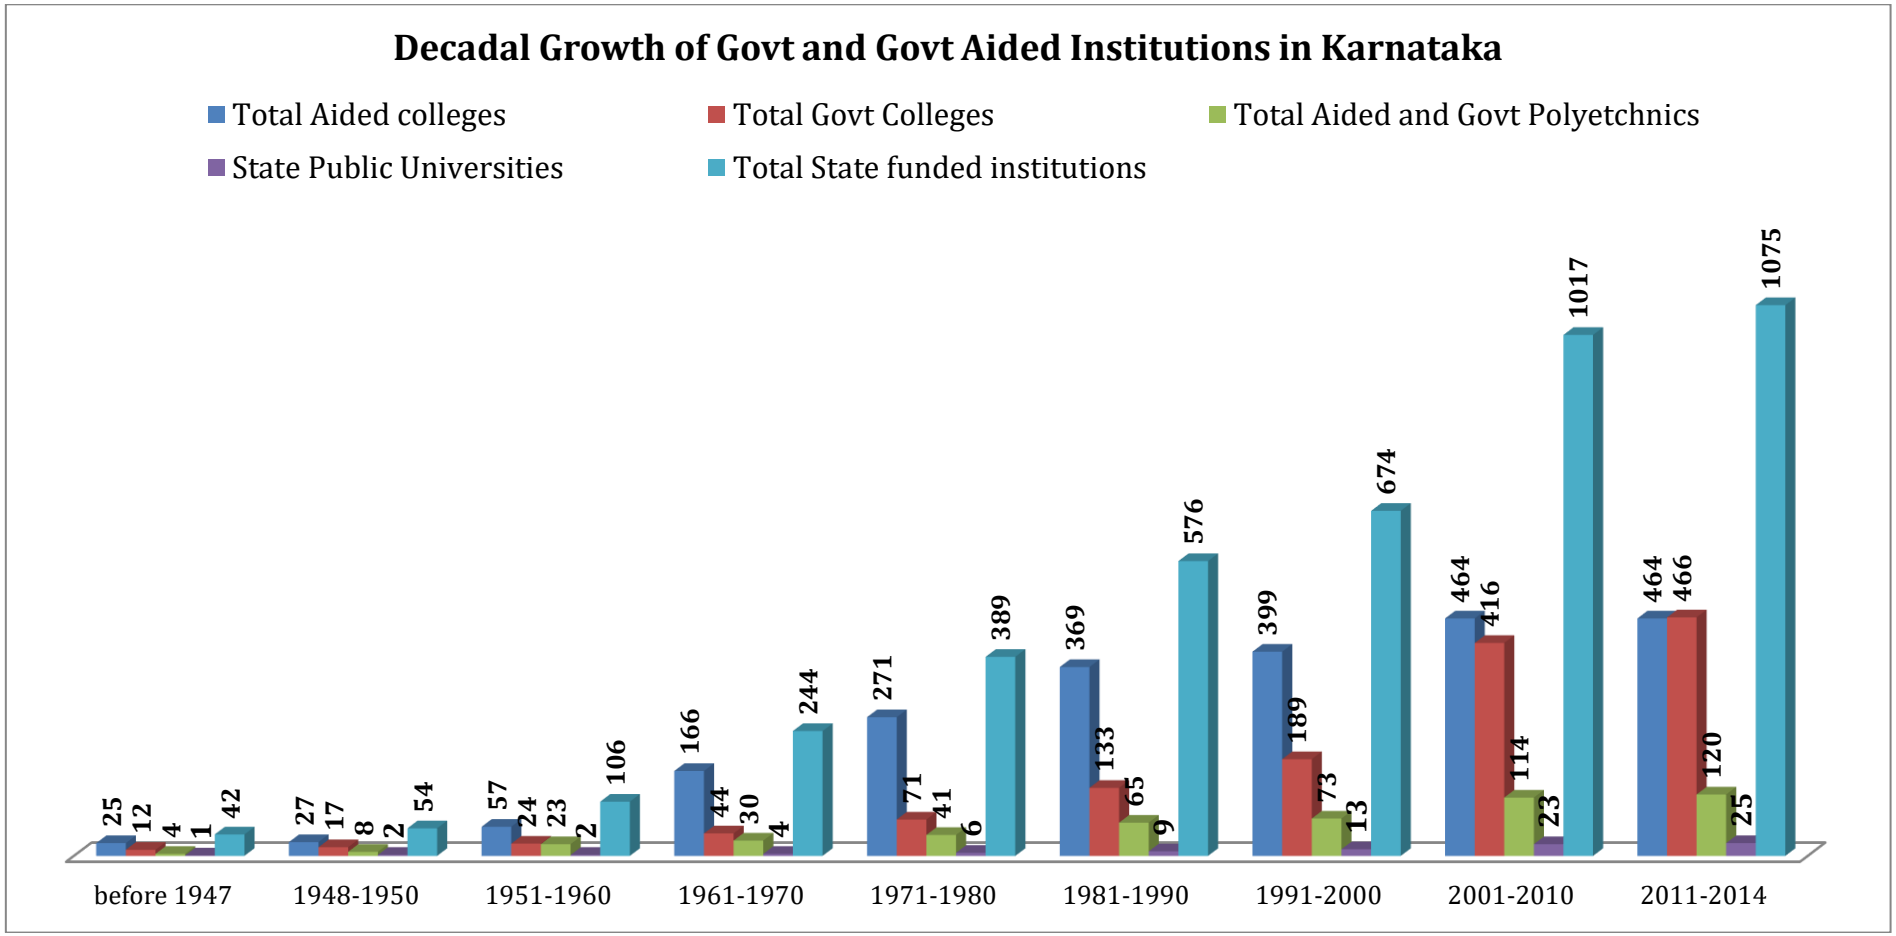
2001-2010	206	356	137
2011-2014	49	404	13

The number of Government General Degree colleges was just six at the time of independence. Within three years of independence the number increased by 83% over the previous decade, totaling to 11. In 1950s there was addition of only one college. The number of Govt. colleges doubled from 12 to 24 during 60s. The 70s saw an increase by only 67% taking the cumulative number of colleges to 40. During 80s the first boom of growth was impressive as there was increase by 145% increasing the number of colleges to 98. 90s saw an increase by 53%. Second quantum jump in growth was seen in first decade of 21st Century. While it took over 5 decades to reach 100 colleges, it just took over 2 decades to quadruple to 411 colleges by 2014. Significant observation is that after 1960s every decade noticed an impressive growth by a minimum of 50% and thrice crossing the 100% mark.

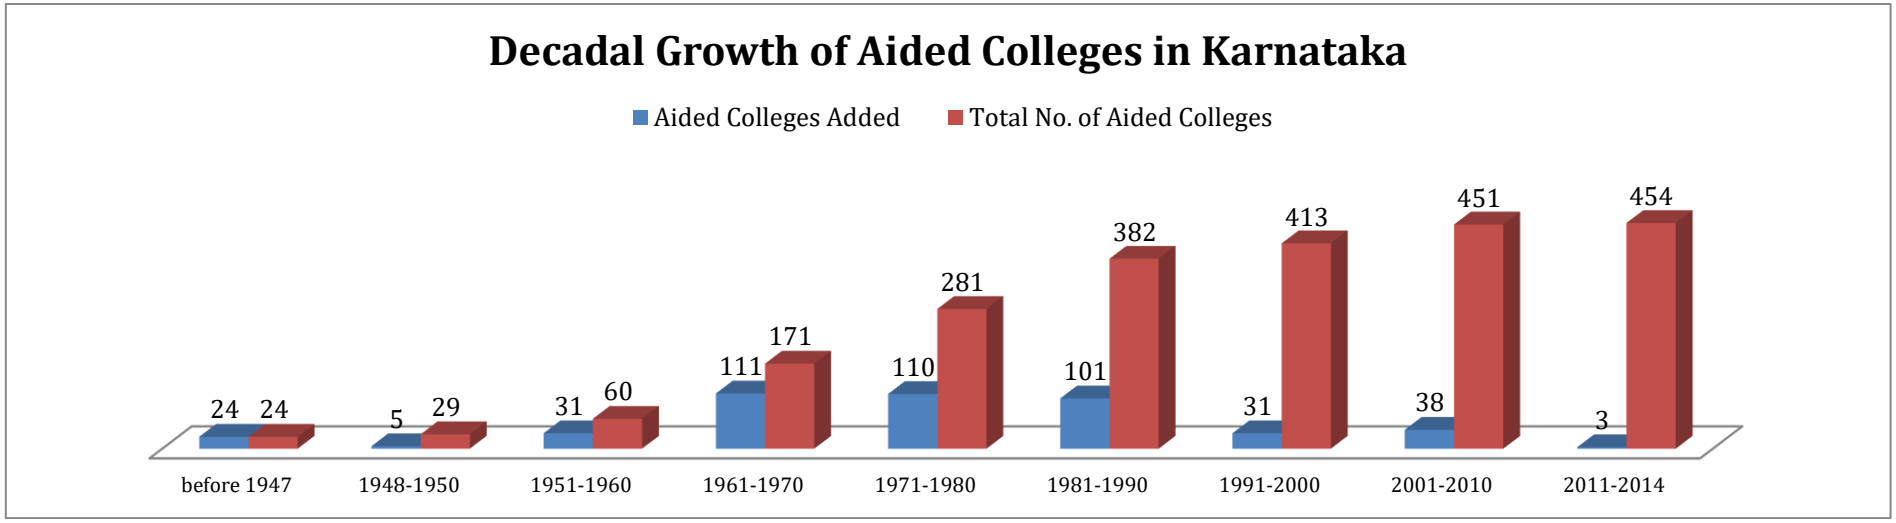
Decadal Growth of State Funded institutions of Higher Education

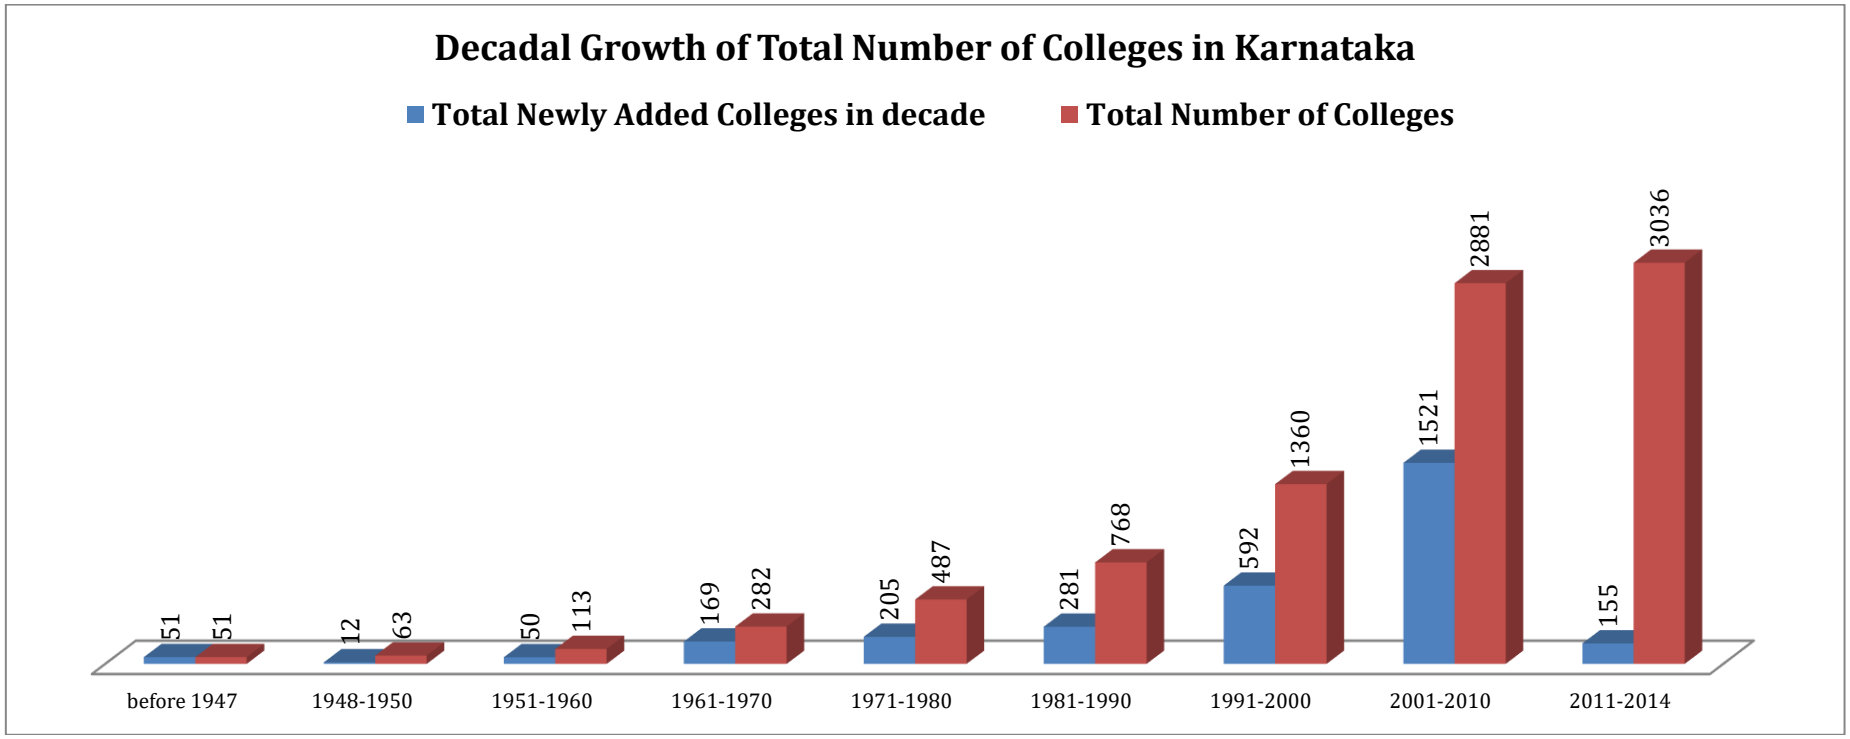
There were only 12 Government colleges while 25 aided colleges and only four polytechnics and 2 Universities were there in the State before independence and today the number has increased to 45 Universities, 464 Government colleges including 411 Govt. first grade colleges and 466 aided colleges including 314 aided first grade colleges raising the total Govt. funded institutions to more than 1075 and thus making the State of Karnataka the most eligible State with the highest beneficiary institutions under RUSA Scheme. The growth of Govt colleges in the last decade was very significant and the overall number of government institutions almost doubled from 576 in 1990 to 1075 in 2014.



Decadal Growth of Aided colleges

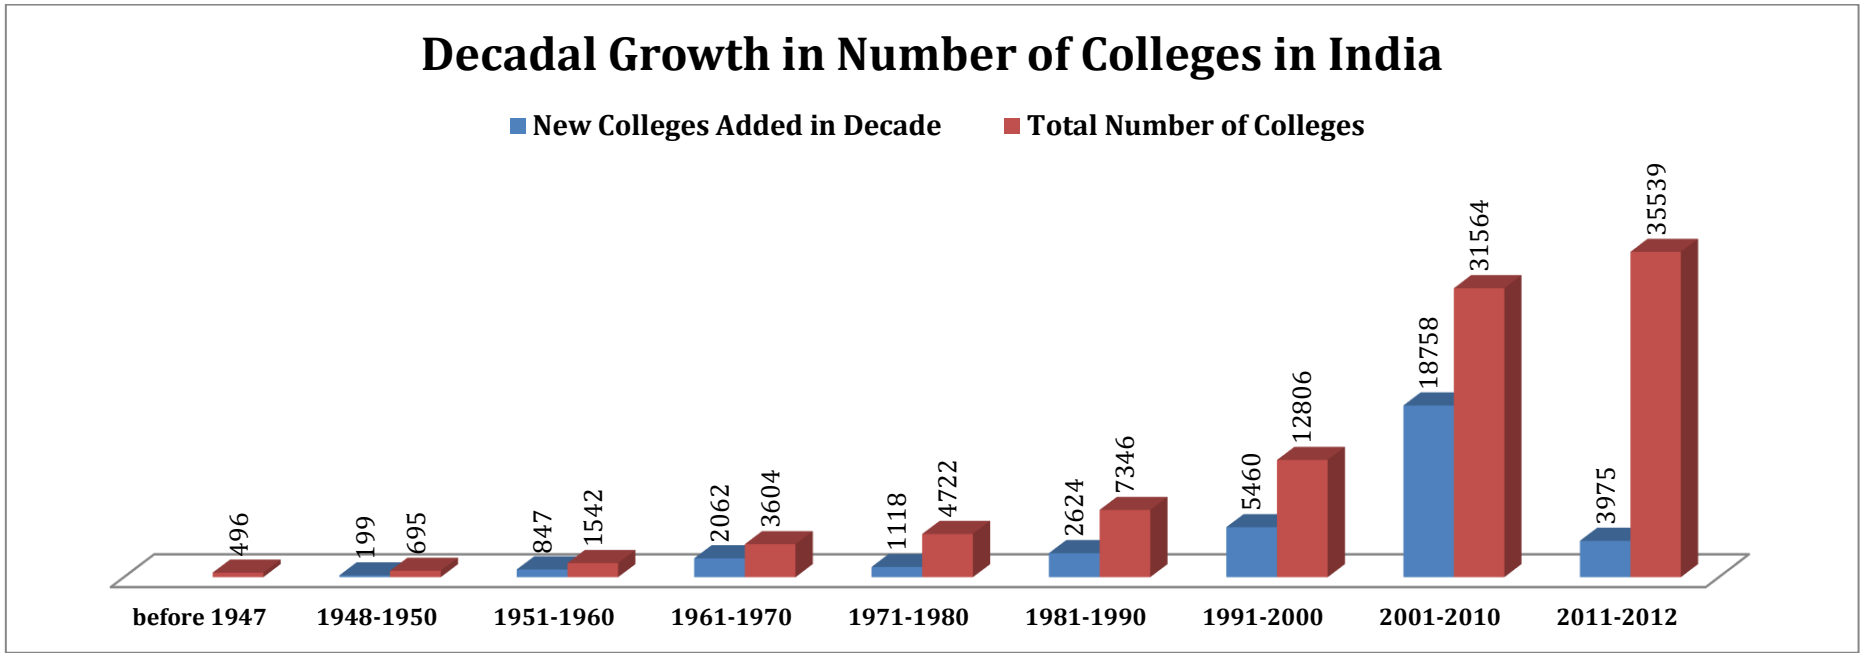
The pattern in growth of aided colleges is quite different from that of government colleges. Whereas, the boom in growth in number of aided colleges was noticed in 60s through 80s, which preceded the boom in growth in Govt. colleges, in case of which the boom was noticed in 90s and more so in first decade of this century in contrast with the boom in aided colleges.





The growth of higher and technical education institutions in the nineties has been phenomenal in Karnataka. Between 1995/96 and 1998/99, the number of general degree colleges increased from 749 to 932, and is 975 at present. Most of this increase was in the private self-financing sector, where the number increased from 41 to 473. Government colleges also increased substantially, though not to the same extent. Because of the freeze imposed by the Government, there has been no increase in the number of private aided institutions.

More significant was the growth in number of all types of colleges during the previous decade, the first decade of 21st Century. The total number of institutions more than doubled in just one decade far surpassing the total number of institutions that were established in all the previous decades right from independence.



Decadal growth in number of colleges both in India and in Karnataka follow more or less similar pattern. However, the growth in Karnataka was significant and preceded the growth bloom of India in number of colleges in 60s itself while the growth in India was more pronounced after 90s. This is also one of the reasons for awakening of Karnataka and being reckoned as one of the premier State to develop educationally.

History and Growth of University Education

Looking at the history of Universities in Karnataka, the first University to be established was University of Mysore (1916) followed by Karnataka University (1949) and Bangalore University (1964). All these were conventional multi-faculty, multidisciplinary Universities, which had medical, engineering, general, education, law, and sports disciplines. Currently the medical, and in some universities the engineering streams have been taken out of these universities. Subsequently there was an expansion in number of Universities in 1980s. Mangalore(1980), Gulbarga (1980), Kuvempu (Shimoga1987), Tumkur(2004), Davangere(2009), Rani Channamma (Belgaum2010) and Vijayanagara Srikrishnadevaraya (Bellary 2010) Universities, were all carved out of the respective parent Universities as composite and affiliating entities. In 1990s, two more important additions to the list of multi-faculty Universities were added namely, Karnataka State Open University (Mysore 1996) for those who could not pursue regular university courses, and Karnataka State Women's University (Bijapur 2003) dedicated exclusively for women in Karnataka.

Simultaneously a new culture of creating specialized Universities unitary in nature was emanating. The first specialized University formed was University of Agricultural Sciences, Bangalore (1964) which has grown as premier institution of agricultural education and research in the country. With growing impetus given by the Government for the agricultural sector, two more Universities of Agricultural Sciences were established at Dharwad (1989) and Raichur (1999). Further ramification of Agriculture Universities took place, with the objective of providing better autonomy to the veterinary education and research in the state, the Veterinary and Animal sciences faculties were detached from the parent Agricultural Universities and placed under the single University -

Karnataka Veterinary, Animal and Fisheries Sciences University(2004) with its headquarters in the northern district of Karnataka, Bidar. So also the University of Horticultural Sciences Bagalkot (2010) and University of Agricultural and Horticultural Sciences Shimoga (2013) were established by taking away couple of faculties from the parent Universities.

All the health science related colleges and engineering affiliated to various Composite Universities in the state were brought under the fold of newly formed Rajeev Gandhi University of Health Sciences (1994) and Visvesvaraya Technological University (1998) respectively. Similarly, instituted with the intention of offering quality law education in Karnataka, the Karnataka State Law University was formed (2009) by shifting all the Law Colleges to its fold from other Conventional Universities of the state.

The number of unitary Universities grew further when four more universities were established in the interest of the preservation and promotion of local cultures, arts and languages: Kannada University Hampi (1991), Karnataka Sanskrit University Bangalore (2010), Dr Gangubai Hangal Music and Performing Arts University Mysore(2010), and Janapada University Shigoan(2011). The concerned departments from other Universities are not taken away by these new Universities because of their Unitary structure.

The credit of being a nascent specialized University ever in Karnataka would go to Rural Development and Panchayat Raj University(RDPR) for which a committee has been set up to prepare a detailed report on curriculum and infrastructure requirements, by emulating the successful modules from other states.

Fifteen Deemed Universities, Central Institutes, Research Organizations established in Karnataka from time to time, apart from the State Universities, have expanded the base of Higher Education in Karnataka. They are, Indian Institute of Science(1958), Jawaharlal Nehru Centre for Advanced Scientific Research (, Indian Institute of Information Technology, National Institute for Mental Health and Neuro Sciences, MAHE University, JSS University, KLE University, Swami Vivekananda Yoga Anusandana Samsthana, NITTE University, Christ University, Jain University, Sri Devaraj Urs University, BLDE University, Sri Siddharth University, Yenepoya University. Central University of Karnataka Gulbarga, National Law School of India University Bangalore, and National Institute of Technology Surathkal, Raman Research Institute, Indian Institute of Management Bangalore, Central Food Technological Research Institute, Institute of Socio-Economic Change.

As of now, there are 6 private Universities namely, Alliance University, Azim Premji University, PES University, Reva University, Presidency University, M.S. Ramaiah University of Applied Science, all of which contribute to the Higher Education sector of the State. Many more are in the offing.

Most of the Deemed Universities, Private Universities and other Organizations mentioned above are either Specialized Institutions or Research Institutions and few like, MAHE, Jain University, Christ University, M.S. Ramaiah University of Applied Sciences are multi-faculty Universities.

It is opined that, the present system of carving specialized universities out of the composite Universities has resulted in fragmentation and compartmentalization of education at a time when inter-disciplinary approach and networking is increasingly in vogue.

RUSA insists on introduction of much acclaimed Choice-Based Credit System, and Cafeteria approach to be introduced in our Higher Education system which is more compatible to Multi-faculty Universities but does not go well with Specialized Institutions.

Yashpal Committee Report says, "Substantial damage has been done to Universities and Institutions of professional education by their separation from each other… All professional institutions must be part of a comprehensive University in a complete administrative and academic sense……. In order to build strong epistemic bridges between different fields of professional education and the different disciplines of science, social sciences, and humanities, it is necessary that professional institutions are returned to universities in a complete administrative and academic sense by the abolition of intermediary bodies…"

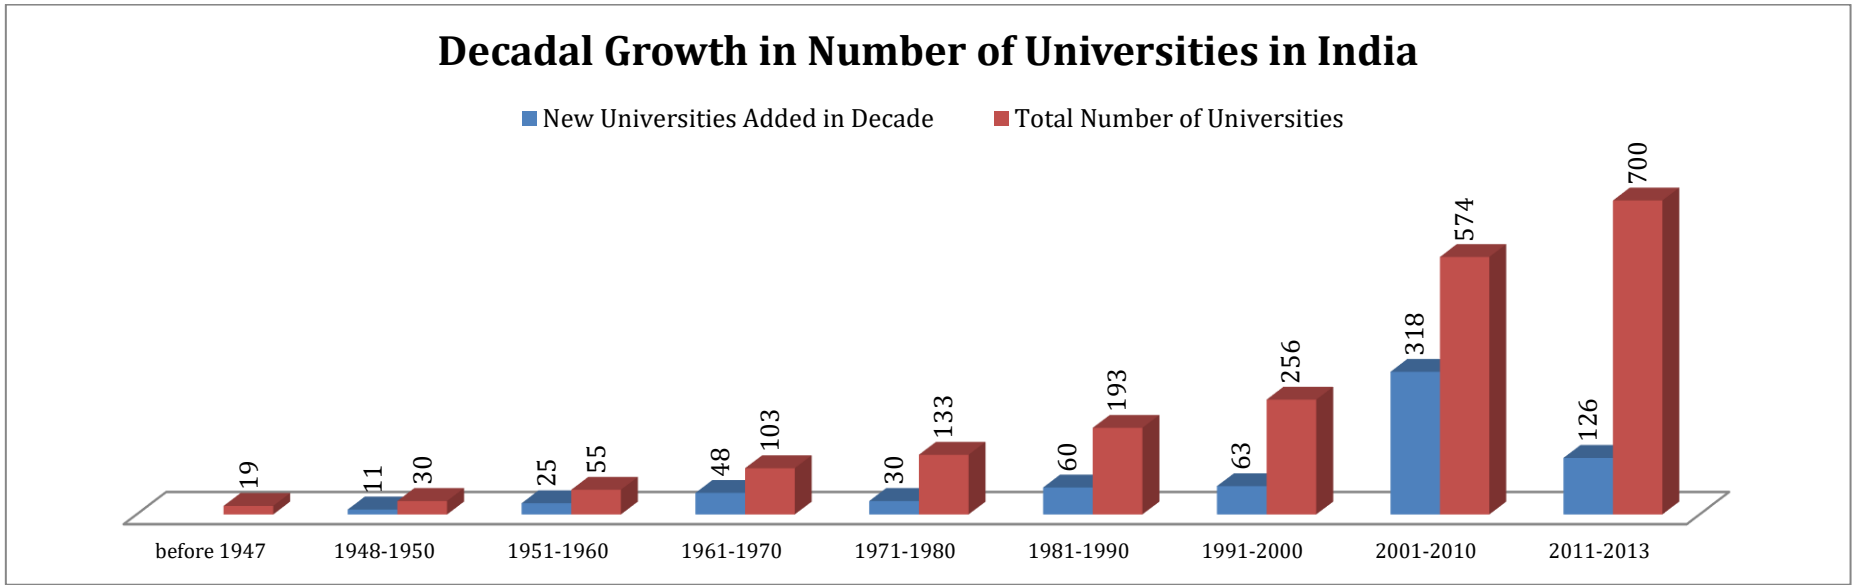
While Deemed Universities and Private Universities are permitted to offer courses on all the disciplines under the UGC Act, the Conventional State Universities particularly in Karnataka are not entitled under the State Universities Act to have faculties like Engineering, Medicine, Law, etc., which is nothing but a blatantly discriminatory situation.

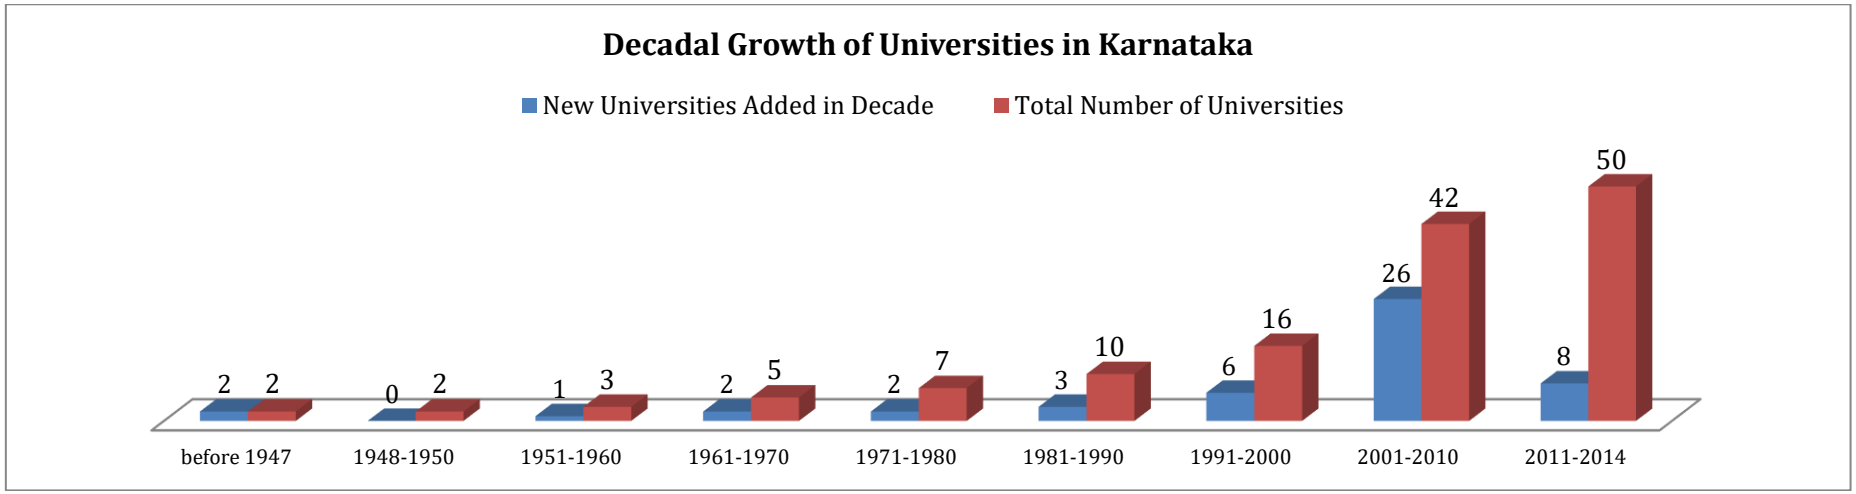
Thus, there is an urgent need to bring in necessary changes in the concerned State Universities Acts to set right the prevailing anomalies and to redeem the State Universities their original full-fledged structure. This is precisely what is advocated by National Knowledge Commission and also UGC.

Therefore the conventional Universities should be allowed to have all the faculties like, Arts, Science, Law, Engineering, Medicine, Pharmacy, etc., for its holistic outlook and universalization of knowledge.

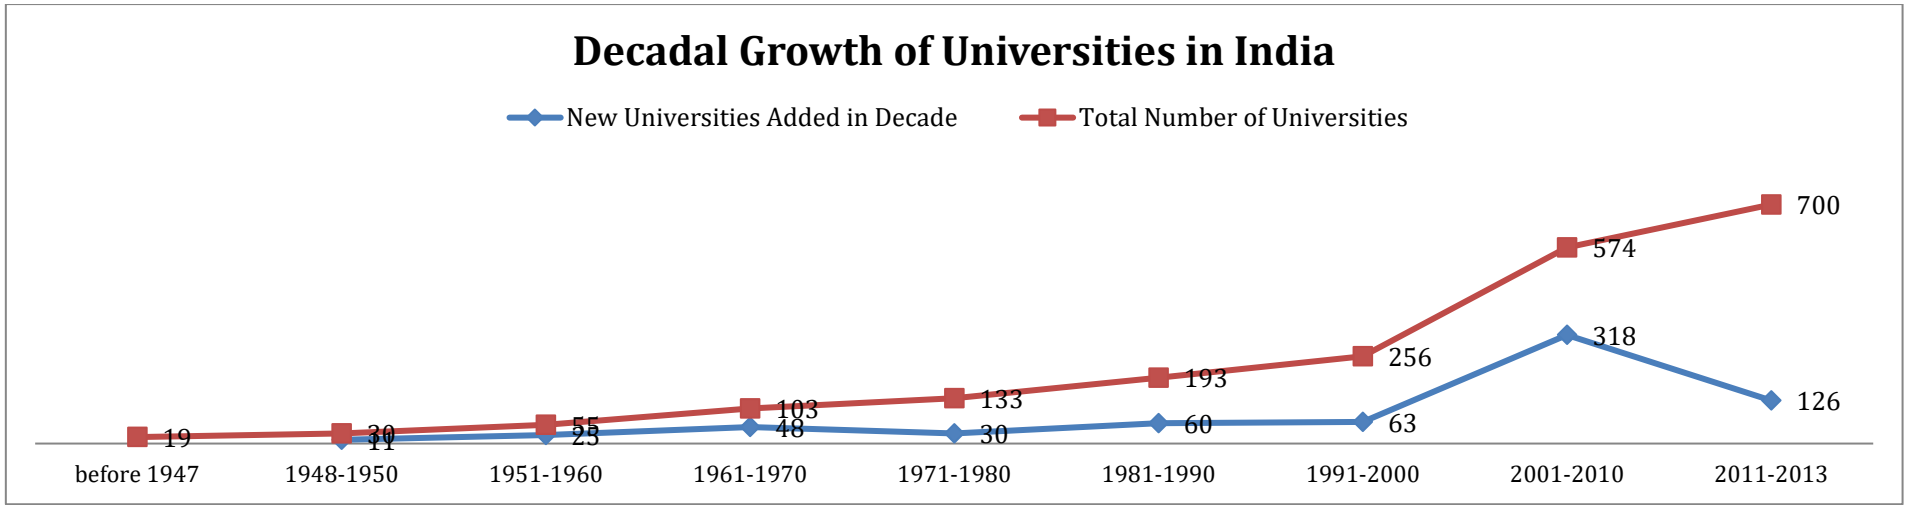
Decadal Growth of University Education in Karnataka

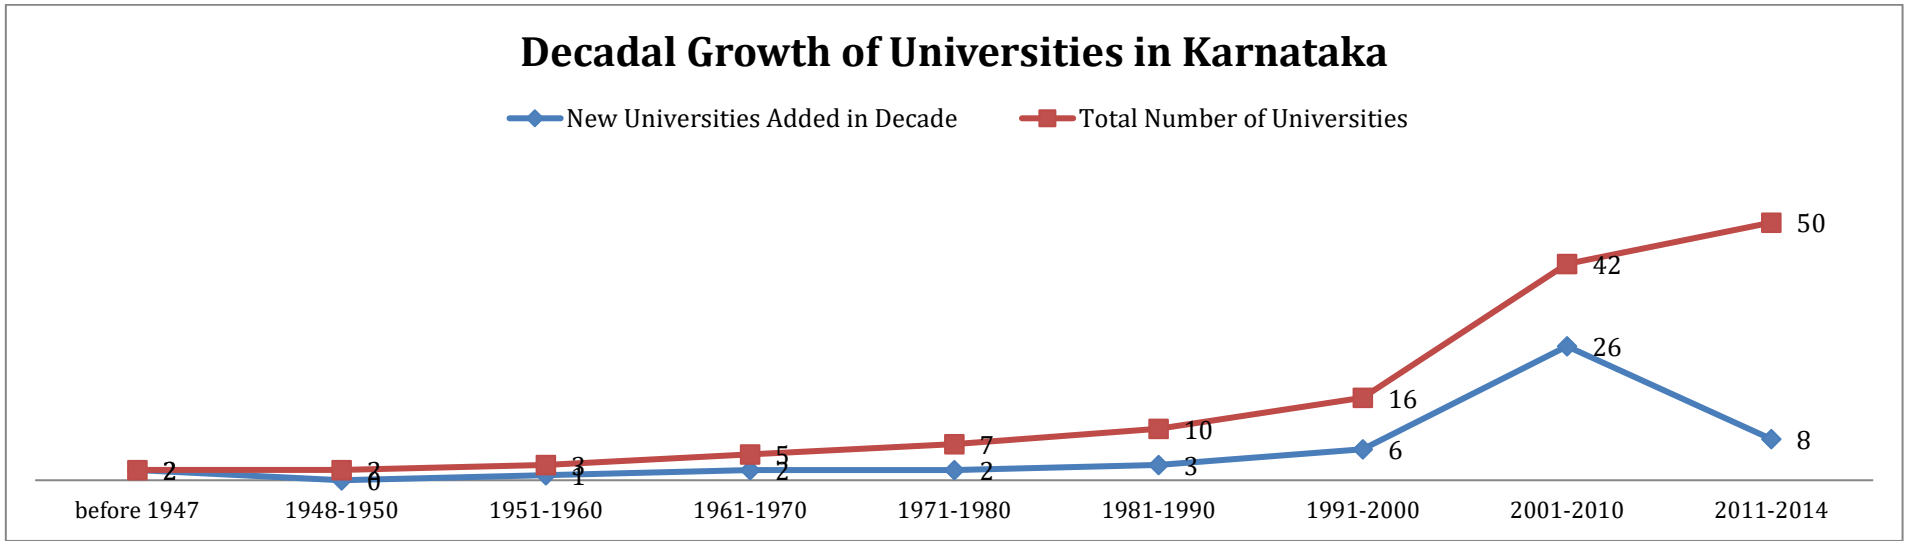
Indian Institute of Science was the first institution of highest learning established in Karnataka in the year 1909 with the objective imparting post graduate education and carrying out research in various areas of Basic Sciences and Engineering and Technology. The institute became a deemed University in 1958 after the establishment of University Grants Commission.
The University of Mysore was established in1916 in the same year as BHU and was the first university in a princely state. The state of Mysore had Karnataka University established at Dharwar, formerly a part of Bombay. There were only two Universities before independence and today it has grown not only in number but also in diversity of types, subject areas and rationality.





The first spurt in growth of number of university was noticed in 1991-2000 the rate of growth was doubled and 6 universities were added to take the total universities to 16. Until then every decade only one or two universities were added per decade. The major wave of expansion in universities was noticed only in the last decade where in 26 Universities were added to the 16 universities and the total number to 42. In this decade 8 more have been added and today we have 50 Universities in Karnataka in all the areas of studies, be it general, medical, technology, law, agriculture, veterinary, horticulture and so on.





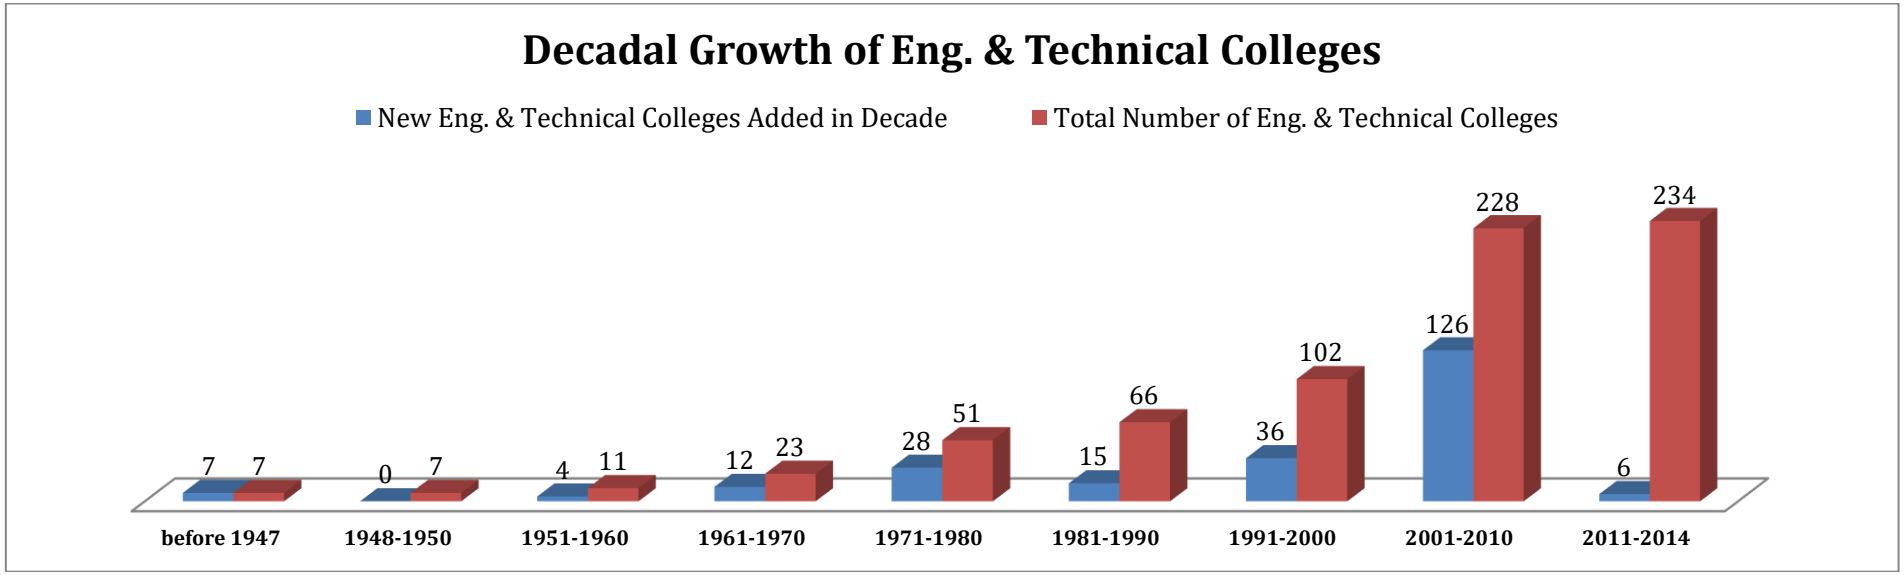
The growth pattern seen in both national and State level corroborate and match each other as in both cases we can see major expansion in number only in the last and present decade.

Technical Education

Technical education comprises of Diploma education through Polytechnics and Degree education through engineering colleges. The engineering colleges were affiliated under the general Universities till the Visvesvaraya Technological University was established in 1998 and all the engineering colleges were brought under the umbrella of VTU except UVCE of Bangalore University.

Engineering Colleges in Karnataka

University Visvesvaraya College of Engineering popularly known as UVCE at Bangalore was perhaps the first Engineering College that was established by Sir M Visvesavaraya under the patronage of Mysore Maharaja in 1917. The second engineering college SKSJT Technological Institute Bangalore was started in 1938. The third Engineering College National Institute of Engineering, Mysore was started in 1946.



Decadal Growth in number of engineering colleges

The number of engineering colleges more than doubled from 11 to 23 in 60s and from 23 to 51 between 1970 and 1980 and next spurt came in decade of 2000-2010 when once again the number more than doubled. Karnataka was the first State to capitalize on the greater demand for engineering seats by privatizing the engineering education. as a result the engineering education flourished in the State catering to the outside state demand as well as inside demand. Another reason for the State to emerge as destination for engineering education was the presence of Indian Institute of Science, and a host of public sector institutions which needed a huge number of technical manpower and these engineering colleges successfully catered to the needs of ISRO, BEML, ITI, BEL, HMT and several other Central manufacturing organizations.

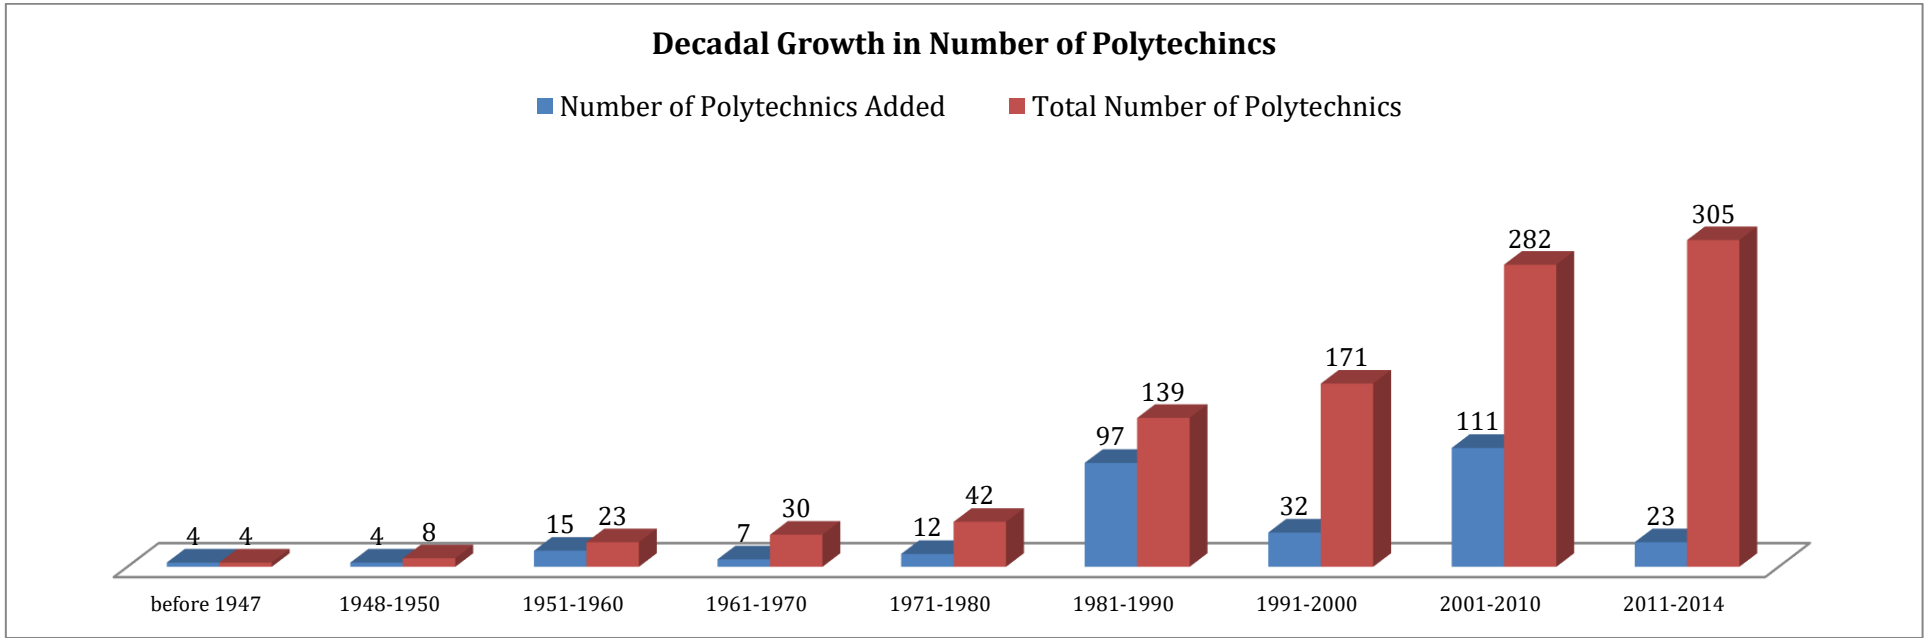
As more and more States established engineering colleges all over the country, the demand for engineering seats in the State started dwindling and was saturated by only the State demand. Thus the acceleration of establishing new private engineering colleges has been slowed down in the current decade, although the Government Engineering colleges have been started both under VTU and as well as under Government higher education department, especially to reduce regional imbalances and to serve in un-served areas.

Polytechnics in Karnataka

There were only two polytechnics in Karnataka before independence, namely the Govt. institute of Printing Technology, S.J. Evening Polytechnic, Bangalore and Sri Jayachamarajendra polytechnic in Bangalore, although they were all actually one polytechnic, and Karnataka Polytechnic Mangalore-560001. Soon after independence the number increased to 8 by 1950 and tripled by 1960 and doubled over the next two decades and reached 42 by 1980. The polytechnics saw a burst of growth in 1980s when the number was almost tripled and reached 139 by 1990. The growth of polytechnics was once again witnessed at much accelerating pace in 2000 to 2010 and has slowed down since then.



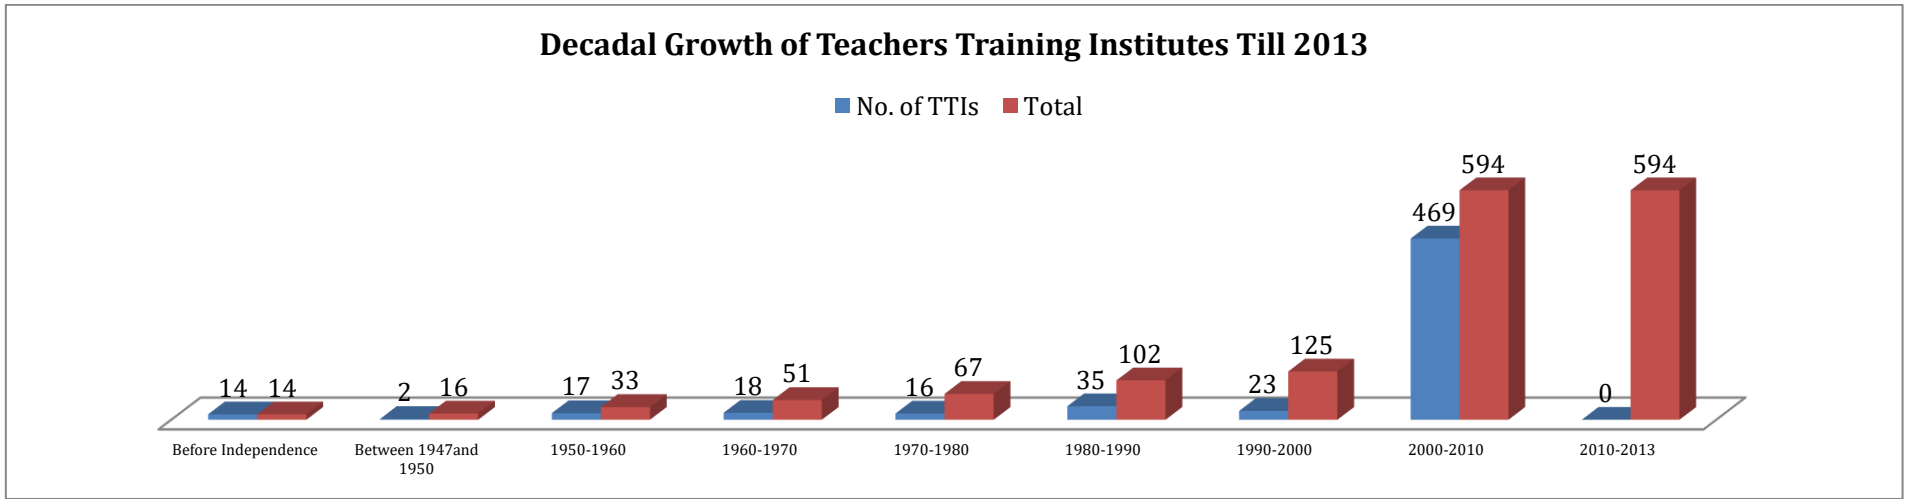
Broader Spectrum of Higher Education

Higher Education at national level includes all those courses which are pursued after 10+2 course. Teacher Education is a course pursued after 10+2 course and the Teacher Training Institutions are a part of Higher Education. So also Nursing Schools which offer three years diploma after 10+2 course are also brought under Higher Education, in addition to collegiate and university education. however, these courses are not considered under RUSA they are briefly dealt with their history and growth over the decades.

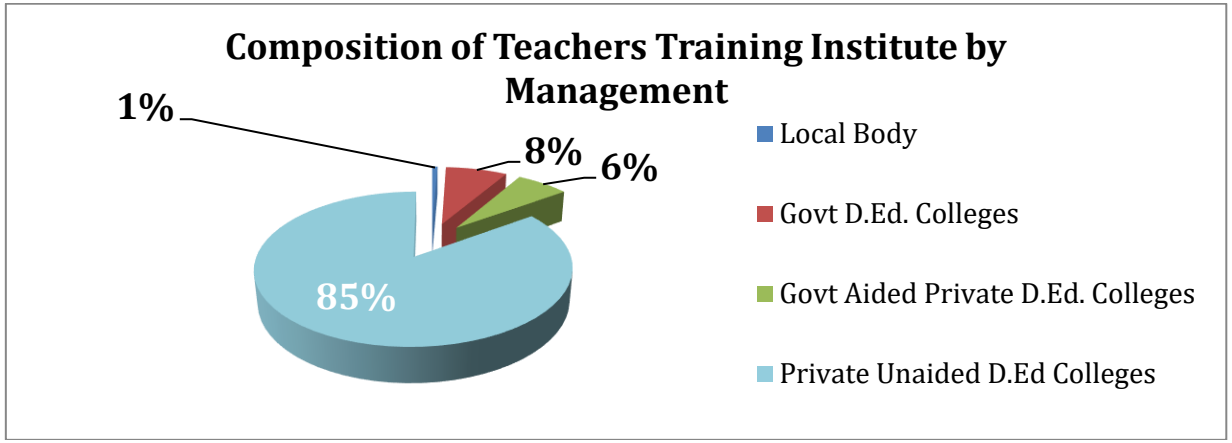
Teacher Training Education.

The eligibility for pursuing Teacher's Training Education was tenth standard earlier, but the same was raised to 10+2 since the year 1987-88. D Ed 2002-03. There were only 14 teacher educational institutions before independence. Post independence, their number doubled between 1950s and 1960 and steadily grew up to 125 by 2000. But, within a decade, the number grew almost 10 times by 2010 to about 1170 D Ed colleges. The unusual spurt in growth of Teacher Training Institutions happened following launching of Sarvashiksha Abhiyan, the concept of universalisation of primary education that led to a large scale recruitment of teachers.

Neither the growth nor the high number of D.Ed. colleges sustained subsequently and the huge number of D Ed institutions are getting reduced to less than half the number in about three to four years.



The sudden spurt in growth of D Ed colleges had adverse impact on general higher education and also on teacher education itself, as many rural and urban students passed out from PUC were diverted towards teacher education. As all of the passed out candidates could not get the expected teacher's post they started continuing education under distance mode where we can notice large scale enrollments. The great spurt of growth was due to 85% of private participation in D Ed education. over-liberalization in licensing policy led to mushrooming of D. Ed institutions.



Nursing Schools

The health sciences including Nursing, paramedical and pharmacy, etc also grew in Karnataka especially after 1990. Before independence there were only four nursing schools in the State mostly run by Government like There were only 30 nursing schools till 1990 which increased to 116 almost four times by 2000 and further by five times when they got increased to 550 by 2010. The number started declining thereafter. Here too the major growth in number is due to private operators who failed to establish state of the art laboratories and physical infrastructure. Low quality teaching coupled with low quality infrastructure is quite a strong combination of factors to ensure low quality human resource output. The number has dwindled to 411 by 2013 and is likely to further dwindle before it stabilizes.

Most colleges which have been granted autonomy have had long-standing histories of co-curricular innovations. Many credit courses, certificate courses and Honors programmes were devised by many of these colleges where new papers and fields were introduced. These courses also filled in the lacunae left by the mainstream syllabi prescribed by universities. As most of these courses were run by individuals or an interested group of teachers and students they have also been successful in eliciting positive student response.

Vocational Education

Tryst with Vocationalisation

Karnataka State made two attempts in promoting Vocational education in the State once in 1980s when a large number of job oriented courses were introduced after 10th Standard who had neither merit nor financial support to continue higher education, with an idea of converting them into professional entrepreneurs who will eke out their living and become self reliant. Even a separate Directorate was set up and large number of postgraduates and graduates were appointed as teachers but none of them were really had any professional training. As these students could not be converted into the expected professional workforce nor self reliant self employed individuals.

However the fact that now the directorate itself has been closed and the teachers who were on temporary basis have been redeployed does not give a good report of these courses. Many students joined mainstream higher education by forcing the Universities to modify the eligibility rules as there was any significant impact on the job orientation.

State made a second attempt of introducing vocational education at degree level in 1995, when UGC introduced Vocational Subjects in some arts and science courses at degree level where in one of the subject among three main subjects was a Vocational one with double dose of syllabus and practical workload as well as with advanced syllabus along with Entrepreneurship development paper to promote these students as entrepreneurs. The financial assistance was provided for five years and the State government were supposed to continue funding these vocational courses which did not happen and these courses were also closed down except a few with reduced funding.

Central Government has contemplated of introducing Vocational Education starting at School level through College level which can be continued right up to PhD level by mainstreaming them with either professional or general education. AICTE and UGC have taken up several measures to start another stream of education aimed especially at school drop outs into Vocational education stream so that they would be skilled enough in one or other trade so that they would be able to get a job. National Vocational Education Qualification Framework was introduced and UGC has started B. Voc courses at degree level and also community colleges with courses which are relevant to the industry and the employer. Karnataka is yet to introduce vocational courses from ninth standard onwards. However the department of higher education has already introduced both community college scheme and B Voc courses in select colleges in the State with UGC and AICTE funding support.

R&D Institutions in Karnataka

Hallmark of Bangalore is the famous Research and Development Organisations established over the years that have contributed for the overall development of the State. Some of the important R&D institutions are noteworthy to be mentioned here.

Central Coffee Research Institute was established during 1925 and is located in the heartland of coffee tracts near Balehonnur in Chikkamagalur. Institute of Wood Science and technology Bangalore was established in 1938 by State of Mysore and then was taken over by GoI. A sandal research centre was established to take up study of genetics, silviculture, and management of Sandal.

The Raman Research Institute at Bangalore was established in 1948 with funds from private sources to carryout research in selected areas of basic Physics. The Defense Research and Development Organisation (DRDO), Bangalore, as a wing of Defense Department, was established in 1958 for developing defense technologies covering various disciplines, like Aeronautics, Armaments, Electronics, Engineering Systems and naval Systems. The Aeronautical Development Establishment, Bangalore was established in 1959.

The National Tuberculosis Institute at Bangalore was established in 1960 by GoI and was inaugurated by the then Prime Minister of India Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru. Indian Statistical Institute Bangalore was conceived by Prof P C Mehalonobis during 1960s to carryout statistics and cognate subjects. Central Power Research Institute is an autonomous was established in 1960 by GoI to carryout research in areas of transmission and distribution systems. Regional Institute of English, Bangalore was started in 1963 to improve teaching and learning of English in southern states. All India institute of Speech and Hearing, Mysore was established in 1966 by Government of India to provide clinical services,, manpower generation, research, technology development, preschool training, public education and extension of services on a single platform. Defense Food Research Laboratory at Mysore was established in 1961 to take research in food science and technology under DRDO which has subsequently emerged as Centre of excellence in food related matters.

The Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), Bangalore was established in 1969 under the department of Atomic energy, Government of India. ISRO has tremendously contributed in the areas of Telecommunication, meteorological species, telemedicine, e-Governance, Education, telemedicine, agriculture, forestry, ground water and surface water management, drought assessment and monitoring, flood mapping, land use land cover, coastal studies etc.

The Indian Institute of Horticulture Research, Bangalore was established in 1970 and is catering to the research and development in horticultural crops, post harvesting Technology etc. The institute of Social and Economic Change was established in 1972 at Bangalore by Prof VKRV Rao with the support of Central and State Governments. Indian Veterinary research Institute Bangalore was established at Hebbal under ICAR 1972 for the production of vaccine for Foot and Mouth Disease. Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology was established in 1973 at Bangalore and caters to the patients from Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Kerala, Tamil Nadu and Maharashtra.

National Institute of Advanced Studies (NIAS) located in IISc to carryout advanced research in multidisciplinary areas since 1988. Central Institute in of Indian Languages is located at Mysore and plays major role in helping the Governments, in formulating and implementing language policy. The Indian Institute of Plantation Management, Bangalore was registered in November 1993 as an autonomous institution of higher learning. National Assessment Accreditation Council under UGC was established in Bangalore in 1994 to carryout assessment and accreditation of colleges and Universities. National Institution of Animal Nutrition and Physiology was established in the year 1995 at Bangalore under the aegis of Indian Council of Agriculture Research.

The Indian Institute of Fashion Technology located in Bangalore imparts professional training to students and potential employment seekers for the fashion and apparel technology as well as to create a group of entrepreneurs. The National Institute of Rock Mechanics is a premier Centre for basic and applied Rock Mechanics and Geo-technological engineering established by GoI at Kolar Gold Fields.

National Centre for Biological Sciences was established at Bangalore a new branch of TIFR Mumbai and carries out research in Biochemistry, Biophysics, bioinformatics, genetics and development, cellular organization and signaling neurobiology. Karnataka Judicial Academy Bangalore was established to imparting judicial education to the judicial officers working in State of Karnataka.

Neglect of any particular faculty areas of Higher Education in the State

The Collaboration and interaction of Industry with Academia is only in bits and pieces. There is neither policy frame work nor any organizational structure that can promote, develop and sustain continuous interaction between Industry and Institutions for harnessing symbiotic and synergistic benefits.
Science education in colleges is at cross roads. Lack of modern equipments, lack of frequent updation of curriculum to make it current, advanced and relevant is missing in most of the Universities as very few colleges are autonomous.

Government establishes Arts Commerce colleges in un-served areas as just a few class rooms would suffice for starting those courses. But this is not the case with Science. Expenditure on Science colleges is huge in terms of both capital non-recurring costs as well as recurring costs. If Science is not promoted the State will continue to remain in superstition, and will lag behind from utilising the benefits of science.

Funding quality Research in Universities and colleges is woefully inadequate and there is no incentive or encouragement for research in colleges. As a result the research culture is has not developed beyond certain autonomous institutions.

Transparency and accountability in appointments, examination and evaluation is not up to the mark leaving a huge scope for improvement, more son in open and distance education streams. Transparency International ranked Karnataka as the fourth most corrupt state in a recent survey

British having quit this country continued to evolve their education system to remain world class. But in India and Karnataka State, the Higher Education System left by British is still prevalent, and has remained archaic in spite of independence.

Higher Education System in Karnataka is neither outcome based, nor skill infused, neither choice based nor interdisciplinary. Focus towards continuous and constant improvement of curriculum, continuous development of faculty, lack of innovative pedagogy have resulted in teaching and learning outcomes among out going students as evidenced by their poor employability.

Planning department in the State has never bothered to estimate the requirements of Human resources at various strata of employment pyramid in different sectors over the plan periods both in medium and long terms. Thus, the Education Department has not been able to fine tune its courses and contents accordingly to ensure the production and supply of right kind of human resource for the right kind of jobs in employment ready mode. Consequently, we have the paradoxical situation of having large number of educated youth while the industry is crying for skilled human resource.

The topography of the State's higher education sector today and how it affects future plans for the State.

The essential learning from study of history of higher education is enlisted as follows:

1. Education being in the concurrent list, only Centre has come out with national Policy on Education. Neither the State nor the Nation has specific Higher Education Policy that is relevant to the current context and needs of the State for the 21st century.
2. Lack of proper MIS and lack of informed decision making and planning following scientific methods which are criteria based have resulted in ad hoc and subjectivity in decision making, thus resulting in lack of adequate number, quality infrastructure, faculty and their distribution thus hampering quality higher education.
3. Bangalore District has emerged with largest number of higher educational institutions covering all disciplines and courses in the country, but neither there is any networking of institutions nor any staff networking for interdisciplinary learning.
4. Heterogeneous growth and development is prevalent in many districts in the State. Several districts that are far away from the States capital are also far way in educational infrastructure and standards.
5. The quality is concentrated in certain urban pockets and the homogenous quality culture and consciousness is absent across State as a whole.
6. Engineering and Medicine, agriculture veterinary courses are prime courses that are sought after. Recently the law education in premier institutions has picked up demand.
7. Largest enrolments are in Arts and humanities and unfortunately the largest unemployment is also in these courses since they lack skills and relevance to jobs.
8. The science education is declining thus causing deficiency of qualified teachers.
9. Poor subject knowledge and poor communication competency among both teacher and the taught in lingua franca of the world will impact student's global job prospects.
10. Lack of obtaining accredited status by all eligible institutions from NAAC or lack of a State Assessment and Accreditation body would hamper utilization of RUSA funds and scope of assuring quality remains a distant dream.
11. Lack of rigorous recruitment process coupled with lack of pre-service and continuous in-service training opportunities provided to the teaching and non teaching faculty will result in poor standards and hampers the drive towards global standards.

Lord Curzon appointed an Indian Universities Commission on 27 January, 1902 and the committee submitted the report the same year. Analysing the then situation in Indian Universities, Dr. Kavita Sharma states in her Book entitled Sixty Years of the University Grants Commission Establishment, Growth and Evolution as follows.

Lord Curzon's analysis of the effects of higher education in India identified the monstrous and malefic spirit of cramming as one of its chief drawbacks. The main aim of the students was to pass examinations and to qualify for employment. The teachers, too, did not care for the moral and mental development of the students but were only concerned with the percentage of passes. Lessons were imparted in a mechanical manner and discussions and seminars were not encouraged. There was great stress on information gathering and little done to develop the student problem-solving ability or critical faculties. The tutorial system followed at Oxford and Cambridge was introduced in some universities but was unsuccessful because of the poor teacher-student ratio that made it difficult for teachers to cope and individual discussion became impossible. Also, students were not interested as they were obsessed with preparing for examinations and their results.

A question is still asked: In what way the situation has changed even after 100 years in most of our Universities?

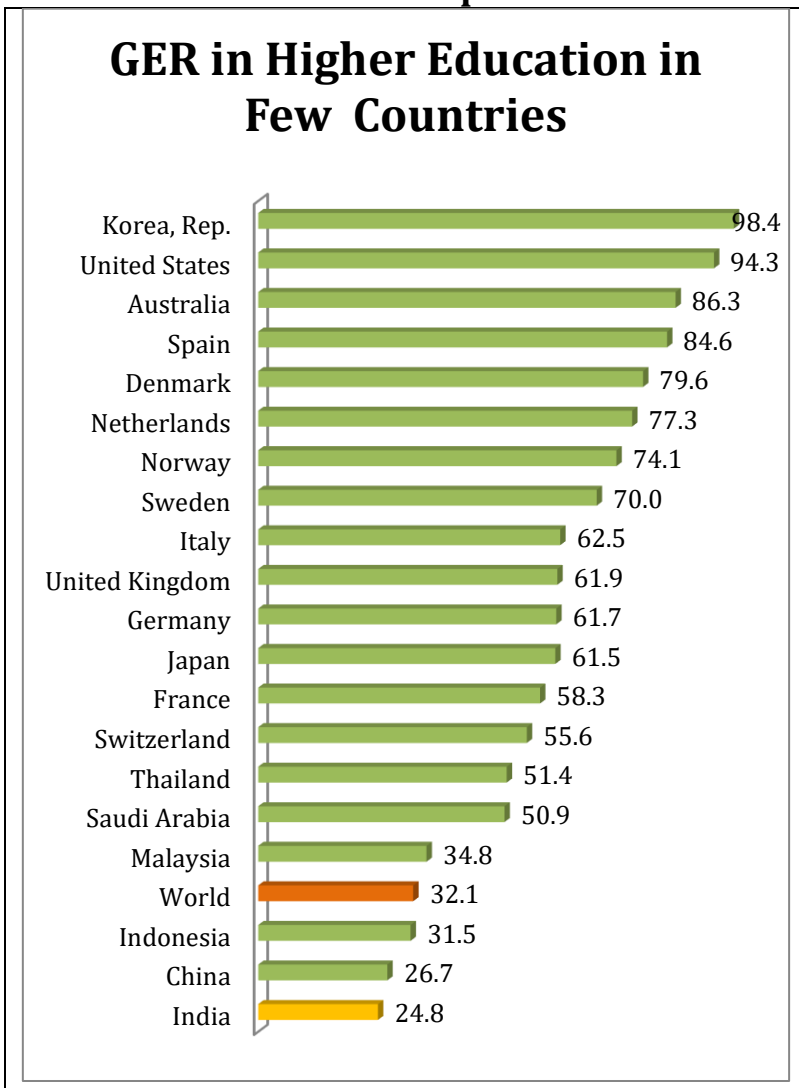
Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER)

Gross Enrolment Ratio is an indicator of progress a country, a State or a district has achieved in enrolment of students for education in relation to its total population of a particular age group. The GER in Higher Education refers to total enrolment in higher education after 10+2, i.e, in the degree and postgraduate degree education in the age group of 18-23. However, the sphere of higher education is made to include even diploma education who study from SSLC onwards in Nursing and Polytechnics also. Besides, the enrolment in PhD is also included as the proportion of enrolment in PhD is very small and most often less than a percent.

India's GER in Global Perspective



Country	GER 2012
India	24.8
China	26.7

Norway	74.1
Netherlands	77.3
Denmark	79.6

Australia	86.3
United States	94.3
Korea, Rep.	98.4

Weakness

GER of India, which is the second most populous country, is very low at 24.8% compared to world's average GER of 32.1, GER of developed countries which in most countries is above 50% and the GER of even some of the Asian countries like Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia and China the most populous country. Most of the developed European countries and USA the GER is of very high order at 70% to almost 100%.

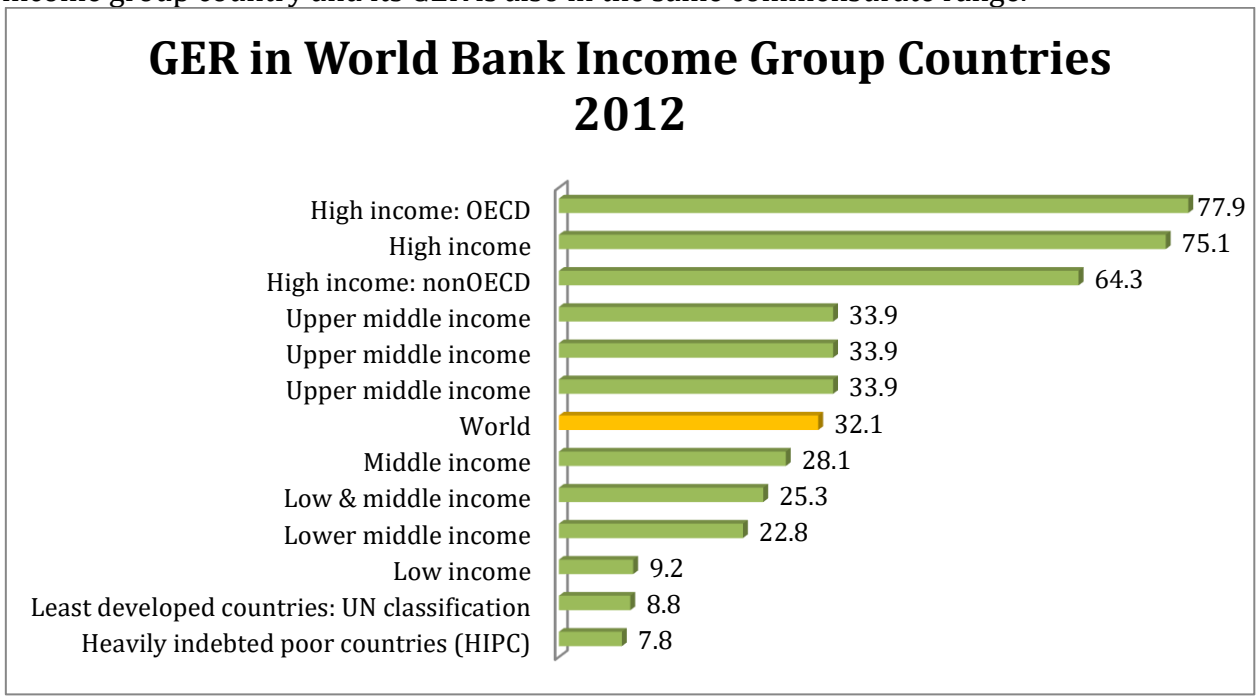
GER of Countries under different income Group

There is direct relationship between the countries economic status and its GER. Highest average GER is noticed in high income countries followed by upper middle income, middle income, low middle income and low income and least developed countries and finally the heavily indebted poor countries. The diversity of Ger is wide ranging from 7.8 among heavily indebted poor countries at 7.8 to high income countries.. the world average GER is at 32.1 just above the middle income countries. India falls under middle income group country and its GER is also in the same commensurate range.



Can a country spend more on education and conquer the global job market so that its national income goes up or should a country rise to higher income group level before its GER is raised is a moot question to be resolved. Planners have to think carefully how rising of GER will fetch greater income to the country or else the educated workforce may become unemployed and become a big problem both socially and economically to the country.

India has set a goal of attaining Ger of 32% by 2022. However the target set for India under RUSA is to rise to the world's average level i.e., 32% by end of 13th plan in the coming years before 20121-122. Perhaps a higher target should have been better for India because by the time the Indian GER rises to 32%, the world GER would be definitely much higher as it depends much on how China and India, the two most populous countries achieve greater GER as both these have a vast untapped potential population to mainstream into higher education. However, unlike earlier traditional plans, RUSA itself being a strategic plan, there is always scope for India to revise its targets as and when it achieves it but has scope also for all the States to revise their GER targets accordingly.

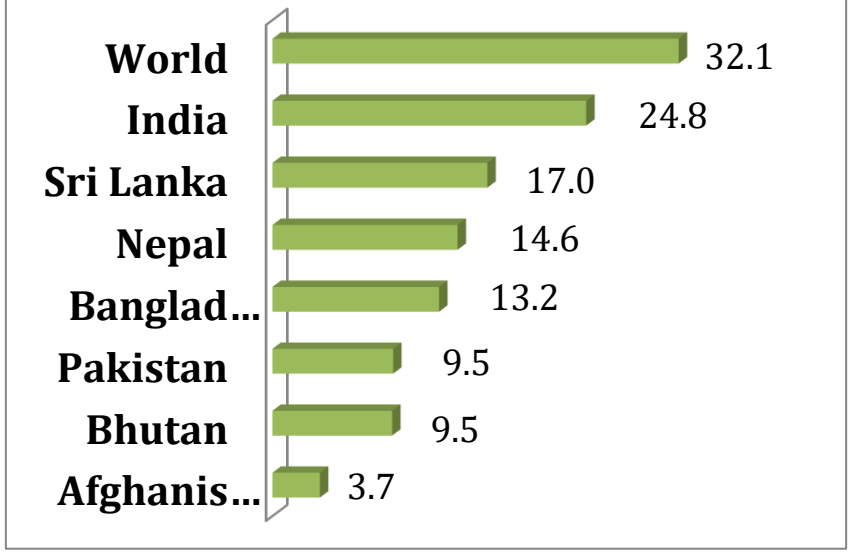
GER in SAARC Countries

India has the highest GER among all the members of the SAARC countries. However the GER of the whole region is lower than that of the World. Being the second most populous country the GER achieved vis a vis smaller countries is definitely praise worthy.



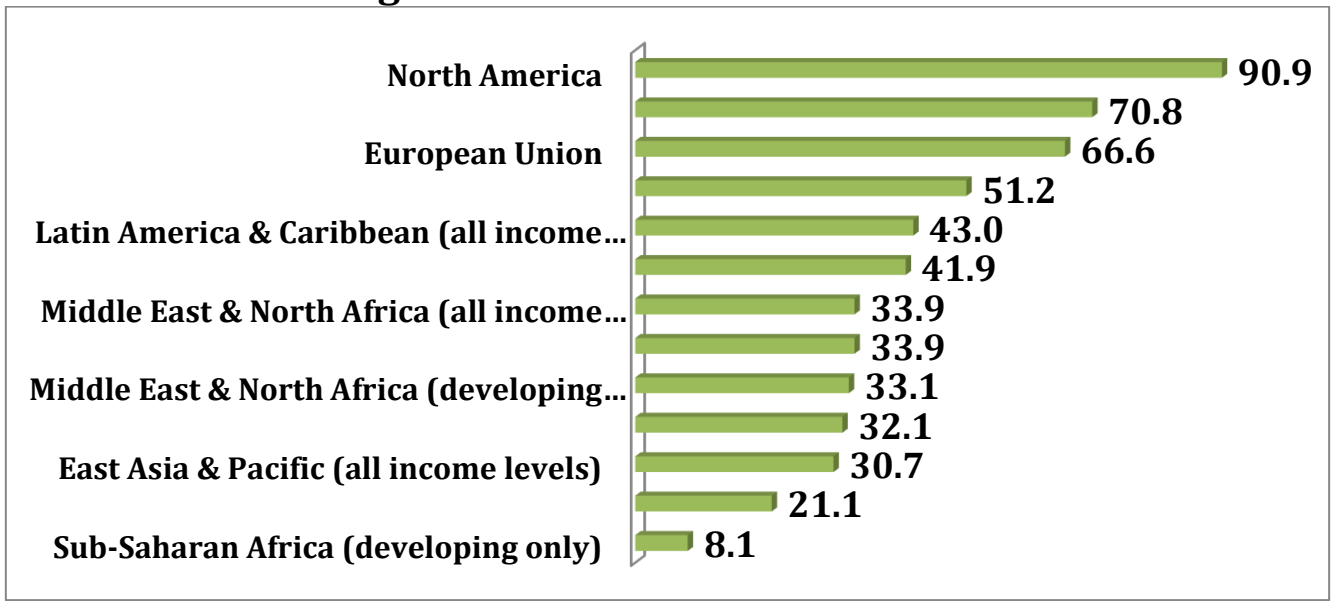
SAARC Countries	GER 2012
Afghanistan	3.7
Bhutan	9.5
Pakistan	9.5
Bangladesh	13.2
Nepal	14.6
Sri Lanka	17.0
India	24.8
World	32.1

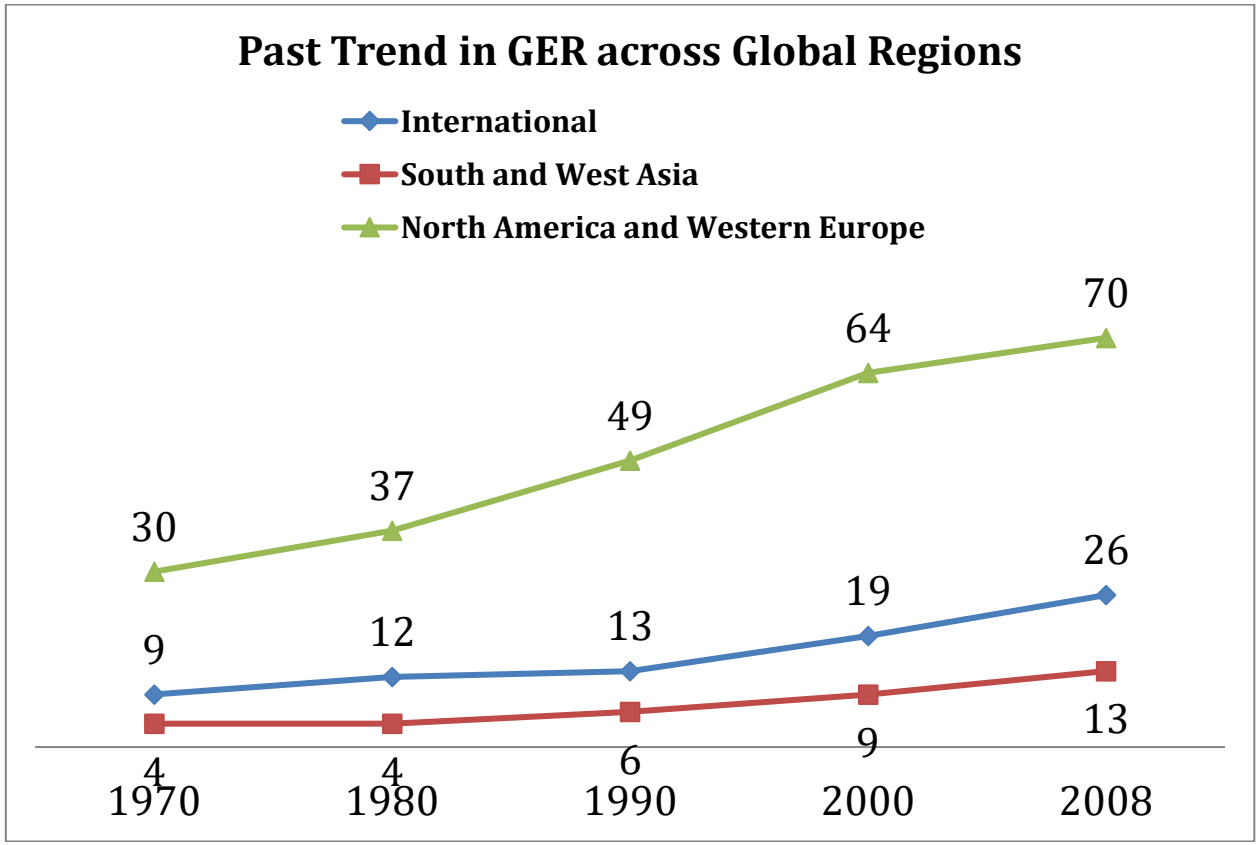
GER in countries of different regions in 2012

While North America tops in GER, Europe, Central Asia, Latin America, Middle East and North Africa all have a higher Ger than the world's average GER compared to South Asia and Sub-Saharan Africa.

The GER in developed regions of the world as represented by North America and Western Europe shows the highest GER on one side and the GER of developing and under developed regions like South Asia and West Asia happens to be very low. The International average is in between but quite low on account of the most populous countries in Asia India and China are pulling down the GER due to their low GER. If India has to raise to the developed regions GER it has to atleast triple its current GER.

GER in Different Regions of World-2012

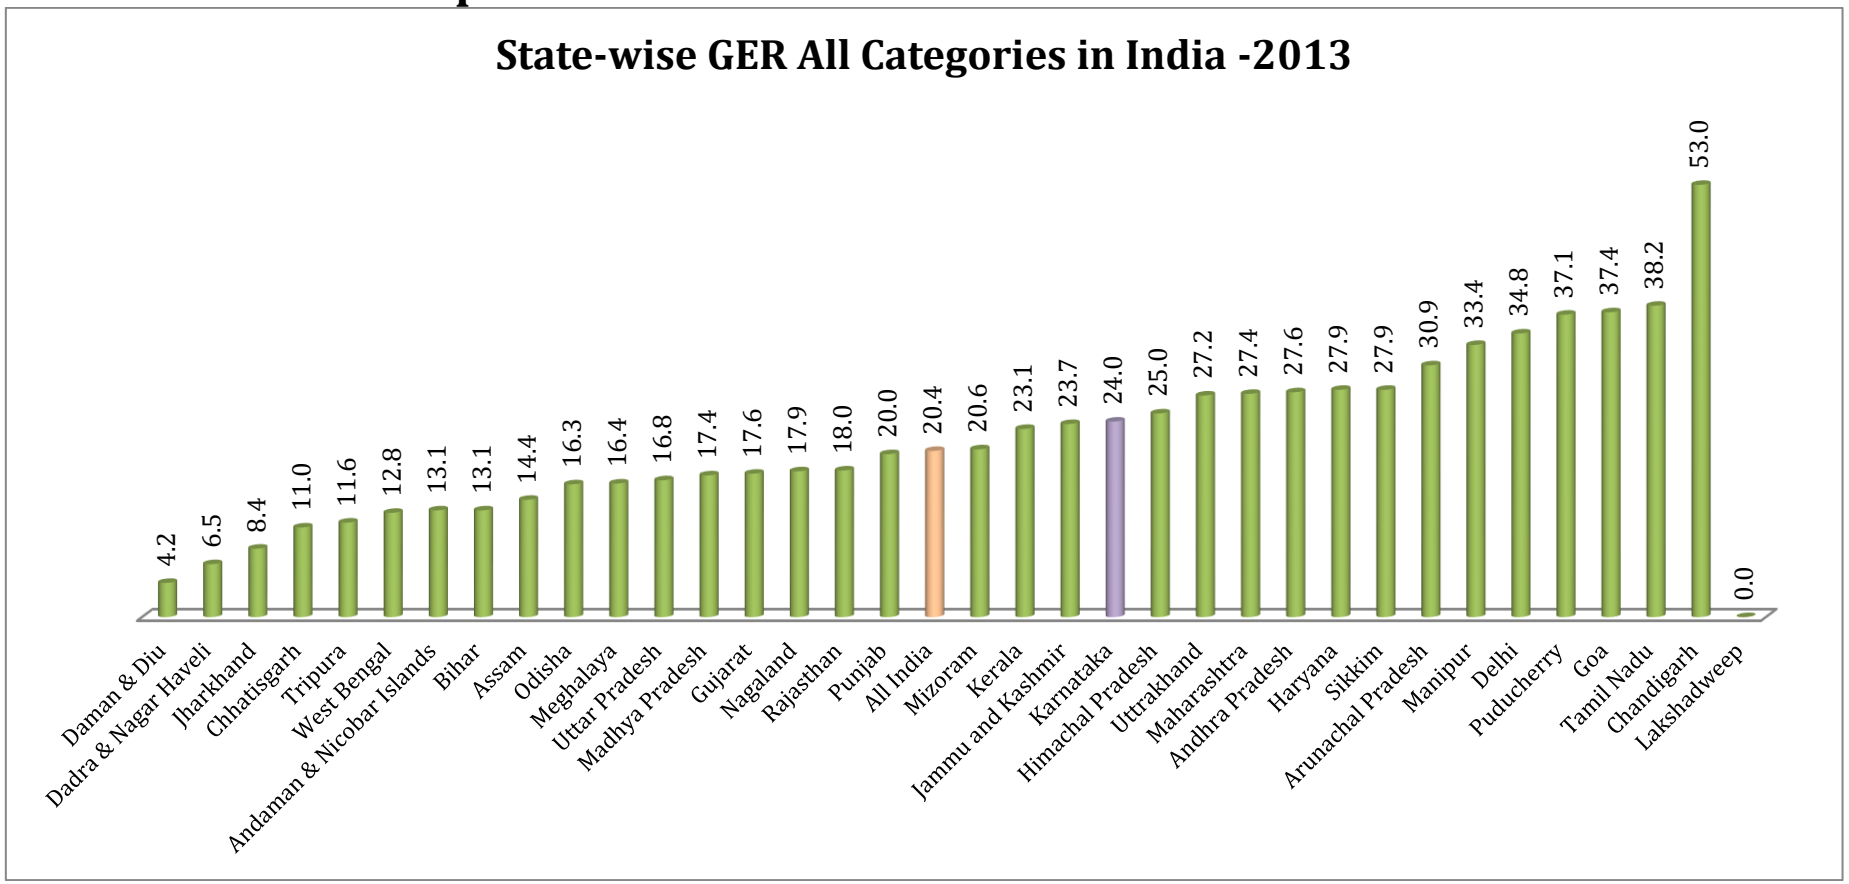




Strengths

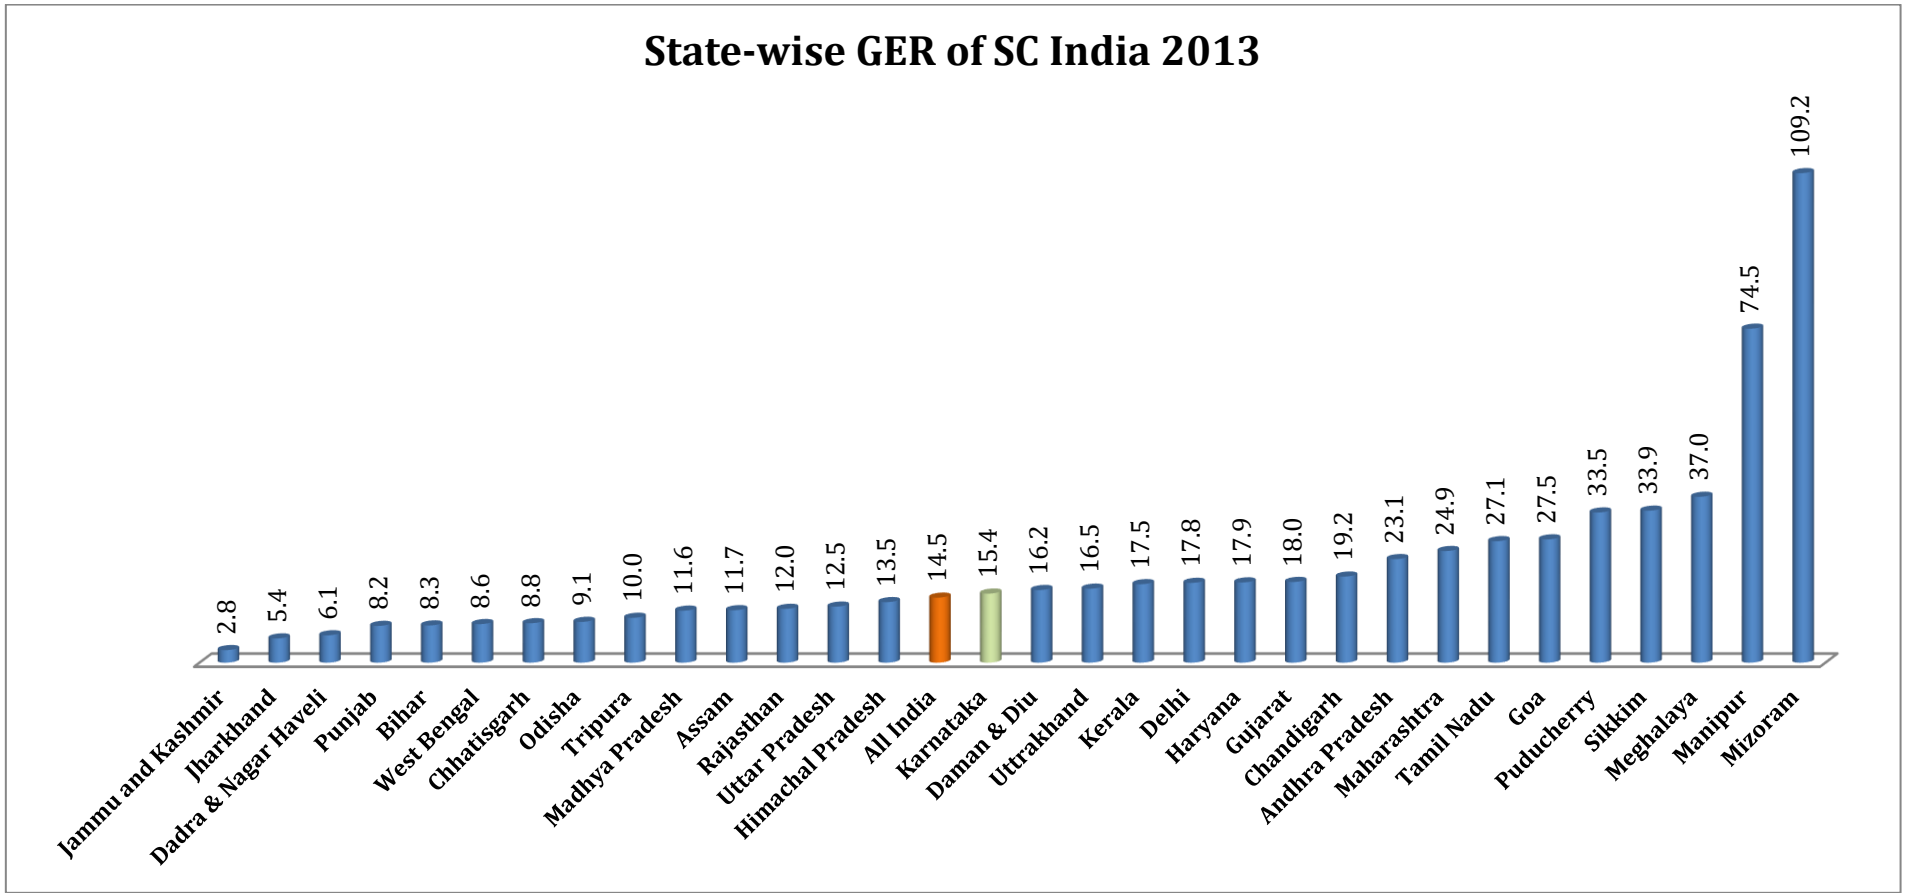
- GER of Karnataka is better at 25.3% as of 2012-13 compared to India's GER at 20.4
- India's GER of 20.4 as well as Karnataka's GER of 24.4 is better than the GER of all SARC Countries. Karnataka's GER at 24.3 is better than the GER of South Asian Countries at 21.1 and all Sub-Saharan countries at 8.1

GER in National Perspective



Strength

Based on data available from All India Survey on Higher Education the GER of all States and Union Territories is calculated and graphically represented where it is observed that, at least 17states and Union territories are below the National level GER of 20.4, while Karnataka with its GER of 24 is better and is one among 14 States and Union Territories. However it's rank at 14th place among States and Union Territories of India gives much scope for improvement of GER in coming days.



Strength

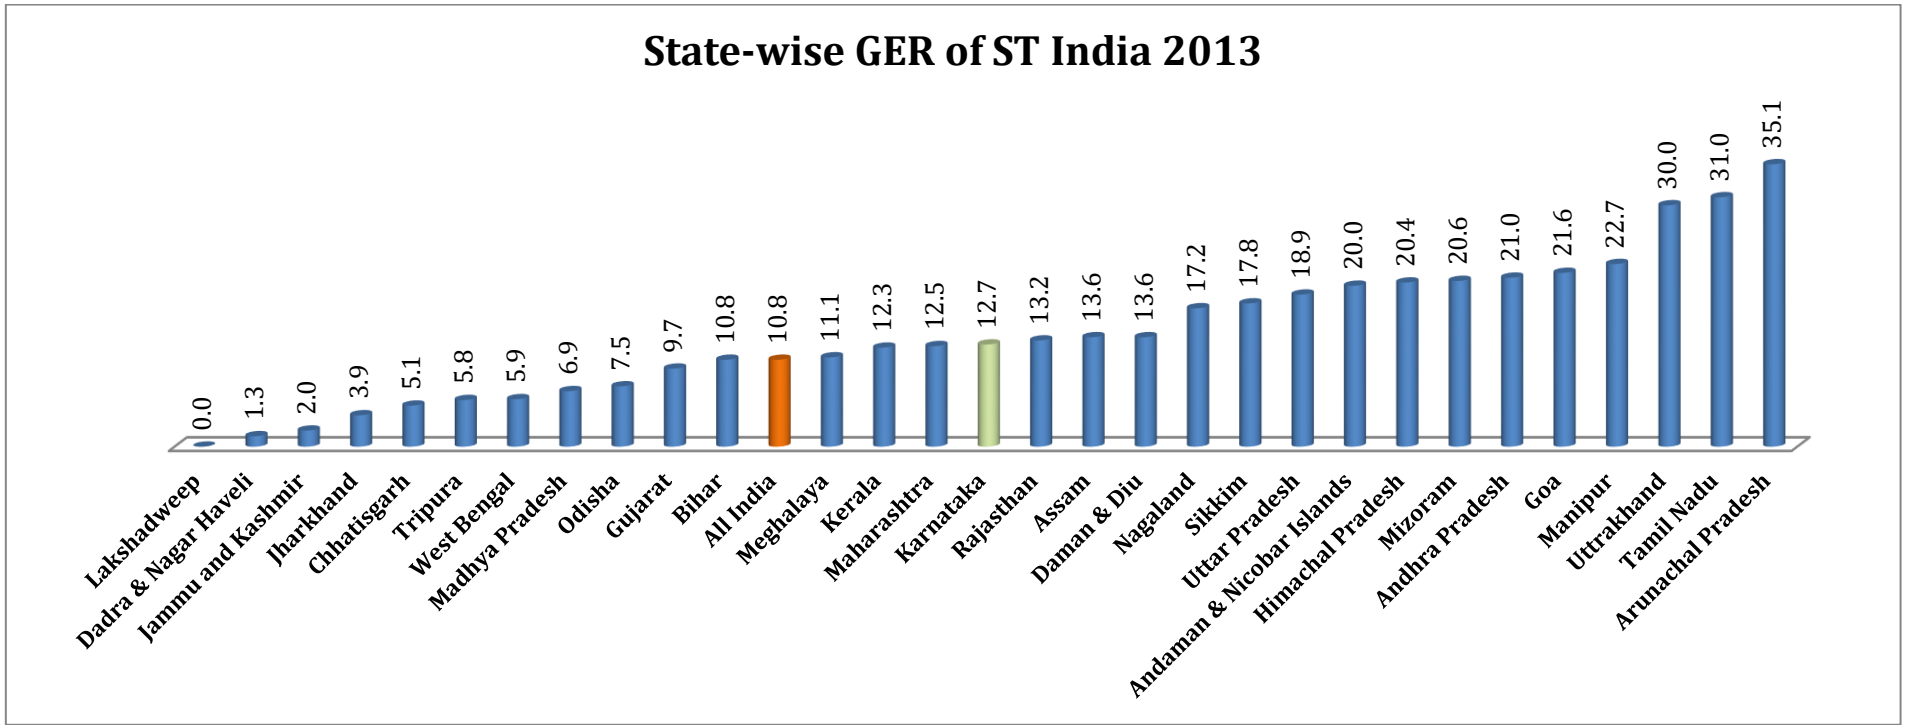
GER of SC students is better in Karnataka at 15.4 compared to 14.5 of All India.

Weakness

However, the SC GER of 15.4 in Karnataka is far below many other States in India and Karnataka ranks at 17th place among 35 States and Union territories. Southern States neighbouring Karnataka have fared better in SC GER with Kerala at 17.5, Andhra Pradesh at 23.1, Maharashtra at 24.9, and Tamil Nadu at 27.1

Opportunity

The Scheduled Caste population constitutes 17.15 per cent of the total population of the State. Therefore there is lot of improvement that needs to be done to improve their GER from presnt 15.4 to State average GER of 24.



Strength

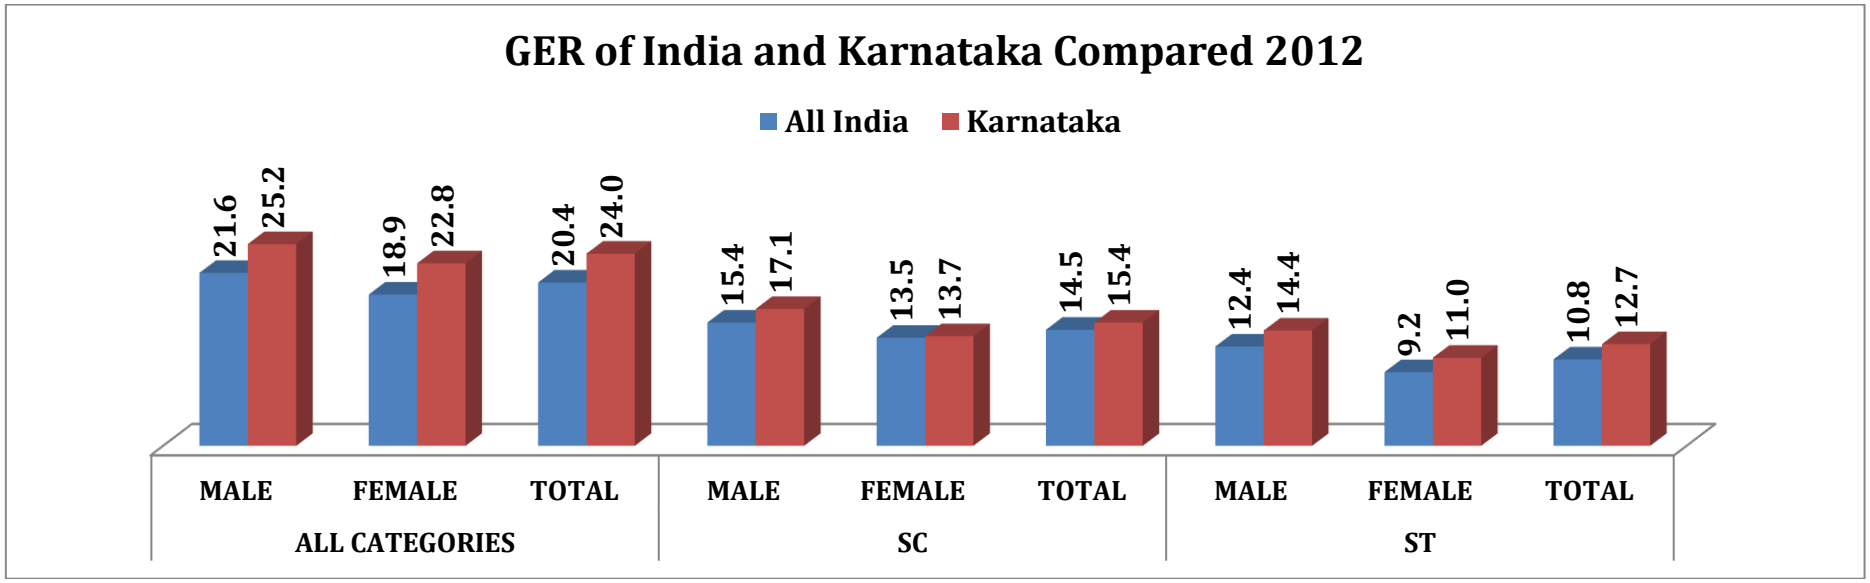
Karnataka's ST Ger at 12.7% is better than that of India at 10.8. While the proportion of the Scheduled Tribe population to total population of the State is 6.95 per cent their GER is higher at 12.7. Karnataka has achieved a much better GER than its neighbouring States like Kerala at 12.3 and Maharashtra at 12.5.

Weakness

The GER of ST Population is still below the STATE average GER and much lower than that achieved in the southern neighbouring States like Andhra Pradesh at 21.0 and Tamil Nadu at 31.

Opportunity

There is vast scope for mainstreaming the St population into higher Education so that State can improve the overall Ger much quicker. By improving SC and ST Ger it is possible to raise the State GER quickly.

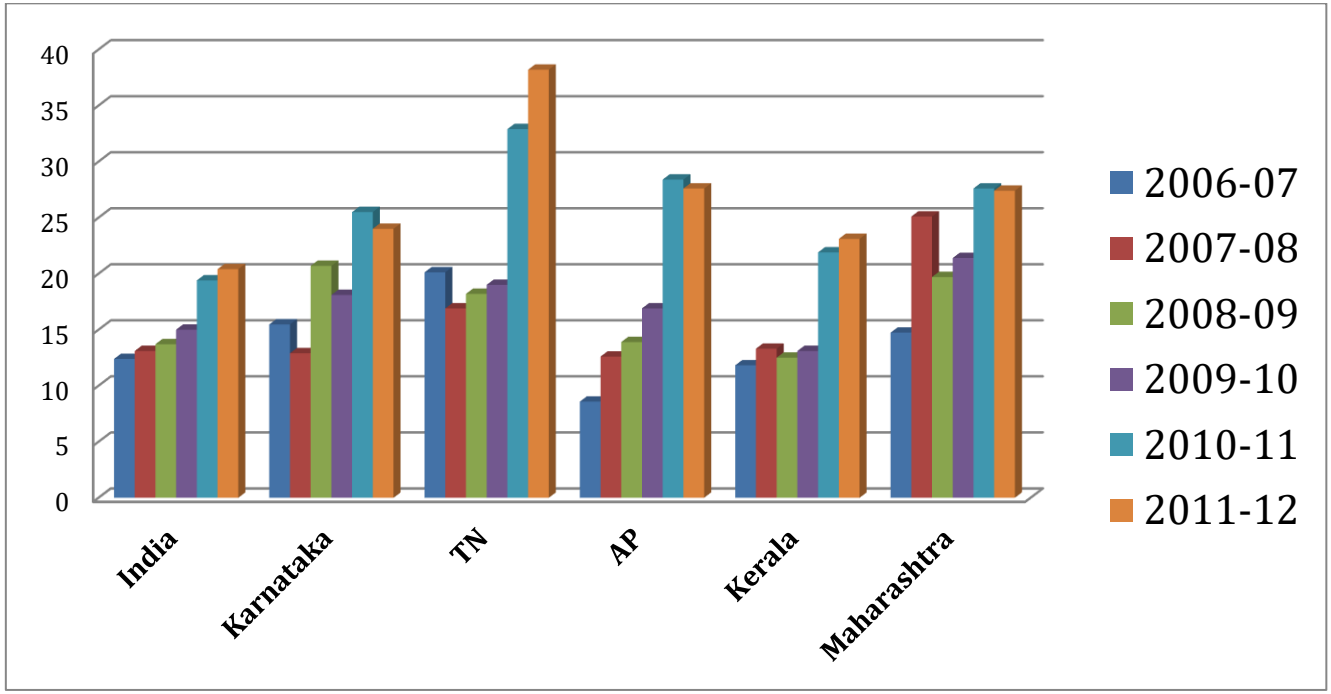


Strength

Karnataka has better GER than the national average in respect of both male and female in all, categories, SC and ST.

GER in Regional Perspective

Growth of GER in Karnataka & its Neighbor States2006-12



Strengths

GER of Karnataka is showing an increasing trend in the last six years

Weakness

Karnataka is behind all of its neighbouring States in GER except Kerala for the last few years. Rise in GER in Karnataka is not consistent over the years and is at a slow pace unlike spurt in GER noticed in Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu.

Strengths

Karnataka has more than 10.5 % of Higher Education institutions of India and therefore happens to be a major State in Higher Education Sector and stands as fourth largest in terms of number of Institutions and caters to 9.3 % of students enrolled in higher education in India and happens to be the fifth largest State in Higher Education Sector in the country.

Karnataka also has a share of 15.9 % of Polytechnics in India with an enrolment of 15.7 % of polytechnic students in India.

Karnataka has the major share of 41.4 % of Nursing Schools of India with 41.5% of students enrolled in Nursing Schools.

Karnataka is the First State among all States of India to upload the highest number of Data Capture Formats from all Higher Educational Institutions under All India Survey on higher Education. And hence the data collected is immensely useful for preparation of the State Higher Education perspective Plan.

Karnataka although has only 6.8% of Universities in India, caters to 16.8% of University enrolled students in India.

Weakness

Karnataka with only 6.8% of Universities in India caters to 16.8% of University enrolled students in India. Hence there are not enough Universities in the State to cater to the requirement of all needy aspirants of higher education.

Colleges constitute the biggest chunk compared to professional and vocational institutions like polytechnics and Vocational institutions. While India has only 5% of D Ed colleges Karnataka has 13% and whether such a big proportion of D Ed colleges is required in Karnataka raises apprehensions of over producing teachers and also contributing for deterioration in quality of out turn of teachers due to mushrooming of D Ed institutions.

Opportunities

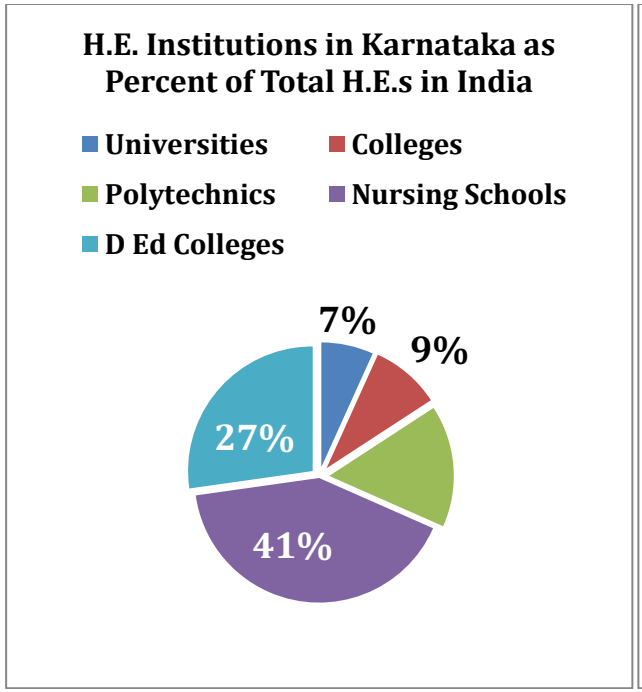
Polytechnics have greater employability potential and these mainstream students into Technical and engineering education and therefore there is need and scope for enhancing their number in the State. As new Government at Centre is focusing on developing Manufacturing sector there is greater need for developing Technical manpower bottom of the pyramid, which can be catered by Technical education offered especially by the polytechnic education sector.

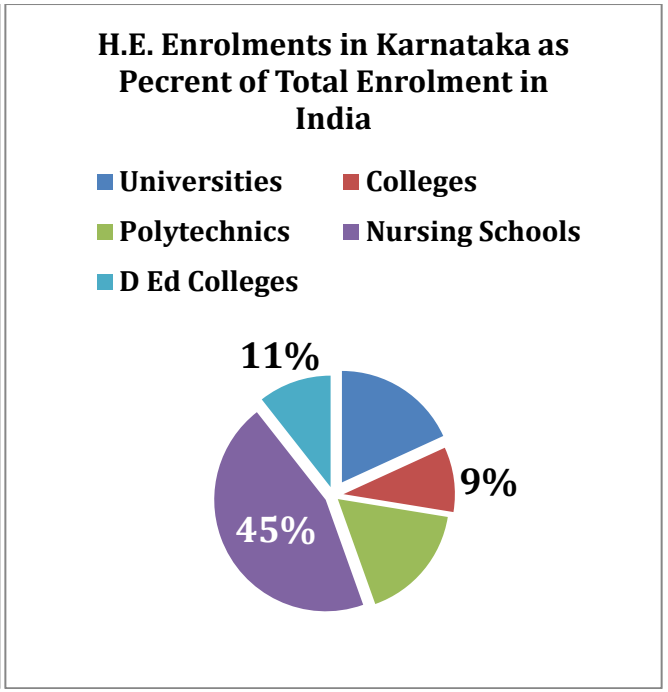
Collaboration of general colleges and polytechnics for Integration of skills and knowledge

While colleges offer education with basic knowledge and soft skills the polytechnics offer education with job/Trade skills. Therefore there is an opportunity for promoting a tie up between colleges and polytechnics for hybridising Knowledge and soft skills of college students with job skills of polytechnics so that better workforce emerges.

The percent composition of colleges in Karnataka is lesser than that of India and therefore there is scope for raising the number of colleges.

Karnataka's share of Higher Education Institutions and Enrolments in India





When we observe the % composition of Higher Educational institutions and % composition of Enrolment in India and Karnataka, the D Ed colleges in Karnataka constitute 27% of Teacher Training Institutes in India but comprise only 11% of students, which means there will be far lesser number of students per institutions. The percent of D Ed institutions has been reduced from 20% to 14% and therefore it indicates a sign of deterioration and closing of institutions. Hence there is an opportunity for diverting these students towards higher education but also to convert these D Ed institutions which are on the verge of closing to be developed into Vocational/Professional colleges utilising the already available infrastructure.

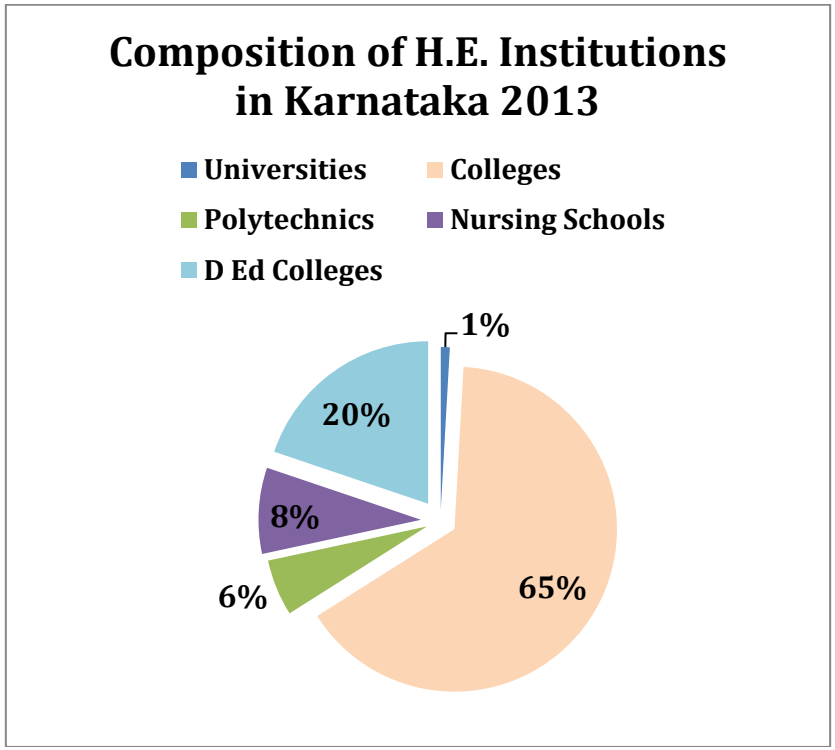
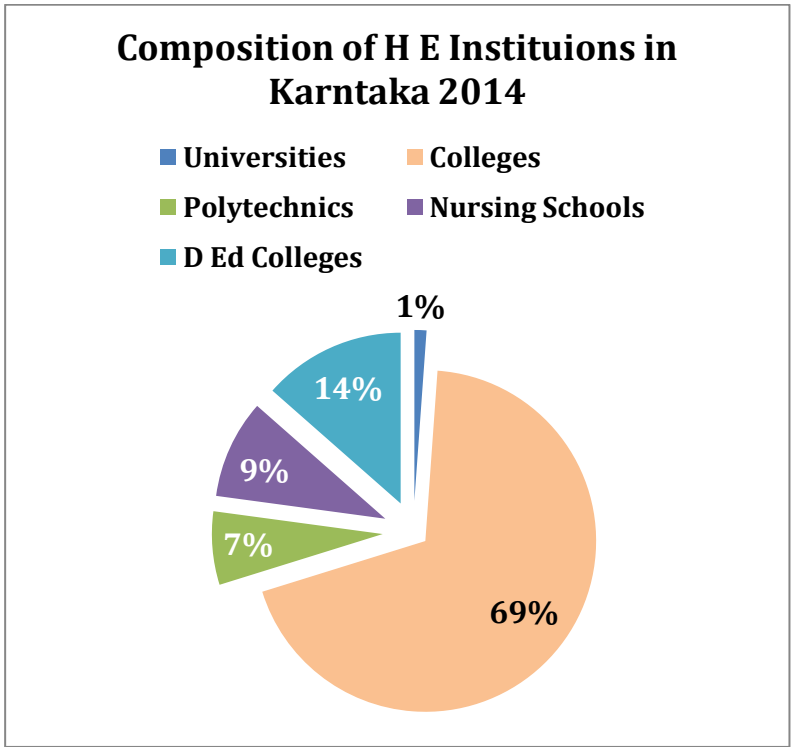
Strategy should be to convert the D Ed institutions that are closing down into new type of colleges with vocational courses and regular colleges with useful short term courses so that these not only become viable but also require no new investments on physical infrastructure and thus contribute for GER and skill development among students.

Change in composition of higher education institutions between 2013-14 in Karnataka





In just one year there is significant change in percent of institutions more significant one in D Ed colleges which has fallen from 20% in 2013 to 14% in 2014 while in actual number it has been reduced from 1000 institutions to 594 as many of them are getting closed down due to lack of demand from students for D Ed courses. There is an improvement in percent of colleges from 64% in 2013 to 69% especially due to starting of new colleges and women colleges by Department of collegiate education. There is an opportunity to convert these closed down D Ed colleges into Vocational Educational Centres provided they have enough building infrastructure.

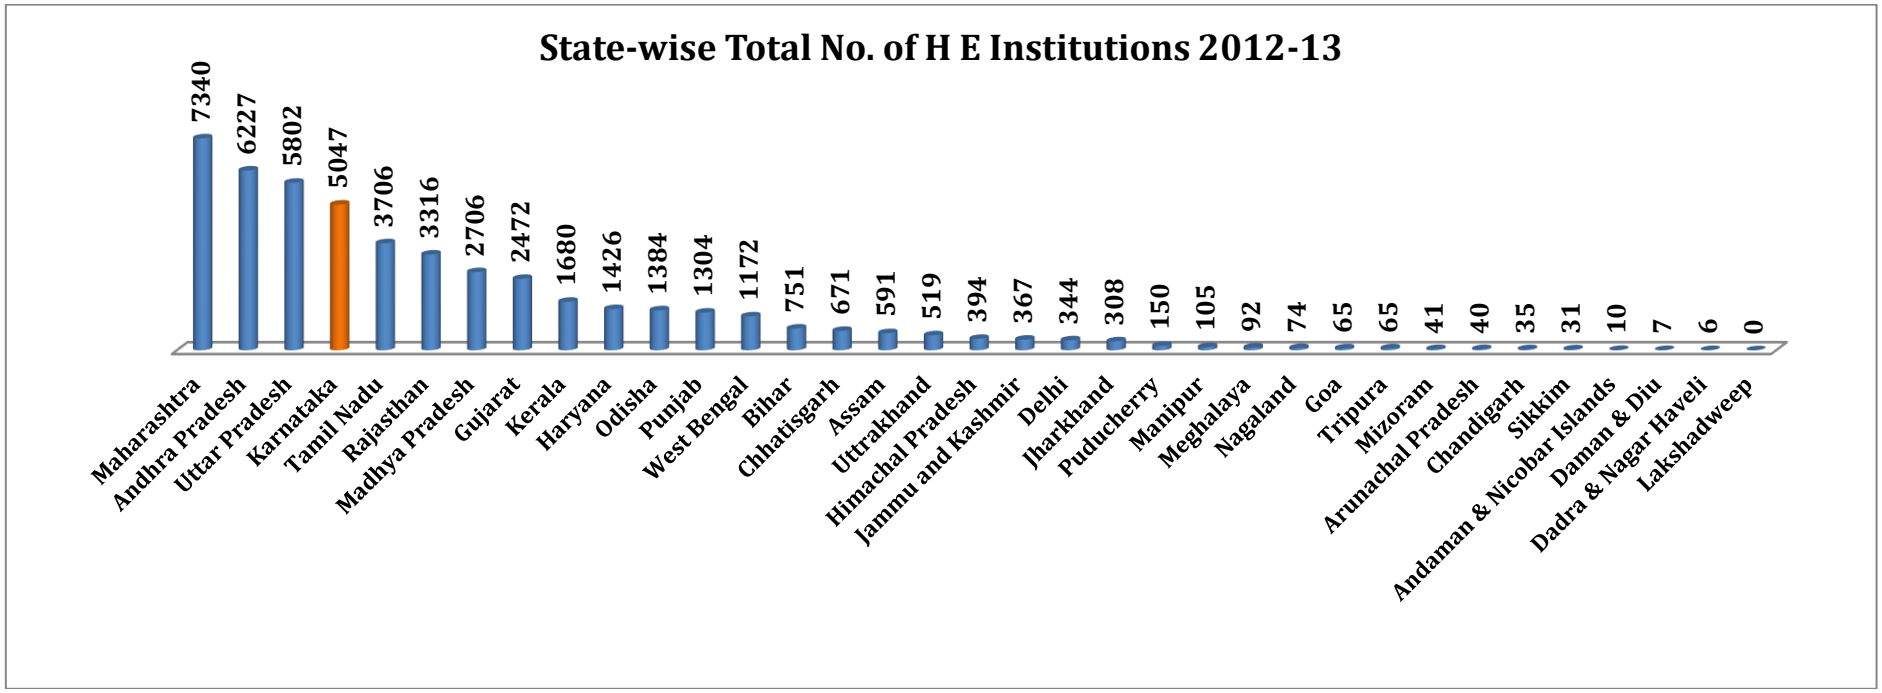
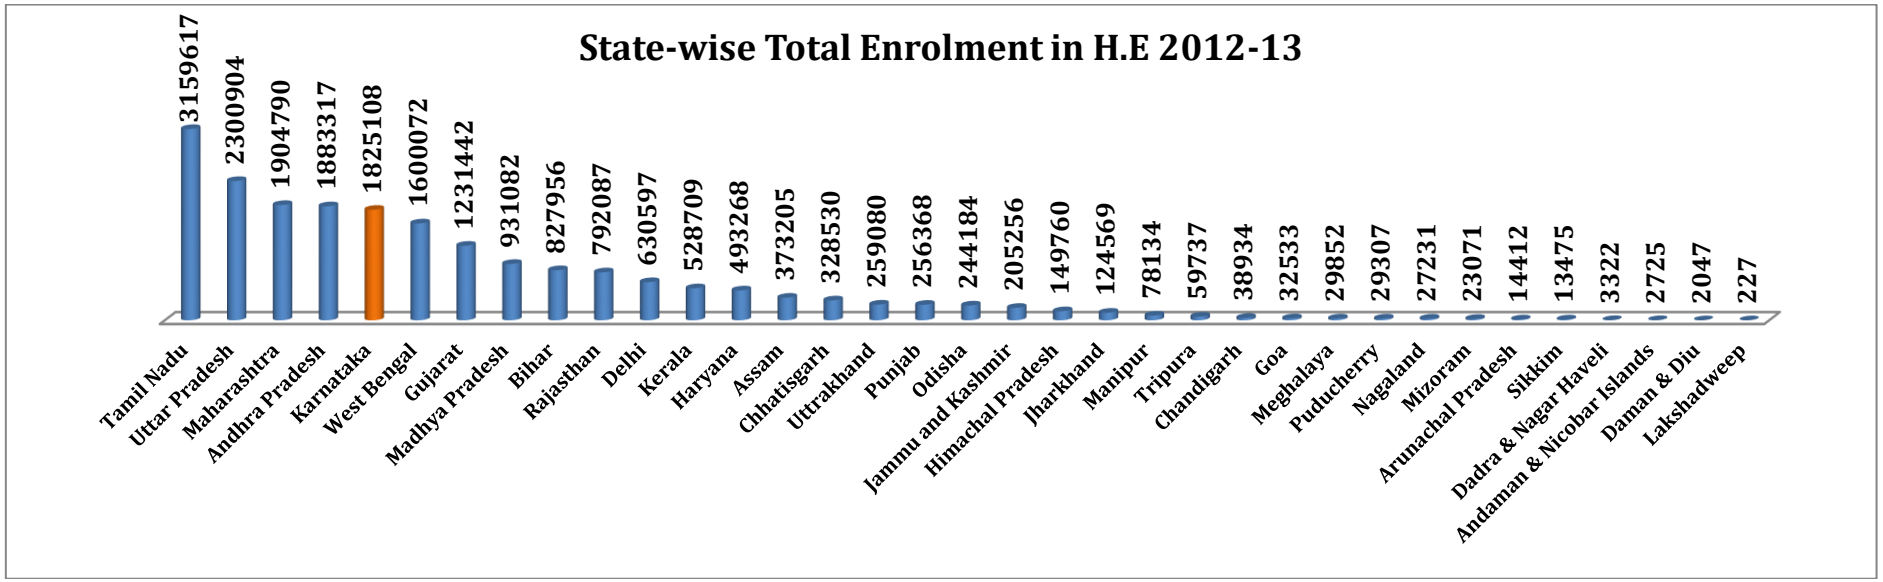
Karnataka's position in number of higher educational institutions vis a vis other States.

Strength

Karnataka ranks fourth among all States as far as total number of all types of Higher Educational institutions are concerned with over 5000 institutions next to Uttar Pradesh and ranks fifth in number of enrolment in Higher Education next only to Andhra Pradesh.





Weakness

The very fact that Karnataka's rank is lower in enrolment compared to rank based on number of institutions alerts that our institutions are not at their fullest capacity when compared to other States especially Tamil Nadu and Uttar Pradesh. Tamil Nadu with lesser number of institutions than Karnataka ranks first as far as enrolment is concerned. So also Uttar Pradesh with third rank in number of institutions ranks second as far as enrolment is concerned.

Threat

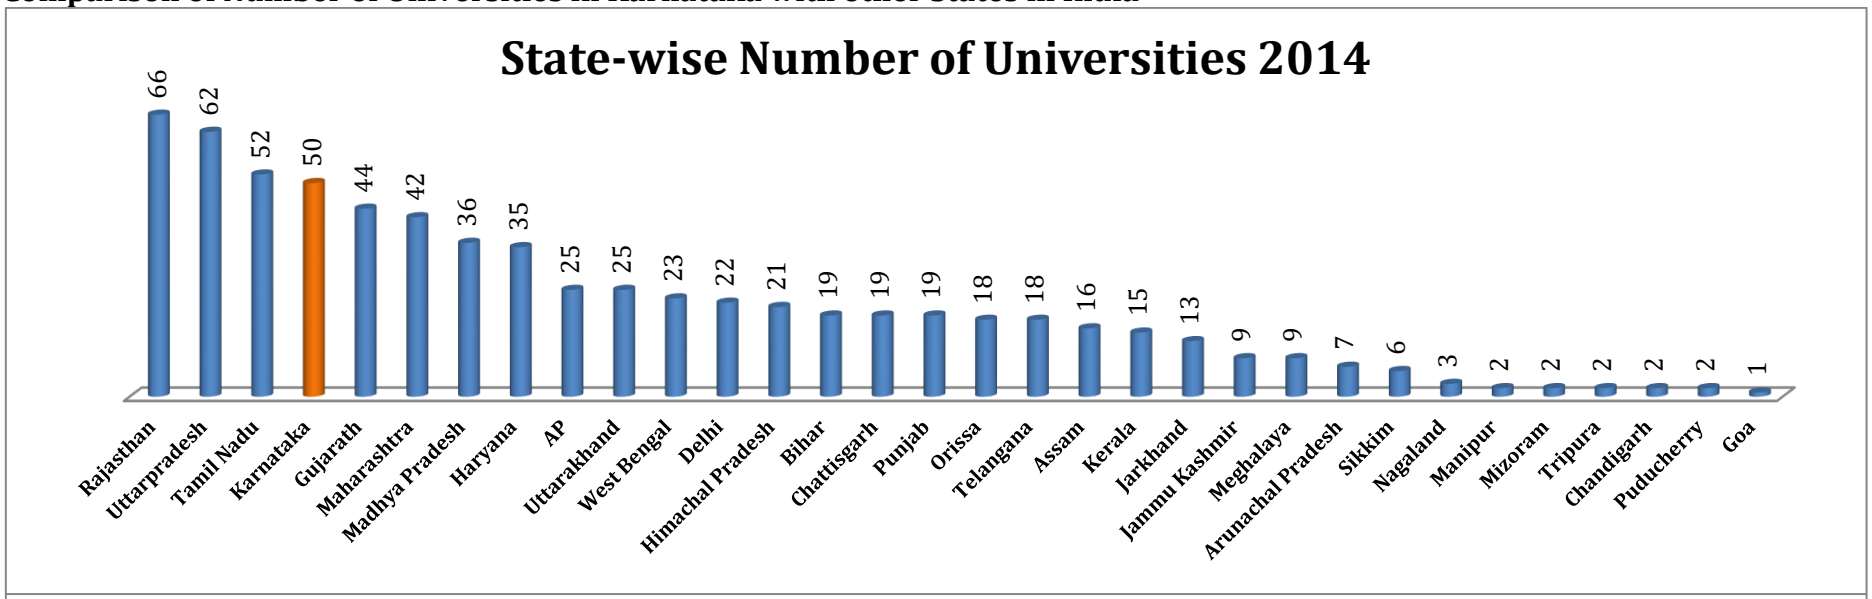
If our institutions do not work at full capacity there could be higher cost of running institutions and lesser use efficiency of physical infrastructure.

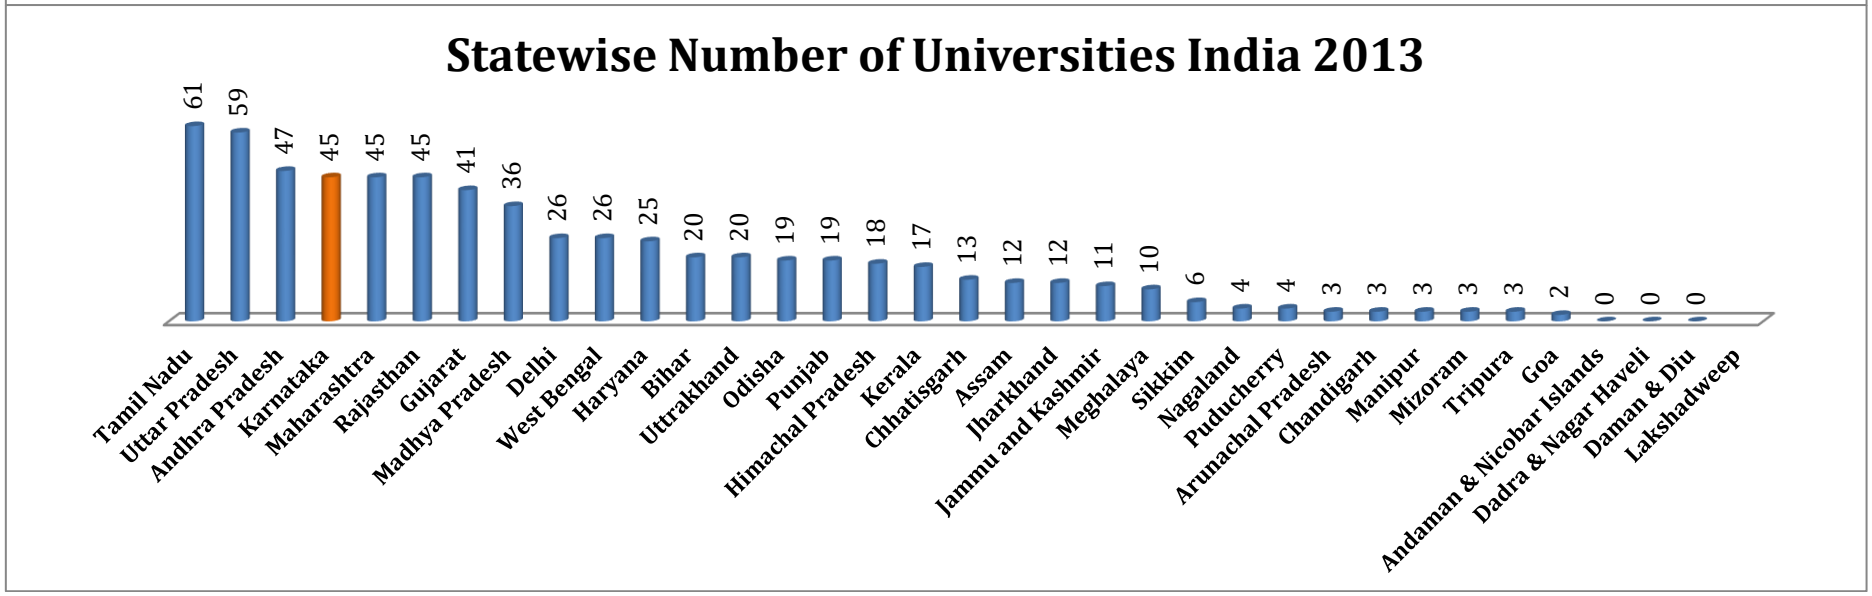
Opportunity

Although this decrease in Karnataka could be due to low enrolment in D Ed colleges, there should be a focus on enhancing the average institutional capacity, by providing more class rooms, laboratories and hostels for fully augmenting the existing institutional capacity. There is also an opportunity to enhance institutional capacity by allowing them to operate in shifts and offer skill oriented courses and lifelong learning courses.

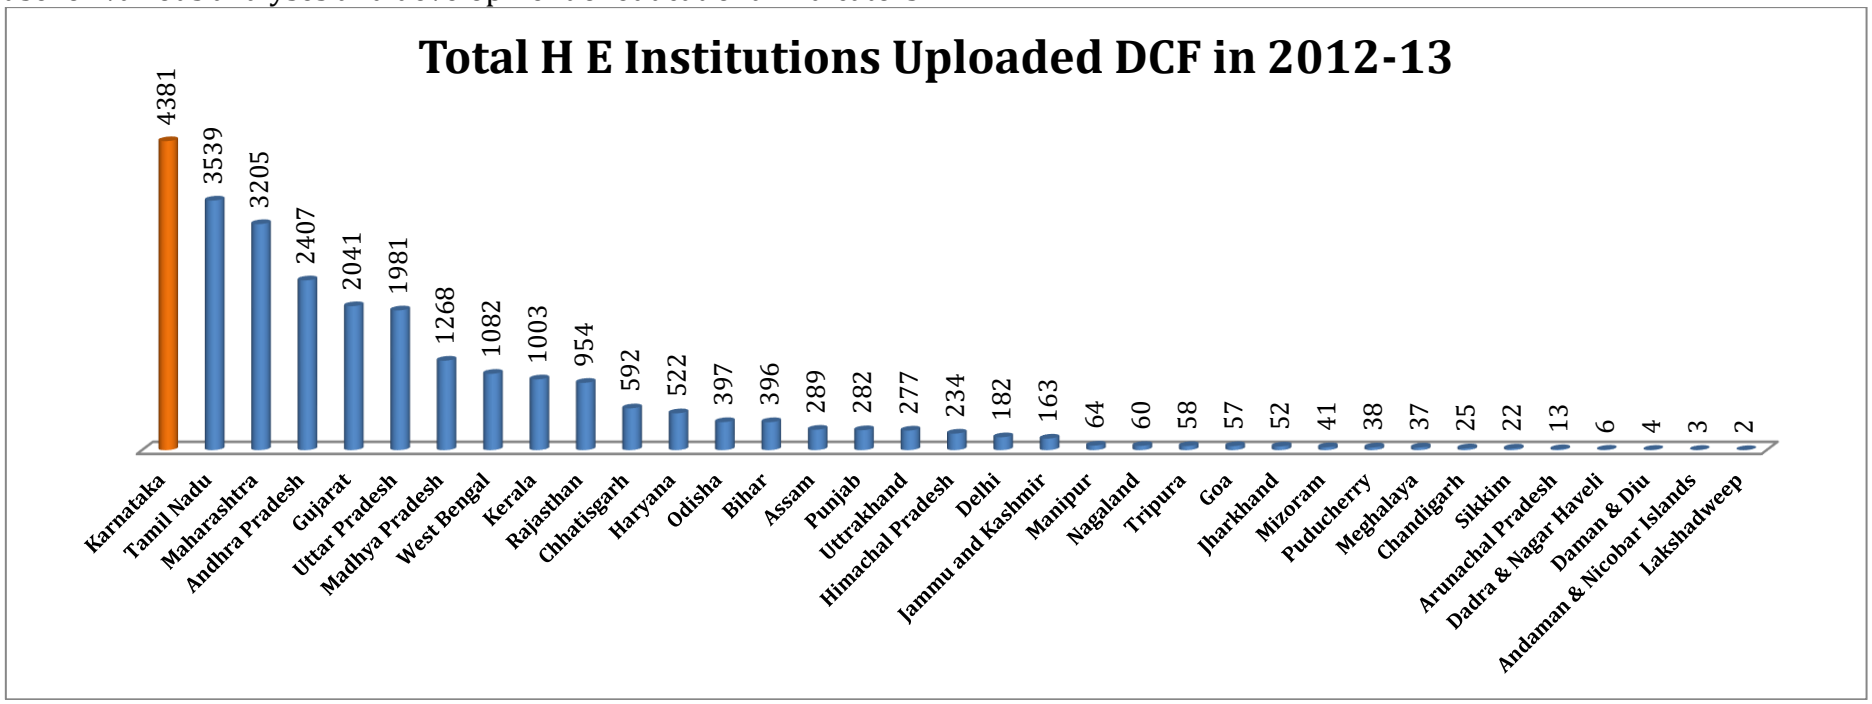
Number of Universities

Comparison of Number of Universities in Karnataka with other States in India





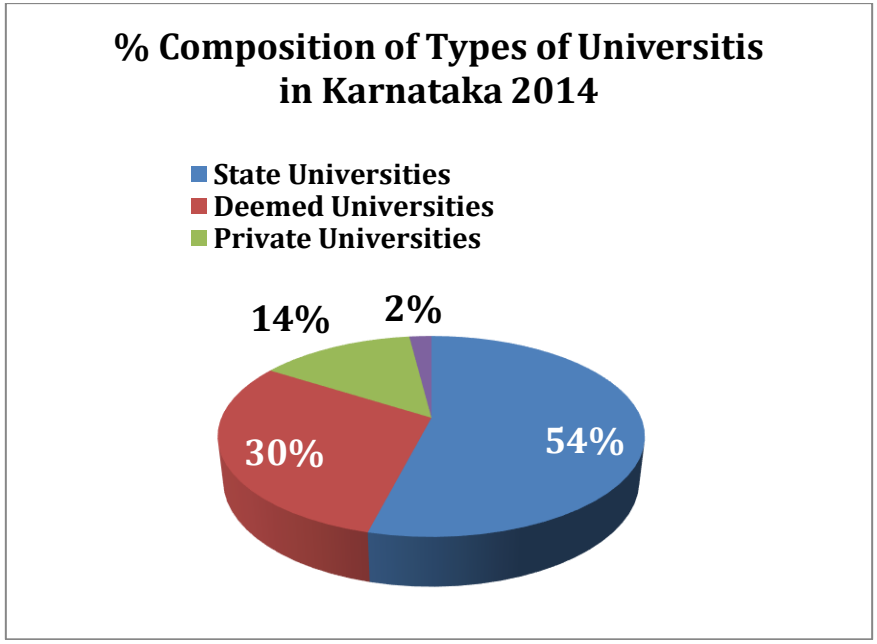
However, when it comes to the number of H.E. institutions which have uploaded their data Karnataka ranks first among all states with the highest number of 4381 in 2013 and 4565 in 2011-12. This has enabled the State to obtain reliable statistics and directly use for various analyses and development of educational indicators.

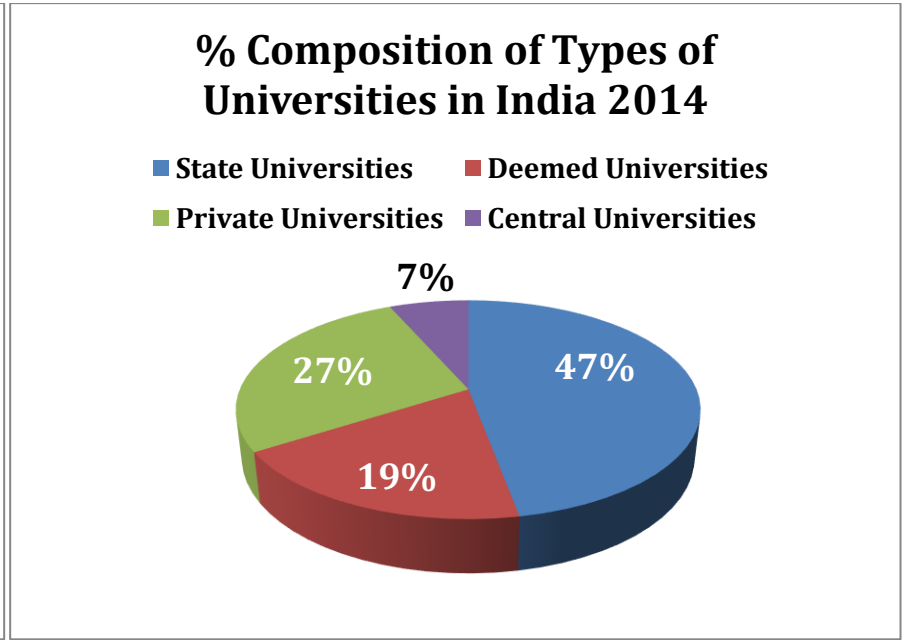


Strength:

Karnataka Ranks with fourth largest State in total number of Universities at 45 and 50 respectively during 2012-13 and 2013-14. For a given population Karnataka has more University than that of India as evidenced by the fact that each University in Karnataka serves an average population of 161373 in 18-23 age group compared to All India average of 212050.

Percent Composition of Different Types of Universities in Karnataka in comparison with India





Strength

Karnataka has better percent composition of State Funded Universities. While 47% of Indian Universities are State Funded Universities, the share in Karnataka is higher at 54%. Also Karnataka has a significantly higher share of deemed Universities at 30% compared to 19% in India. While India has only 19% of deemed Universities Karnataka has a better share at 30%. Karnataka has a lesser share of private universities. Compared to 27% Private Universities in India Karnataka has only 14% and hence there is lesser commercialisation in University education.

Weakness

Central University share in India is 7% while Karnataka has 2%. As Central Universities are better funded than State Government funded Universities, they are in much better situation. But there is only one Central University in Karnataka which even after 5 years after its inception with just 421 students is not functioning to its fullest capacity.

60% of affiliating universities are with more than 100 colleges per University and as a result their governance and administration have suffered due to external interferences especially with respect to affiliation of colleges and quality has deteriorated.

Threats

State funded Universities are not performing better in many respects like research output, quality of graduates produced, patents application filed etc. Unless these universities are focussed with greater funding for research, there is a threat that they may become intellectual mortuaries and become white elephants in course of time.

Opportunity

Karnataka has better scope for increasing the private Universities to come up so that there could be healthy completion and reduction in cost of higher education and introduction of better courses relevant to the industry and the employer. Both new Universities and Research Universities are to be opened during 13th plan under RUSA scheme. The State has better scope to promote division of larger Universities to create new Universities, establish Innovation Universities, Research Universities, World Class Universities, Sports University, Education University, Vocational Education University, Railway University, besides Central University at Karwar and Bangalore. While doing so there is scope for maintaining the geographic equity so that every district would be able to get a University preferably an affiliating University with multi-faculty nature.

How Many Universities Should Karnataka have in the State?

In the light of recommendations made by National knowledge commission, Karnataka Jnana Ayoga, Based in future GER target, based on number of population and population in the age group of 18-23 one may decide the future requirements of Universities in Karnataka.

Criteria based Number of Universities Required for Karnataka

Criteria	Data	Thumb Rule	Estimated Number of Universities Required for Karnataka
NKC Recommendation	1500 in India	More than double	100
Population by 2022	98346000	1/1000000	98
18-23 Age Group Population	7261785	1/100000	73
Administrative Unit	30	1/District	64
Number of Affiliated Colleges	3287	1/100	66
Based on GER	From 25 to 35	2 University /1% GER	70

On the basis of several criteria, one can argue in favour of more number of universities to be established in Karnataka keeping in mind the fact that higher the education level, higher is the job prospect, economic and research output and better is the earnings from job provided global educational standards are maintained in our universities.

Argument-1: Based on National Knowledge Commission Report

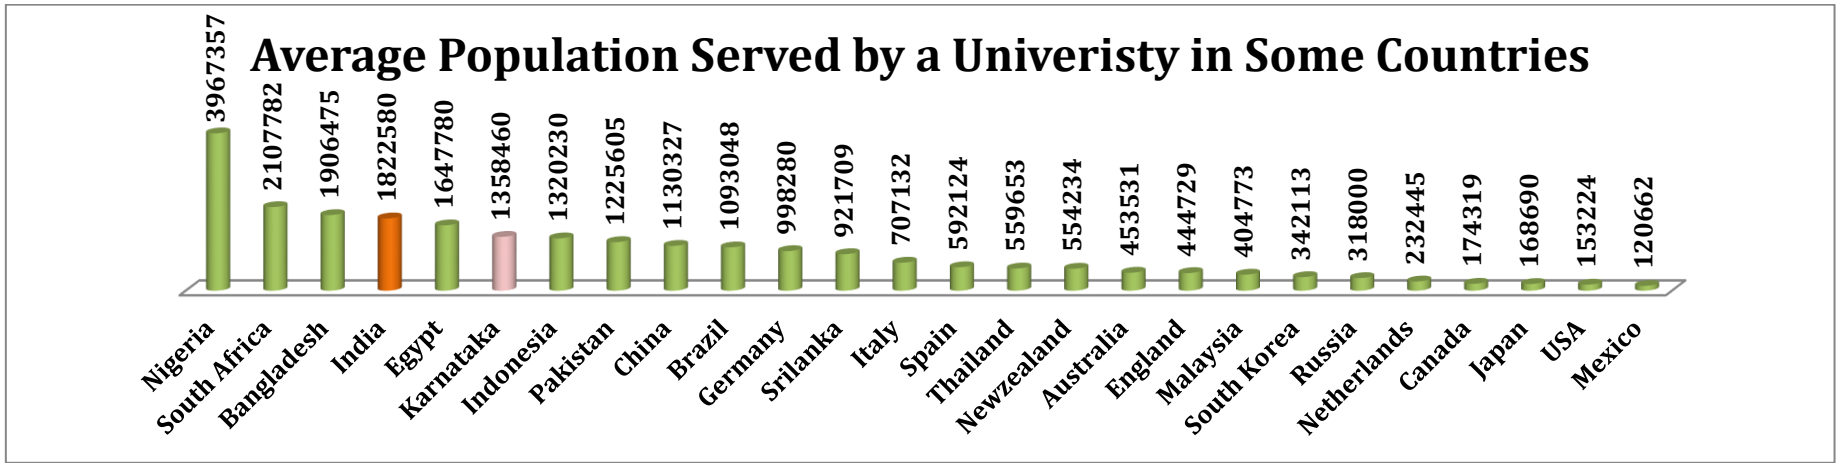
National Knowledge Commission's Report to the Nation 2006-09 states that The higher education system needs a massive expansion of opportunities, to around 1500 universities nationwide, that would enable India to attain a gross enrolment ratio of at least 15 per cent by 2015. The focus would have to be on new universities, but some clusters of affiliated colleges could also become universities. Such expansion would require major changes in the structure of regulation. If this recommendation were to be implemented in Karnataka it would require at least 100 universities as the current number needs to be doubled.

Argument-2: Population based criteria

Population of Karnataka constitutes 5.05 percent of that of India. Mexico, USA, Japan, Canada have a university for less than 2 lakh population. UK and Australia have a university for an average population less than 5 lakh. While China and Brazil have a university per 10-11 lakh population, Karnataka has an average population of over 13 lakh per University and India has one for 18 lakh. A University in Karnataka has to serve a much larger population compared to our neighbouring countries like Srilanka and Pakistan. An ideal size of population per university could be on an average one million, on par with some of BRIC nations. In such a situation Karnataka should have established at least 60 universities by 2011 and need to establish at least 100 universities by 2022 at the rate of one university per every million population.

Weakness

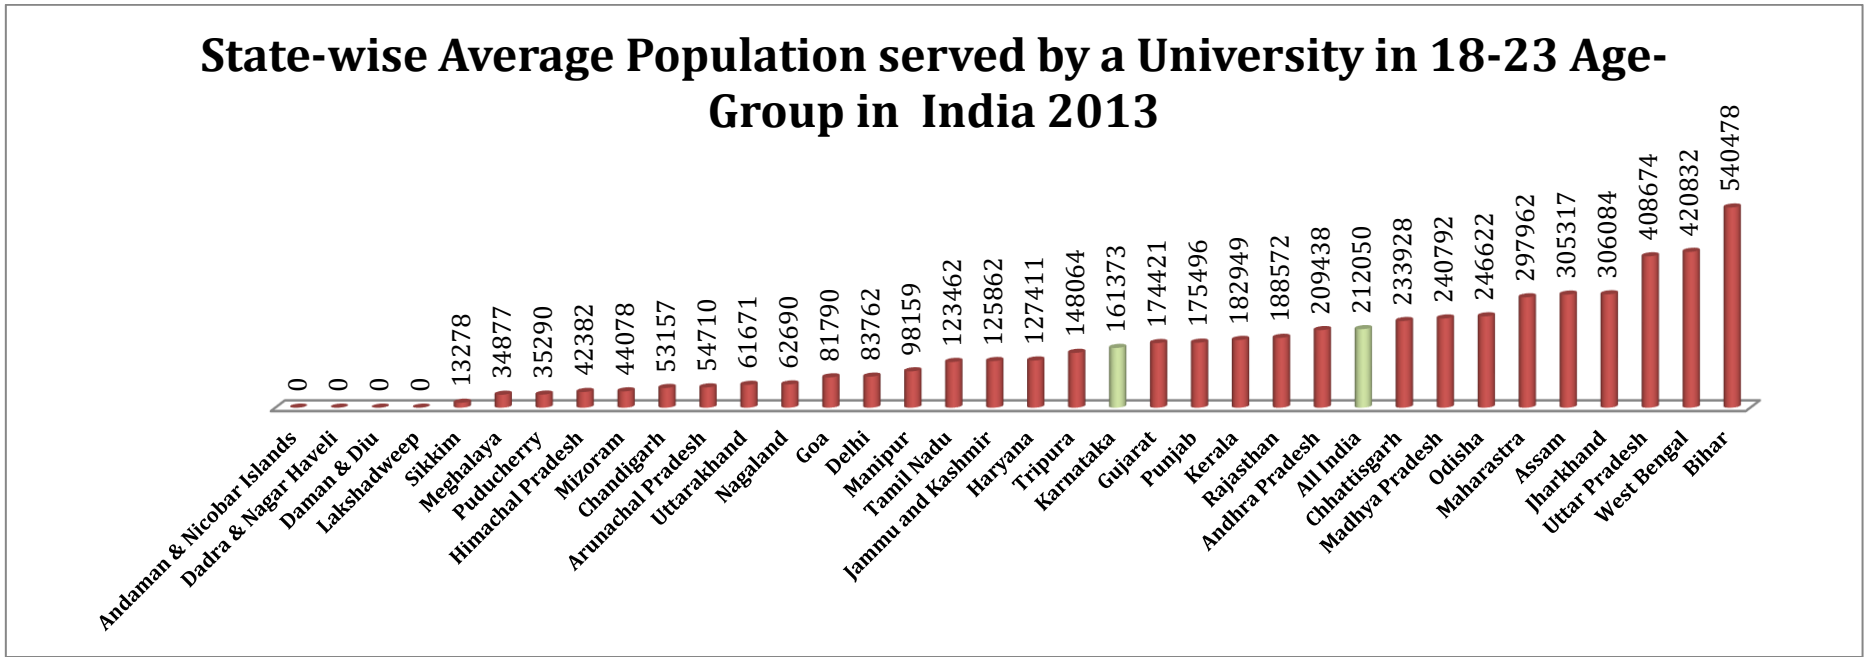
However, when average population served by a University is considered both India and Karnataka have a huge population to be served and it is 11 times more than the Mexico and 9 times more than USA and also much larger than all other members countries of BRIC nations.



Higher education is not just for population of 18-23 age group. Many people who are above theis age group pursue theiur higher education due to various reasons. Besided M Phil PhD, inservice deputations although not in big number do take up higher education. The distance education caters to theose people who wnat to study at their conveneince rather than stick to early age of studies. Therefore it is also pertinent to consider the total population as whole and see for what average number of population each university caters to.

Argument -3: Based on 18-23 Age Group Population

State	Year	18-23 Projected Population	Percent Share	No. of Universities	Percent Share	18-23 Age Average Population per University
Karnataka	2013	7261814	5.16	45	6.78	161373
India		140801526		664		212050
Karnataka	2014	7191845	5.10	50	7.33	143837
India		141045558		682		206812



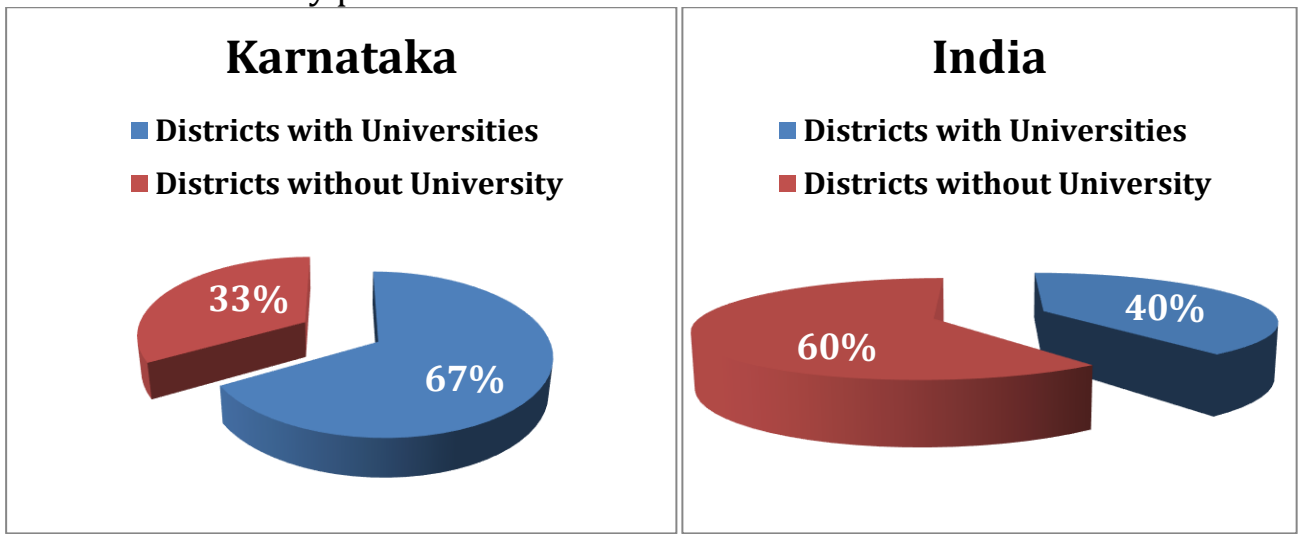
Strength

Population of Karnataka in the age group of 18-23 constitutes 5.16 percent that of India and it got further reduced to 5.10 in 2014. Karnataka has 45 Universities including State, Central Deemed and Private Universities, which constitutes 6.78 % of that of India and it has further increased to 7.33 that of India. India had a total of 664 Universities in 2013 and 682 in 2014, which got increased by just 2% while in Karnataka, the number of Universities got increased to 50 and was increased by 11%.

Karnataka being a Knowledge State and a knowledge capital of the country needs larger number of Universities. There is an opportunity to raise the number of Universities by strategically upgrading a number of quality institutions to universities and also create cluster Universities, so that no investment on, land total new physical infrastructure would be required, while the best institutions would be promoted to serve as Universities.

The average population in the age group 18-23 served by a University in India is 212050. The corresponding figure for Karnataka stands at 161373, which is about 5000 persons lesser. Though it is lesser than national level, there are many States both small and big which have universities for much lesser population, for example Pondicherry has a university for every 35290 persons, Himachal Pradesh has 54710 persons, Tamil Nadu has 123462 persons per University. The median value is 125862 persons per university which is much lesser than Karnataka. Of the thirty five States and union territories twenty are having much lesser population per university and only fourteen States have greater population.

Argument -4: At least One University per District



The basic unit of planning at national/State level is a District. Karnataka has 30 districts of which only 11 districts have 15 affiliating Universities. Only ten districts have deemed universities. Ten districts do not have any kind of universities. Compared to India with 60% of the districts without a University, the percent of districts without a university is only 33% in Karnataka. The remaining 33% of the districts also need to be provided with universities to achieve 100 districts with universities in Karnataka. Based on the recommendation of Karnataka Knowledge Commission, i.e., 'To establish District Universities in Karnataka with appropriate funding and an autonomous governance structure', It is appropriate to establish one affiliating university per district. Adding 19 more universities in districts without an affiliating University, the current number would go to 70 in Karnataka.

Argument-5: Based on number of colleges

Karnataka has 3272 affiliated colleges besides constituent colleges, of campus centres and pg centres. There are only 15 affiliating Universities in 11 districts. Of these 15 universities 9 universities are having more than 100 affiliated colleges.

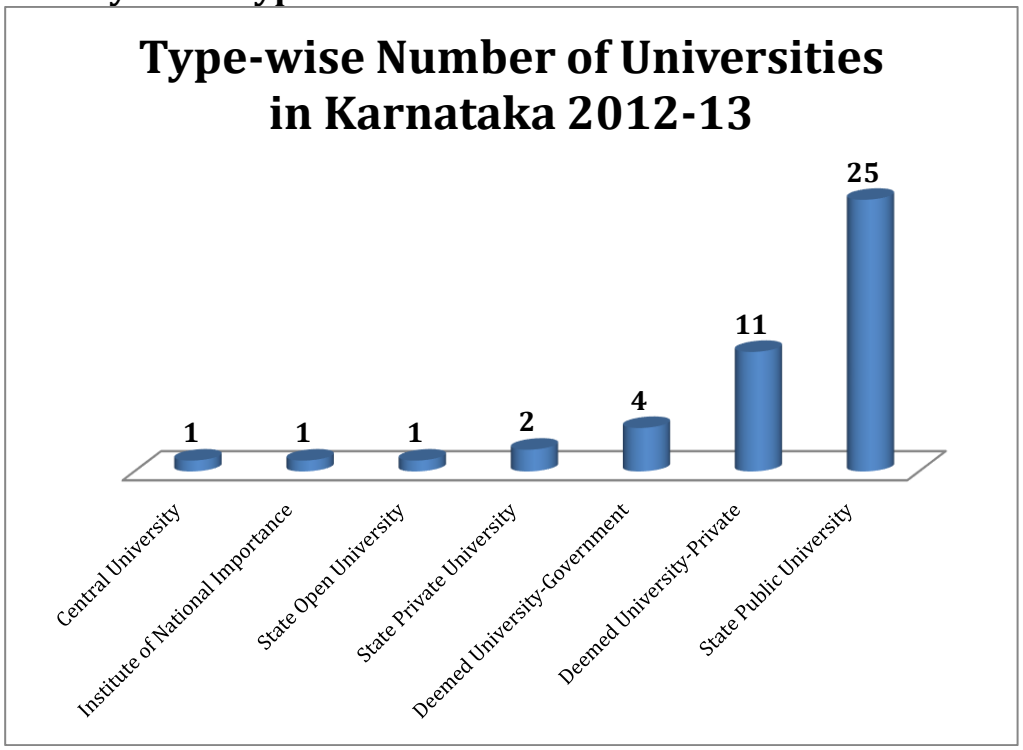
Composition of Universities by their Type



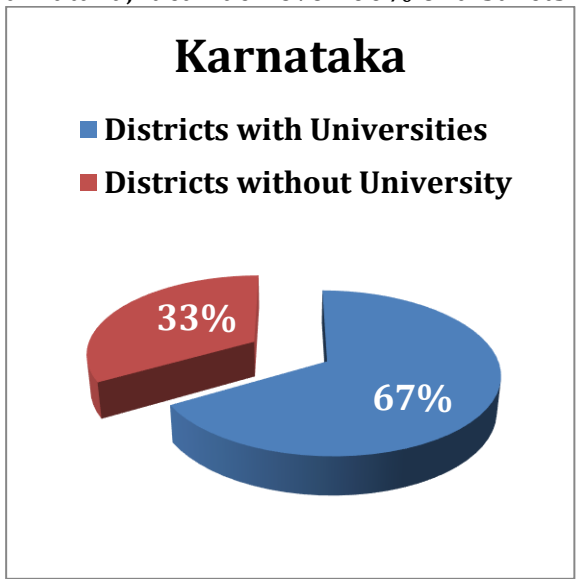
Geographic Distribution of Universities

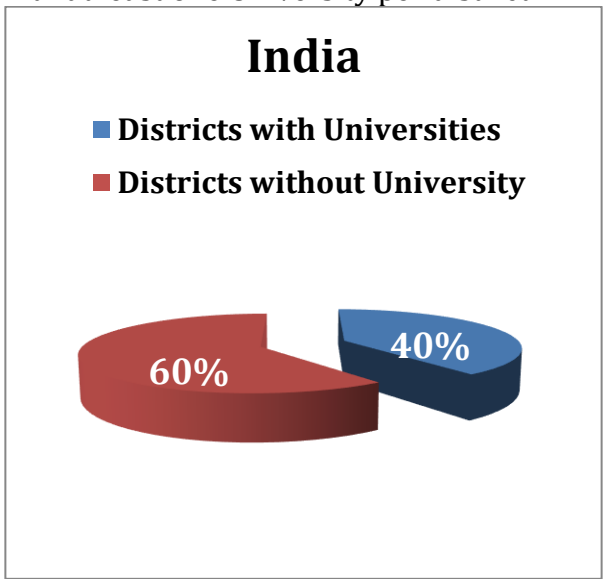
Districts without Universities in Karnataka and India

State	Total Districts	Districts with '0' University	Districts with at least one University	% of districts with 0 University	% of Districts with at least one University
India	640	392	248	61.25	38.75
Karnataka	30	10	20	33	67

Strength

Karnataka is in a much better position as far as number of districts with Universities as it has established one or the other University in 67% of the districts compared to only 39 of districts in India. Hence if future expansion of Universities can be ensured in the remaining districts of Karnataka, it can achieve 100% of districts with at least one University per district.





Weakness

While the Central University comprise 7% of the total number of Universities in India , Karnataka has only one Central University constituting 2%. Karnataka needs two more Universities to come upto National level of Central Universities.

Opportunity

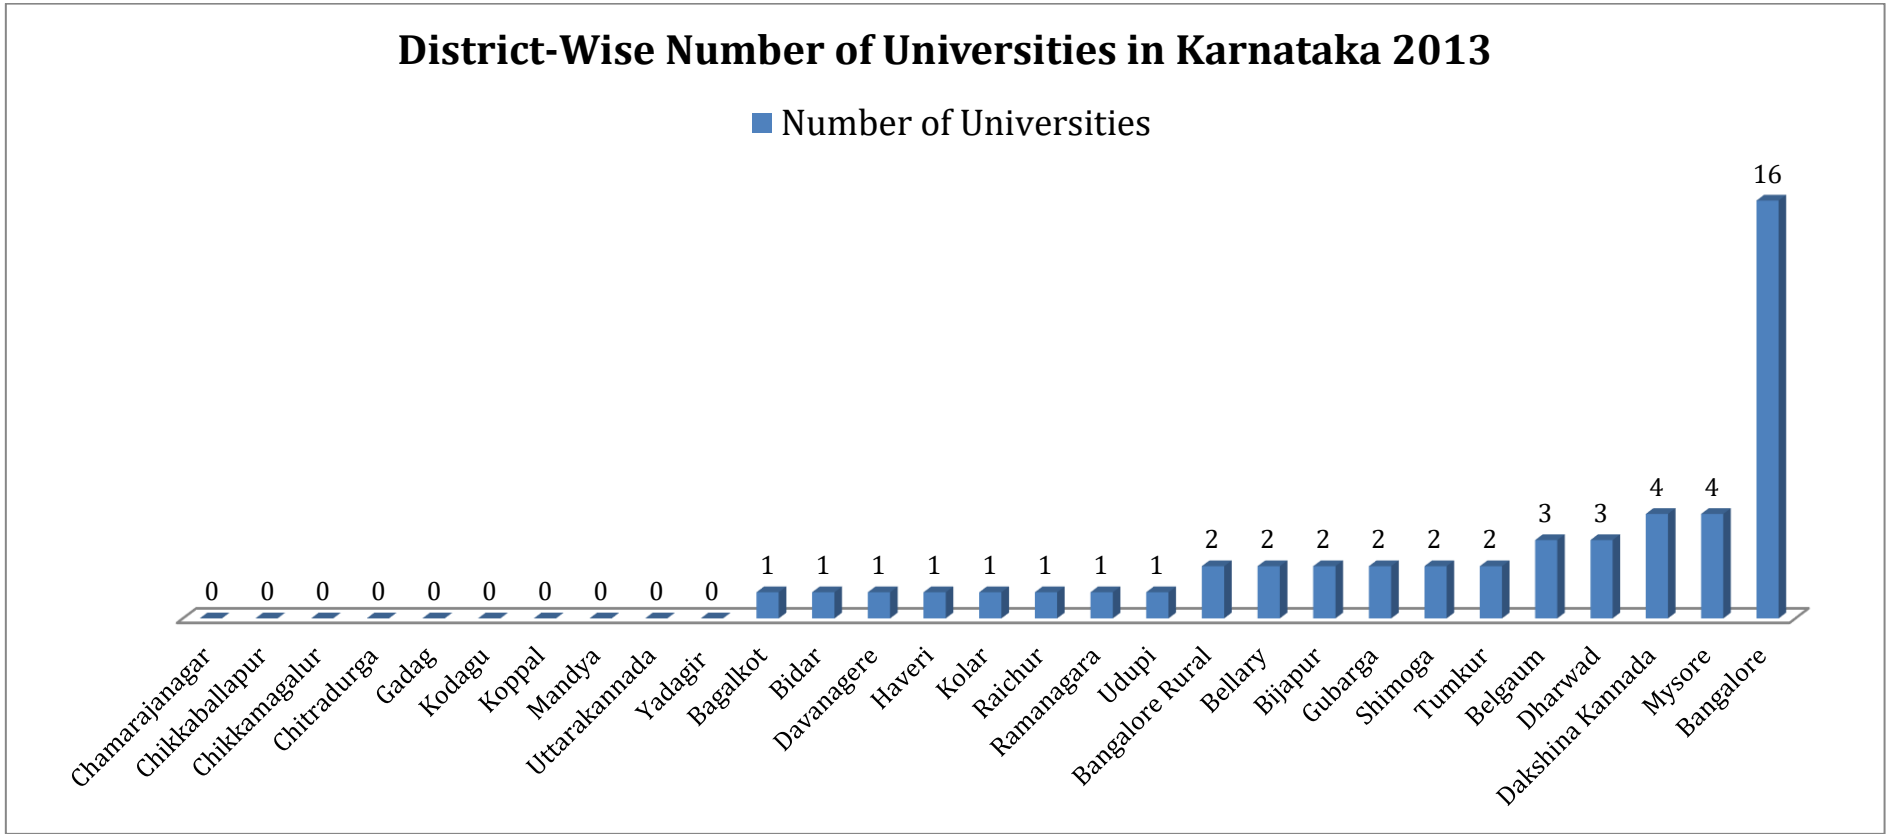
There is Scope for increasing the number of Central Universities in Karnataka provided Central Government grants them to Karnataka.

Threat

If Central Universities are not set up in Karnataka Research and high quality teaching would further suffer as poorly funded State public Universities are not doing well to the expected level.

By not establishing Universities in all Districts these districts are likely to continue to lag behind in educational indices. The demographic dividend may not be harnessed in these districts. They are likely to linger longer in unorganised sector and hence continue to suffer under poverty, unemployment and underdevelopment.

District-wise Total Number of Universities in Karnataka



Strength

Bangalore District has the highest number of Universities at 16. There are 2 districts with four Universities, 2 district with 3 Universities and 6 districts with two universities and 8 districts with at least one University. 67% of the districts in Karnataka have at least one university per district when compared to

Weakness

There are ten districts without any kind of Universities and 8 districts with just one University in Karnataka.

Opportunity

If Karnataka could establish at least one university in each district then there is an opportunity to uniform development of higher education with better geographic equity.

Since Bangalore has more number of Universities in there is scope for developing Meta-University concept. Interdisciplinary research can be strengthened by bringing collaboration among different types of Universities like Medical agricultural, law and general Universities. The students can get better opportunity to study the courses of their choice if choice based credit system is introduced. Hybrid learning is possible between disciplines and emergence of multidisciplinary workforce would be possible. Collaborative research, common research facility, shared research facility systems can be established in all districts with higher concentration of Universities offering various disciplines.

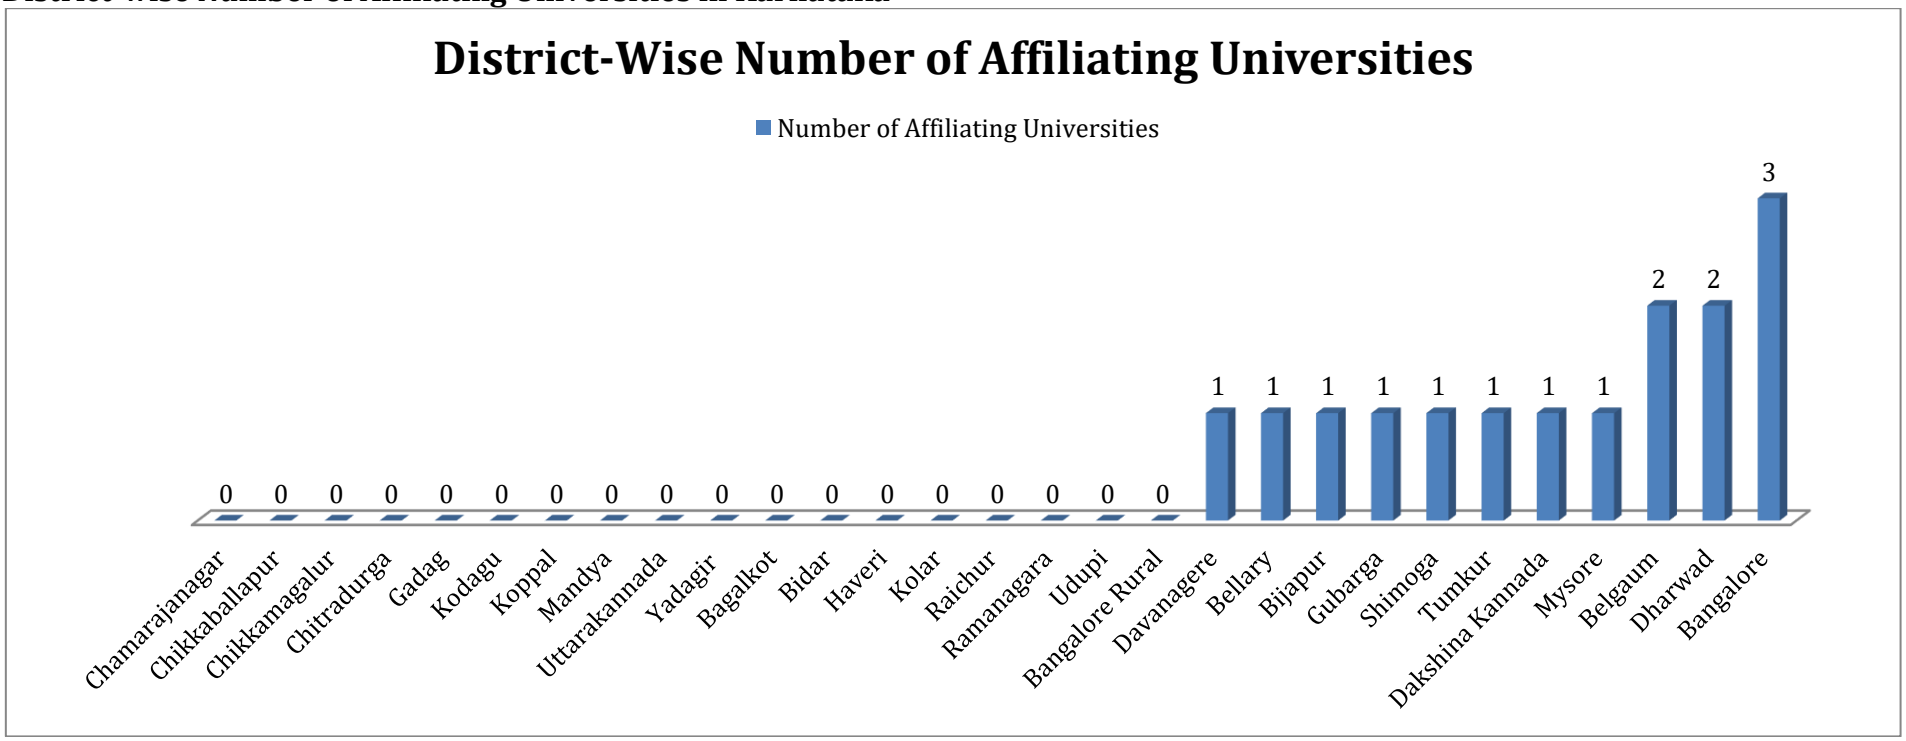
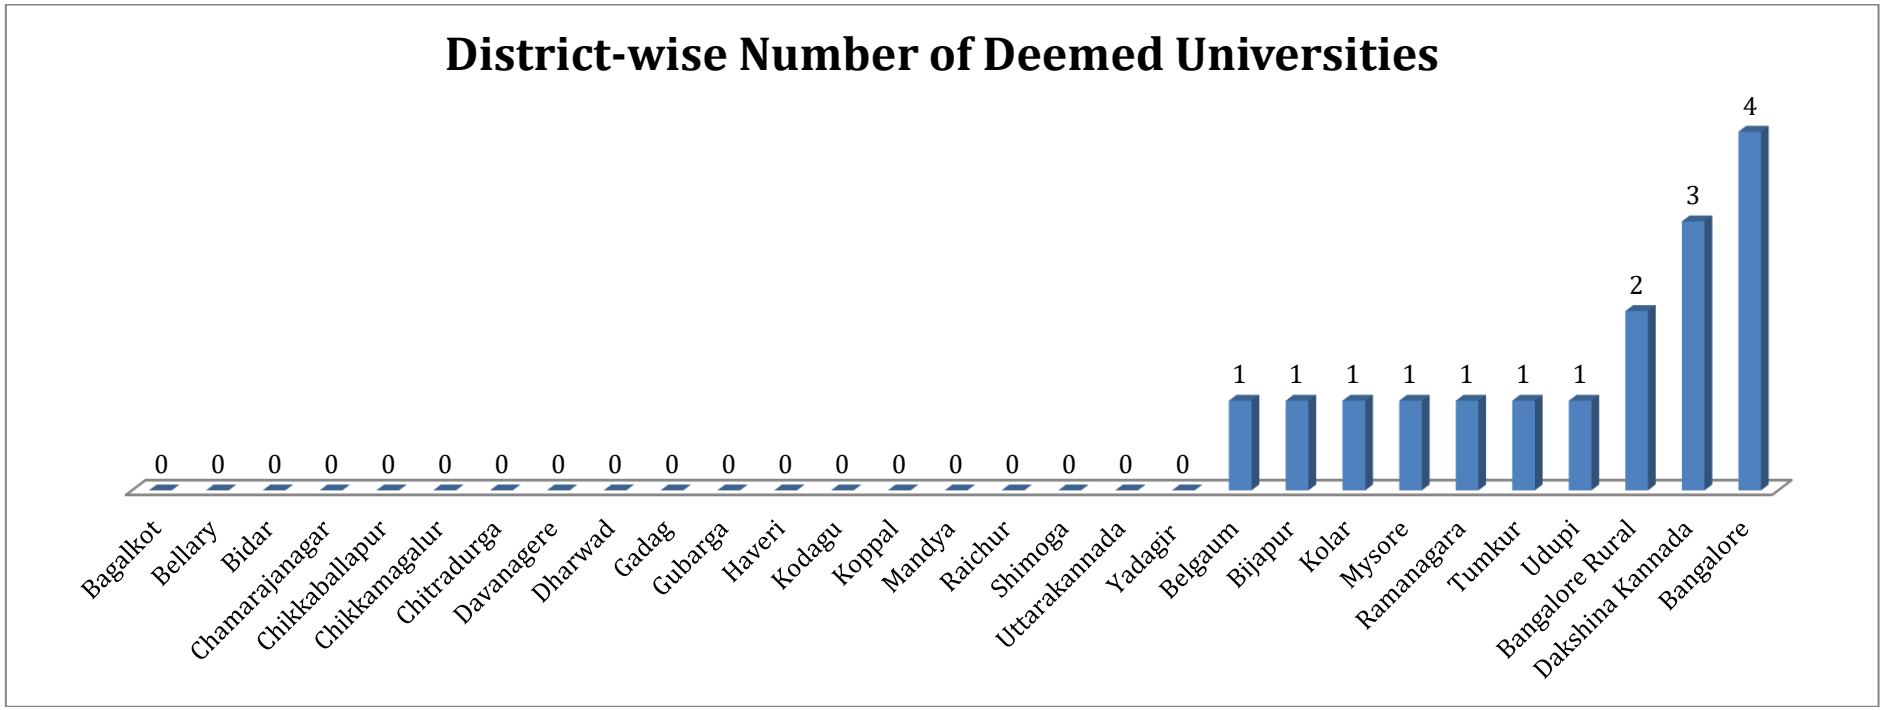
District-wise Number of Affiliating Universities in Karnataka

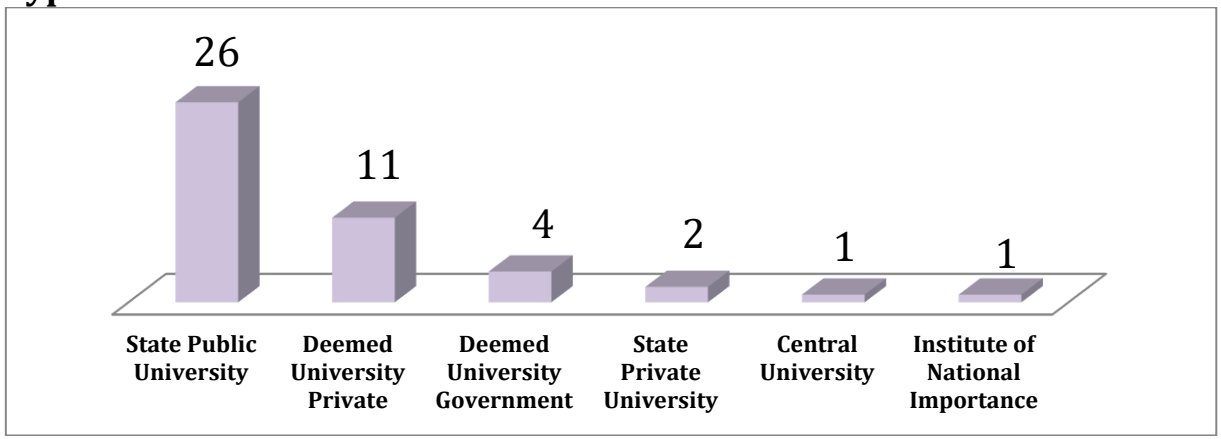




Weakness

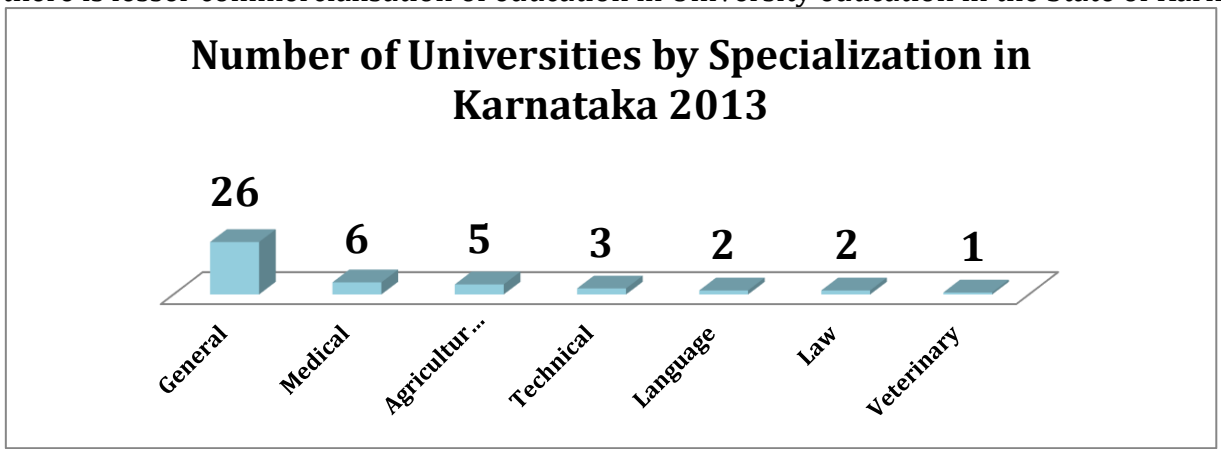
There fifteen affiliating Universities concentrated in just 11 districts. There are 16 Deemed Universities concentrated in just 10 districts. And most of them are concentrated in and around Tier one and tier two cities. Predominantly rural districts do not have Universities.

Types of Universities and their Number.



Strength

32 Universities are State or central funded Universities of which 26 are State funded out of 45 Universities in Karnataka. Therefore there is lesser commercialisation of education in University education in the State of Karnataka.



Strength

26 Universities are general universities with multi-faculty nature. Karnataka has the largest number of Medical Universities. Karnataka has all the types o professional universities like medical, technical, law, agriculture and veterinary and offers a wholesome university higher educational education to students.

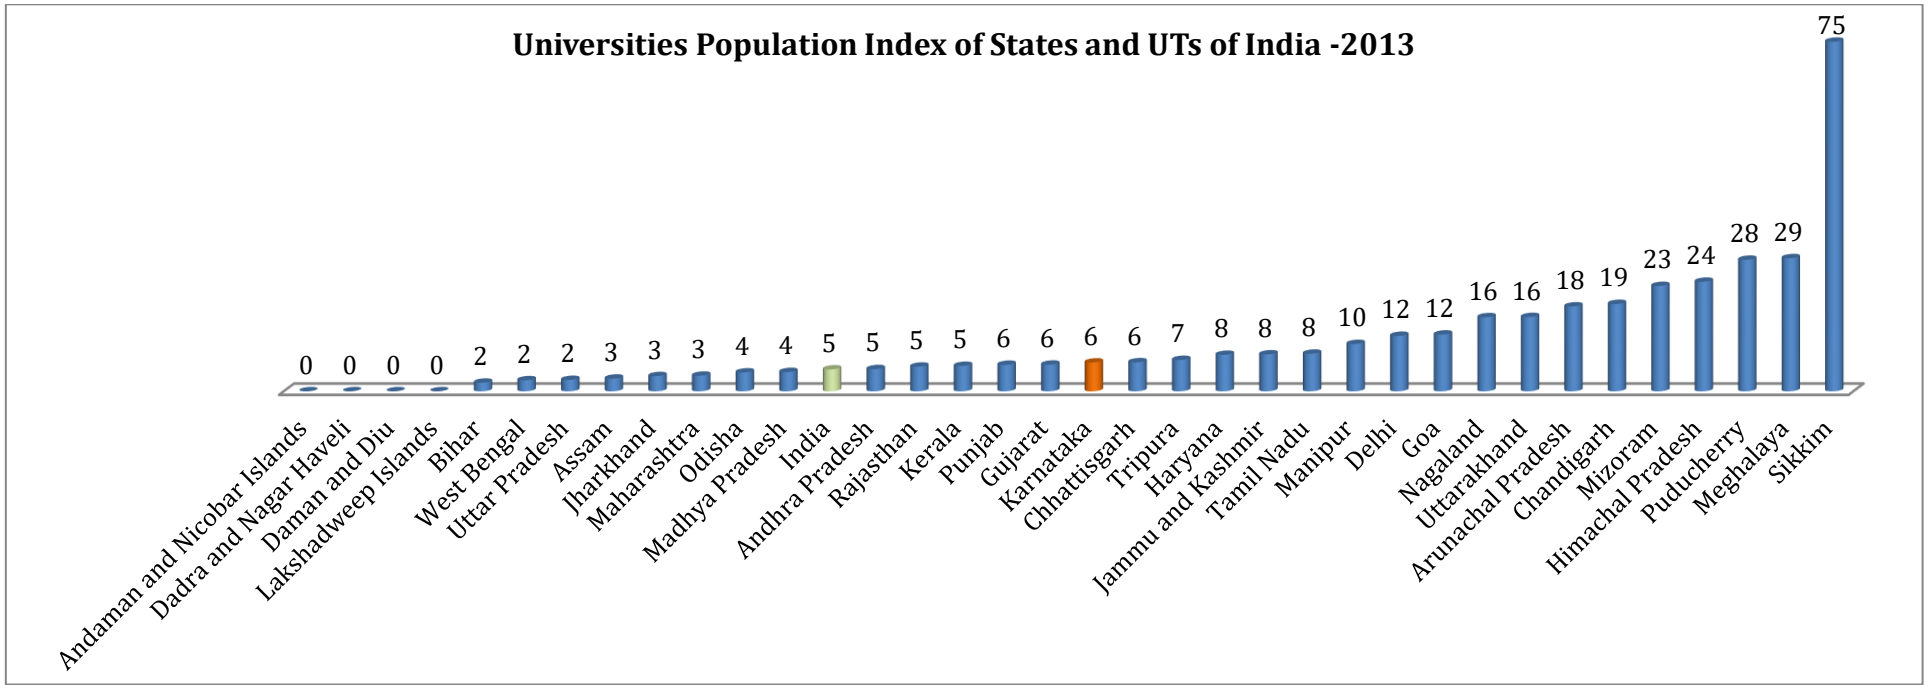
Weakness

There is no interdisciplinary learning among these universities. A student of one university can not enter into another university without the basic degree in that discipline. This has hindered development of human resource with multidisciplinary knowledge and generation of interdisciplinary knowledge.

Opportunity

Many of these universities being coexisting in the same district there is vast scope for bringing them together to work in collaboration to develop interdisciplinary knowledge and workforce.

Universities Population Index of States and UTs of India -2013

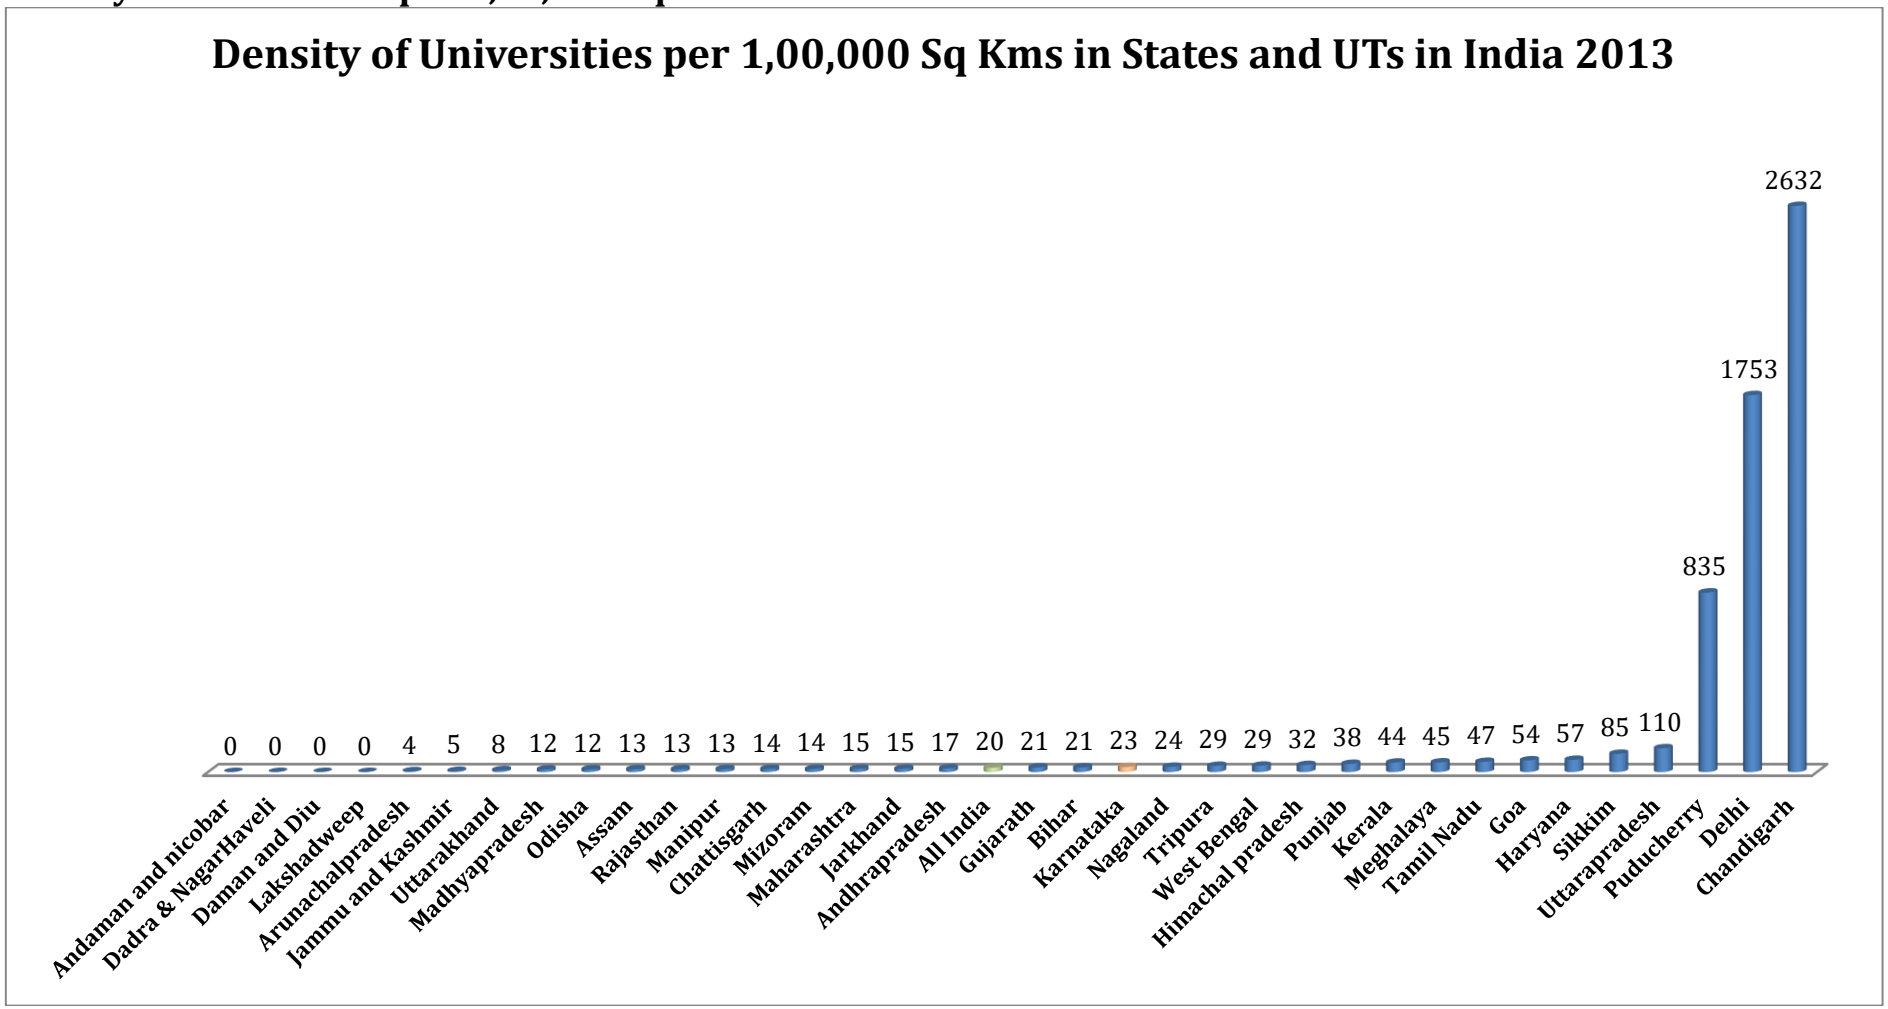


Karnataka has Six Universities per ten lakh population in the age group of 18-23 years (UPI) compared to 5 in India and has better UPI than neighbouring Maharashtra(3).

Weakness

17 states have a better UPI than Karnataka and the neighbouring states like Tamil Nadu and Pondicherry have a UPI of 8 and 28 respectively.

Density of Universities per 1,00,000 Sq. Kms



Strength

Density of university in this context refers to number of Universities per 1,,00,000 Sq Kms geographic area. Karnataka has a University density of 23 and it is better than that of India which stands at 20 and also better than the neighbouring states like Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh which stand at 15 and 17 respectively.

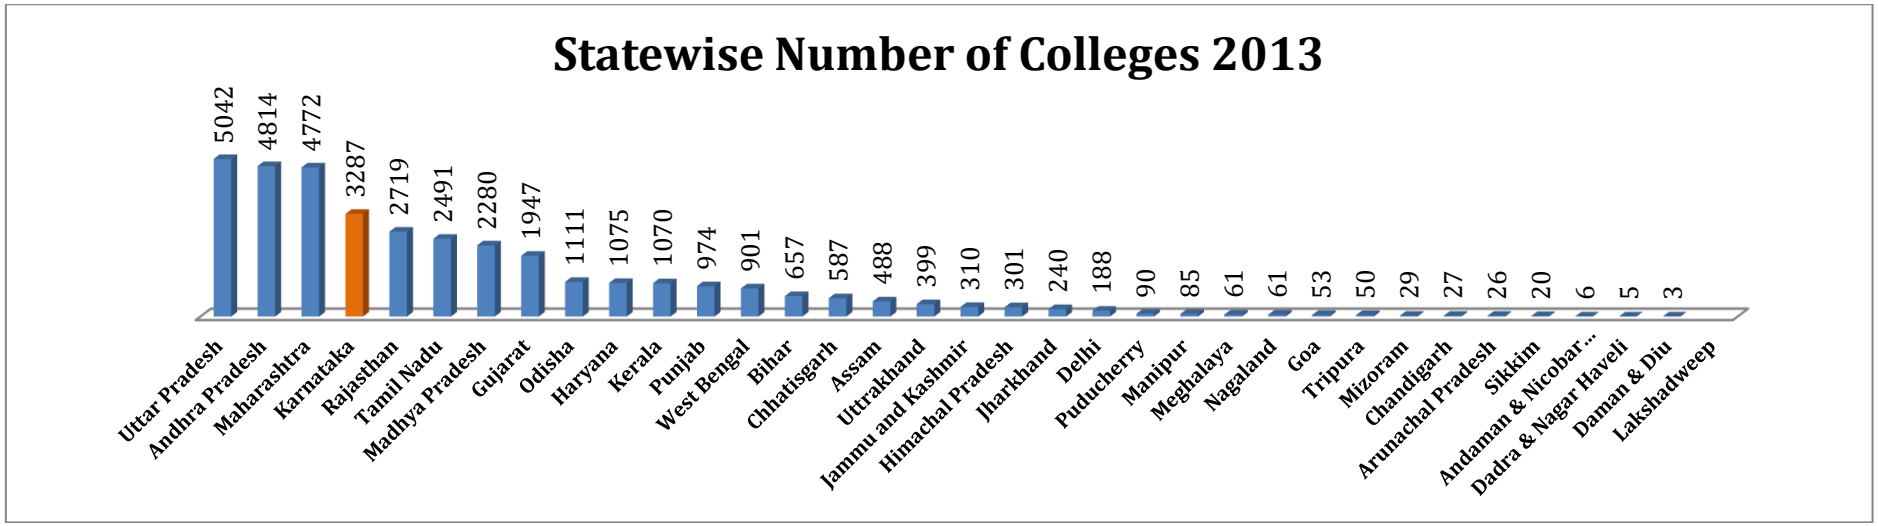
Weakness

Many of larger States like Uttar Pradesh(110), Tamil Nadu(47), west Bengal(29) and Haryana (57) have much higher University density than Karnataka.

As Universities are concentrated in just four five districts in Karnataka, the geographic density of Universities is far lesser than many other states.

Colleges

State-wise number of colleges



Strength

Karnataka ranks fourth among all States of India in having total number of colleges at 3287 which constitutes 9% of the total colleges in India.

College Population Index

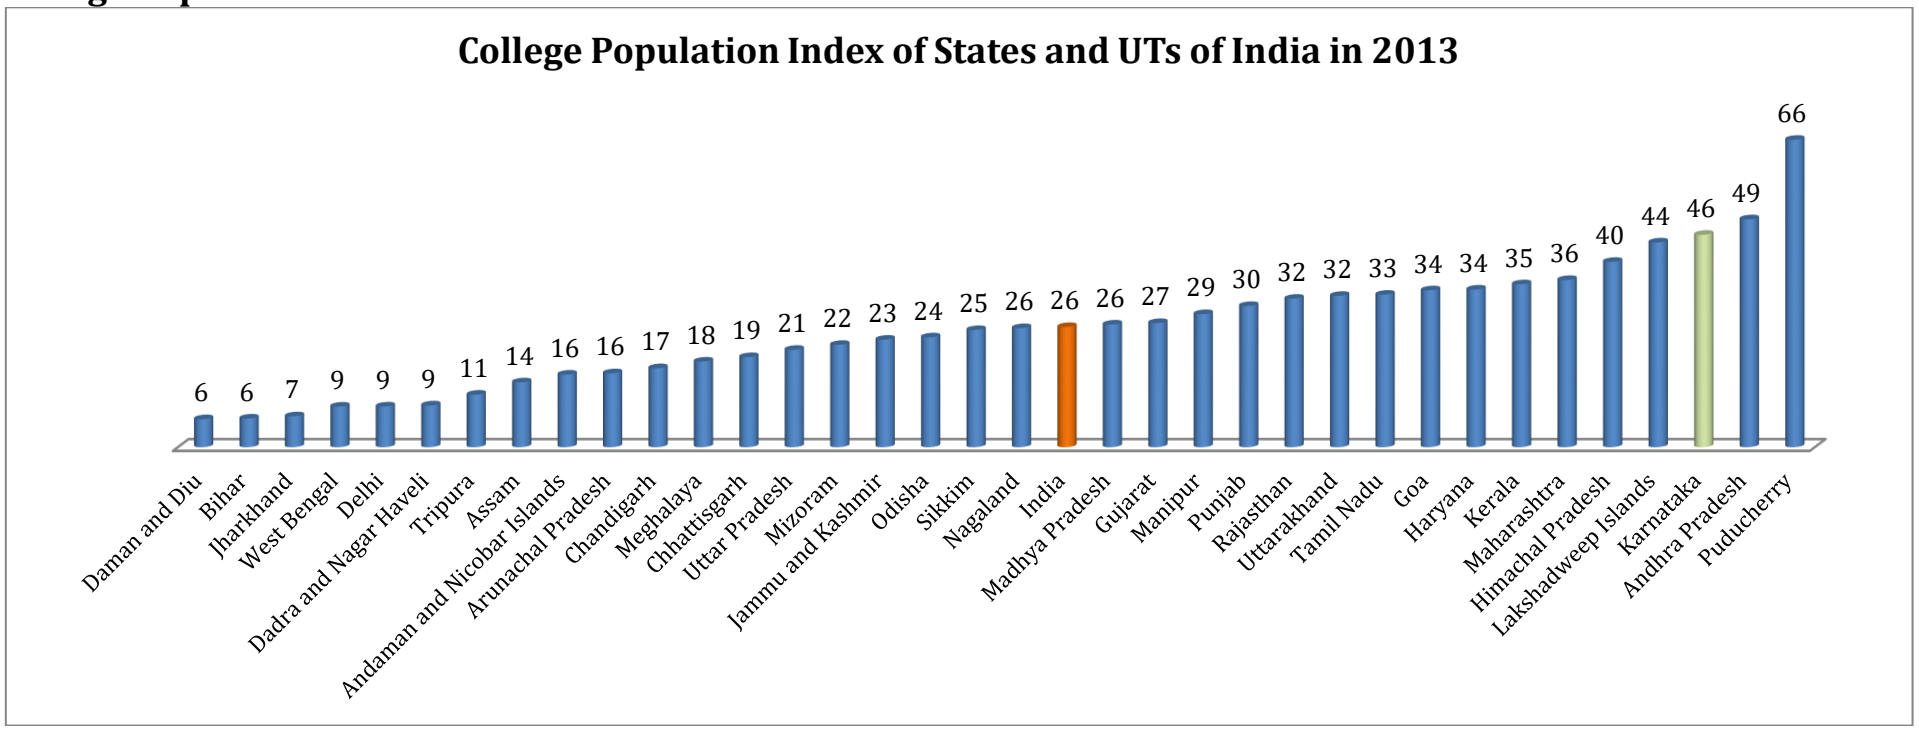
Strength

Karnataka stands third among all States when College population index is considered. It has a CPI of 46 far above the CPI of India at 26. Only Andhra Pradesh as large state has higher CPI just three higher than Karnataka. Pondicherry a small State has the highest CPI of 66.

Weakness

Many colleges are started recently in the last sicx to eight years and their median enrolment is quite low. The higher value of CPI is also due to private colleges which have mushroomed without maintaining quality of higher education. Many of nursing colleges, management colleges, B Ed colleges are on the verge of closure and thus the current CPI may not be sustained unless Government opens up new colleges with new courses relevant to industry and community.

College Population Index



Faculty-wise Composition of Colleges in Karnataka

Strength

General colleges constitute almost three fourth of colleges in Karnataka at 73%. Karnataka is also well-known for its Health Science colleges including Medical colleges constituting 18 od the total number of colleges and which is three times higher than more than the engineering colleges which comprise only 6%. Law colleges constitute 2% and agriculture and veterinary colleges constitute one percent.

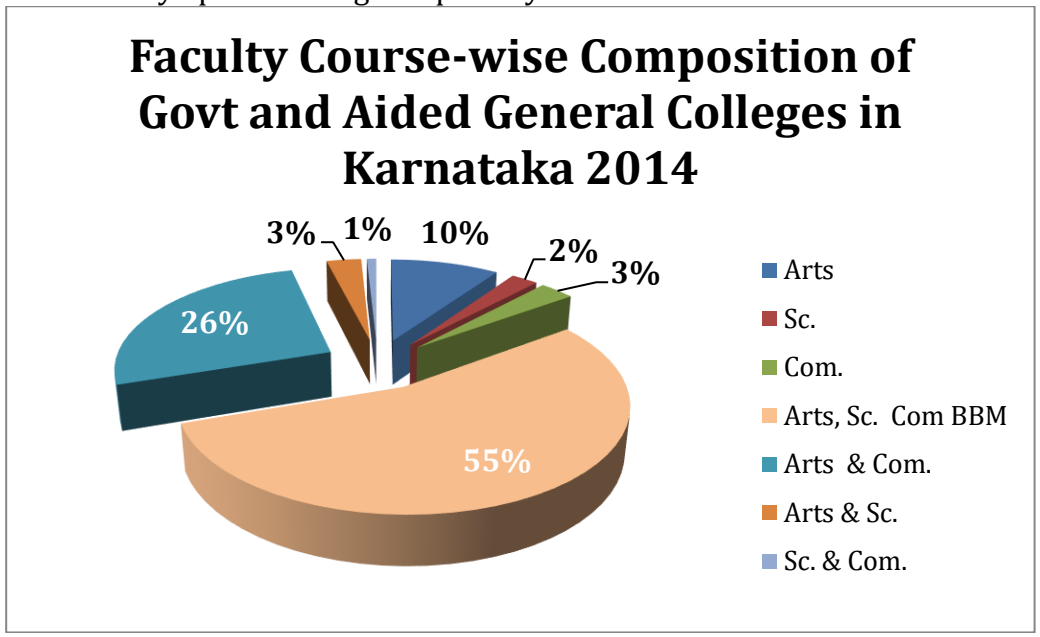
Strength

All the colleges are not multi-faculty in nature. While in 95% of the colleges arts courses are available, 85% of colleges offer commerce and only 61% of the colleges do provide science courses. Hence larger share of colleges are multidisciplinary in nature.

Weakness

Science is available in only 61% of colleges than arts and commerce. Heavy investment on laboratories and equipments and library books and operational cost has rendered science availability on lesser number of colleges. Science is available mostly in urban colleges, while it is not available in newly opened colleges especially in rural areas.



Strength

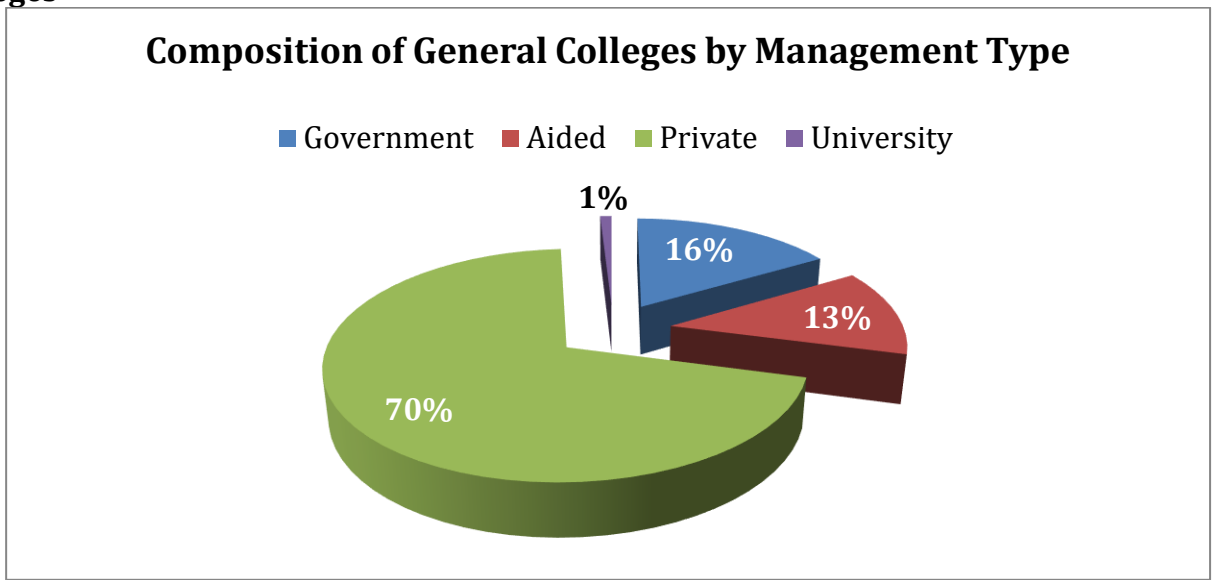
55% of Government and Aided General colleges have Arts, Science and commerce courses and are multi-faculty colleges giving better scope for easy introduction of choice based credit system in these colleges.

Weakness

15% of colleges are single faculty colleges like exclusively arts, science or commerce, while 30% are bi-faculty colleges. Totally 45% of colleges need to be converted into multi-faculty colleges by introducing one or two faculties in order to convert them into multi-faculty if Government has to introduce choice-based credit system in them.

Composition of Institutions by Management Type

General Degree Colleges



Strength

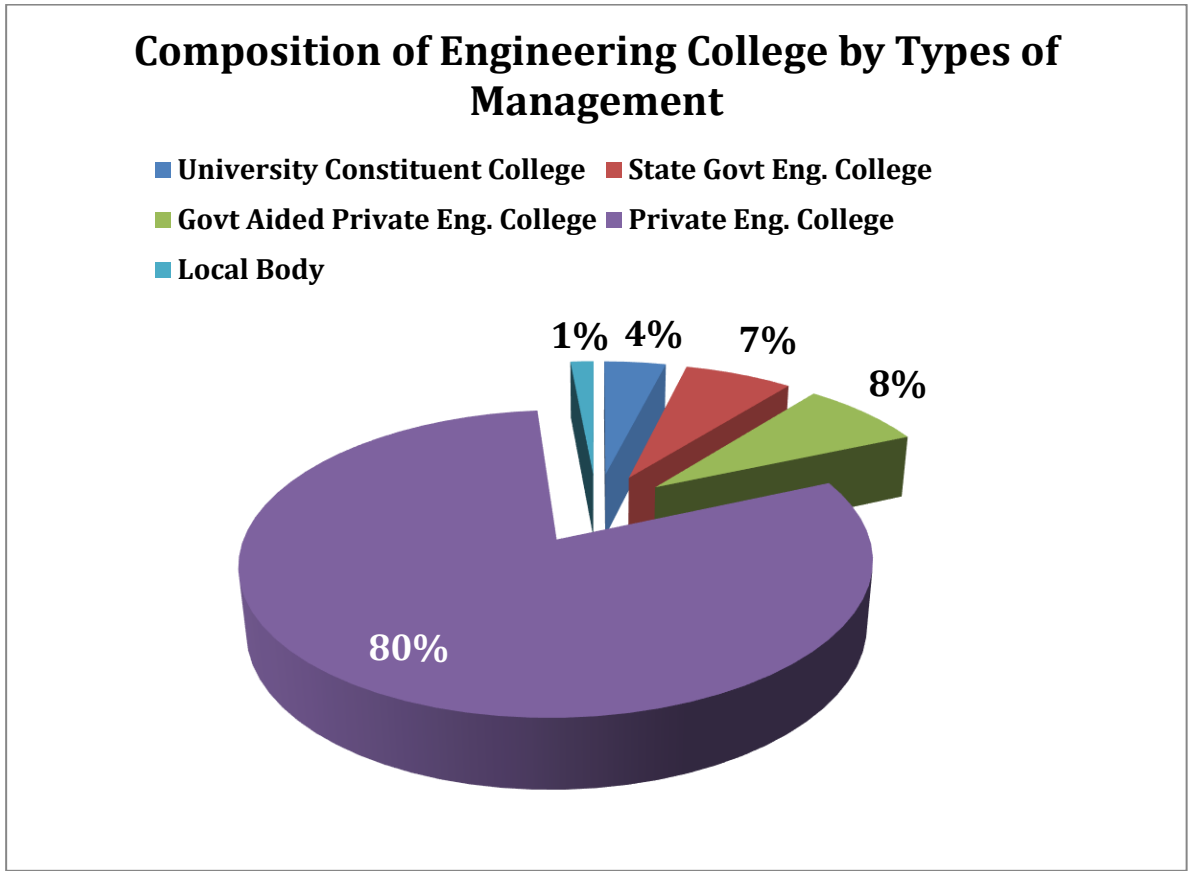
70% of the general colleges are private unaided colleges and receive no grants from government and thus Karnataka has been able to mobilise private investment in general education to a larger extent and also enhance GER through their participation while reducing the burden on the State exchequer. This is a good move by government as there is greater demand by urban middle class who cannot afford professional education and the private institutions have been able to fulfil their degree educational need.

Weakness

All private colleges are not good educational institutions as many of them struggle to get affiliation from the concerned universities due to lack of good infrastructure and faculty. The demand falls whenever the fees are raised and there is always conflict of interest between students and management as a result the quality of education suffers and commercialisation becomes a menace.

Composition of engineering colleges by type of management

Karnataka has flourished by permitting the private sector to establish engineering colleges which need higher investment for infrastructure and equipments. 80% of the engineering colleges are in private sector. Only 4% of engineering college are under the government's control and therefore, the State's financial burden of managing engineering college is far lesser. Thus, this strategy has worked very well in taking Karnataka to be a front runner in the country in technical education and elevating Karnataka to be the Silicon valley of India..



Weakness

Heavy dependence on private sector has resulted in over commercialisation of engineering education always leading to tussle between Government and managements be it seat sharing or the seat allotment or fixation of fees thus depriving better opportunity for pursuing engineering education by economically weaker sections. Also many districts or taluks do not have engineering colleges as the basic focus of private management is to cater to those places where there is greater demand and also scope for expansion and profiteering thus giving rise to geographic disparity in distribution of engineering colleges, which in turn has reduced the opportunities for students in certain taluks and districts.

Threat

While the rich who pursue their education in technical education especially in select areas would leave the country looking for opportunities and green pastures elsewhere and may not always serve the state. It is the poor who student who would get the benefit of higher education serve the State and his people. Hence, if the government does not open Engineering Colleges in all these districts where government Engg. College does not exist, then the socially and economically backward students would not venture into higher education due to unaffordable fees with quality which does not ensure them of a job.

Opportunity

RUSA provides 26 Crores for establishing a new engineering college. The State should make use of this great opportunity where 65% of the funds flow from the Centre and only 35% of the funds are required to be spent by State government so as to ensure removal of geographic disparity and socioeconomic inequity.

In Bangalore District, there are 82 engineering colleges the highest number for any district in India perhaps, where more than 90 % are private established colleges. Karnataka ranks fourth largest in the country in respect of number of engineering colleges. Unlike other States in which there was unprecedented growth in number of engineering colleges and collapse after a while due to lack of demand, the growth in number of engineering colleges in Karnataka is consistent and continuous.

Weakness

Just two districts have 50% of Engineering colleges in the State and nine district have 75% of engineering colleges. The highest difference of 65 is noticed between the first and the second ranking districts in number of engineering colleges. Koppal district does not have an engineering college, either private or govt or aided. Only one third i.e., ten districts have govt engineering colleges and seven districts have aided engineering colleges. The fee difference is more than double between govt and aided or private engineering colleges.

Threat

If the input of students in these districts is weaker and inadequate then there would be requirement of a longer time for attaining sustained growth in demand unless there is intervention in both health and primary and secondary educational levels.

Opportunity

RUSA offers the best opportunity for getting fund under component 6 for redress of the regional disparity and for providing socio economic justice to the students of 20 districts which are without government engineering college. Not only economically weaker sections get mainstreamed into technical education but also there would be gradual transformation in these districts.

By adding another 20 govt engineering colleges in deprived districts better quality student out turn with better quality engineers is possible by proper utilisation of grants for establishing the required infrastructure and faculty. With a median enrolment of about 4000 students in college in Karnataka, at least 80000 students would be benefiting from technical education from this venture the total package available under component 6 would be 540 crores.

Stand Alone Institutions

These offer diploma courses and are of three types essentially the polytechnics, Teacher Training institutes and Nursing Schools. Besides there are other ministries institutions and Post Graduate diploma in management institutions regulated by AICTE. Karnataka stands in second place as far as institution population index of all types of standalone institutions are concerned.

Polytechnics

State-wise number, composition and distribution of polytechnics

Karnataka happens to be fourth largest state with 292 polytechnics in the State of which 81 (27%) are government and 44 (15%) are aided polytechnics and the remaining 174 (58) are private polytechnics. Compared to Engg. Colleges the role of private sector is lesser in polytechnic education.

Weakness

More than 50 of the total polytechnics in the State are concentrated in just seven districts and the difference in number between Bangalore and Gulbarga is whopping 51. Although there are no districts without a polytechnic, their number is far low in many of districts.

Threat

The global trend is towards mechanisation and automation, and manufacturing both in large scale and MSMEs and all of these require a large scale technical human resource which only polytechnics can fulfil. Unless more and more polytechnics with newer courses of relevance are introduced there would be shortage of technical manpower and there will be exodus from other arts from India to fill the void.

Opportunity

Polytechnics provide both vocational education and skill required by the trade industry. Hence they are required to be established in large number. However, while establishing the polytechnics, care should be taken to ensure that they are established near the industrial estates and hubs so that not only students would be able to attend on job training in the nearby industries but also get the necessary skills imbibed before they come out o the polytechnics. As there is scope for establishing new polytechnics under RUSA, the State should avail maximum advantage of the scheme and establish more polytechnics in all districts especially closer to the industrial estates and centres.

Other Stand Alone Institutions

Teacher training institutes and Nursing councils also are part of higher Education system in Karnataka as in the rest of India. Karnataka has the second highest number of DEd colleges and also the Nursing Schools in the state and therefore a large number of students get into these institutions and get their diploma certificates. In fact many science students get attracted by nursing schools due to their better employability and job opportunity. In case of D Ed colleges the general students who cannot afford longer studies and cost and who want to settle early in life especially girls go for these courses. Government beng the largest employer of teachers in primary and higher primary schools, on account of right o education and universal education, compulsory primary education schemes of Govt of India there were large scale recruitments which prompted many private managements to establish D Ed colleges. But job opportunities dwindled as there were few recruitments, the D Ed colleges are getting closed as can be seen from the number of D Ed colleges in 2010-11, 2011-12 and 2012-13.

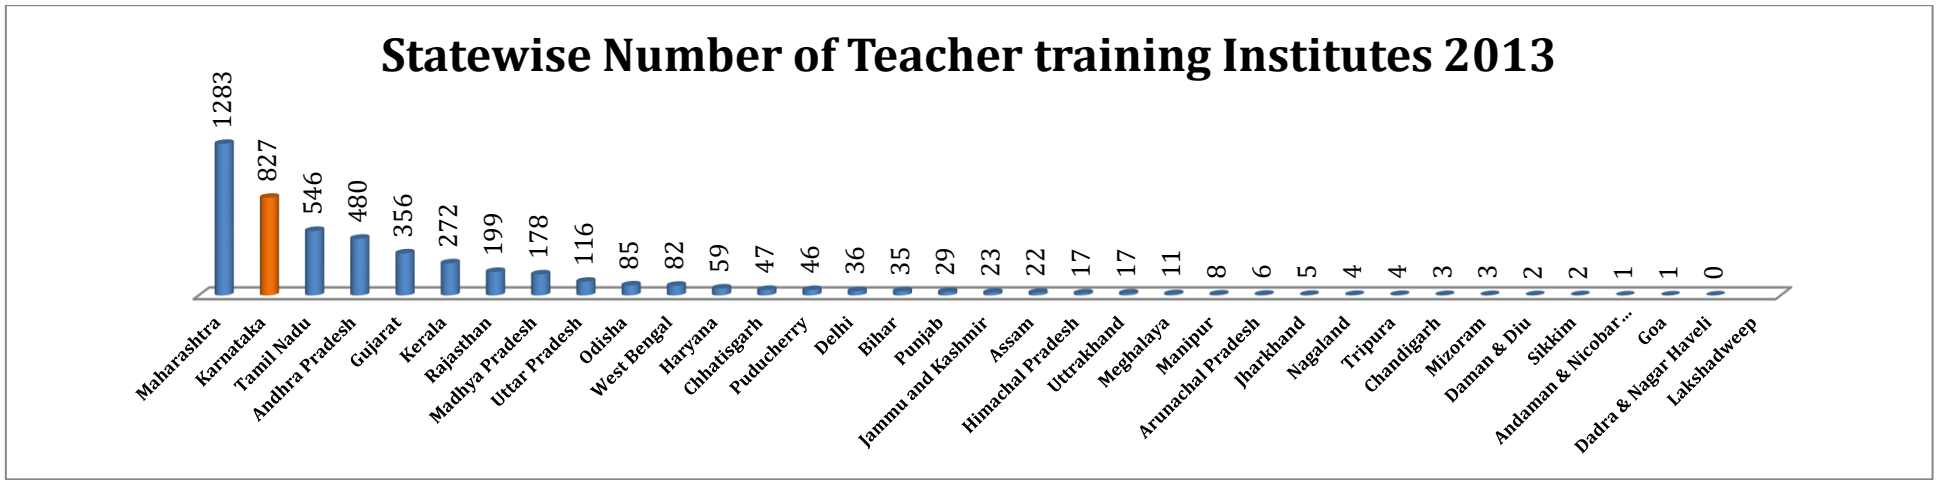
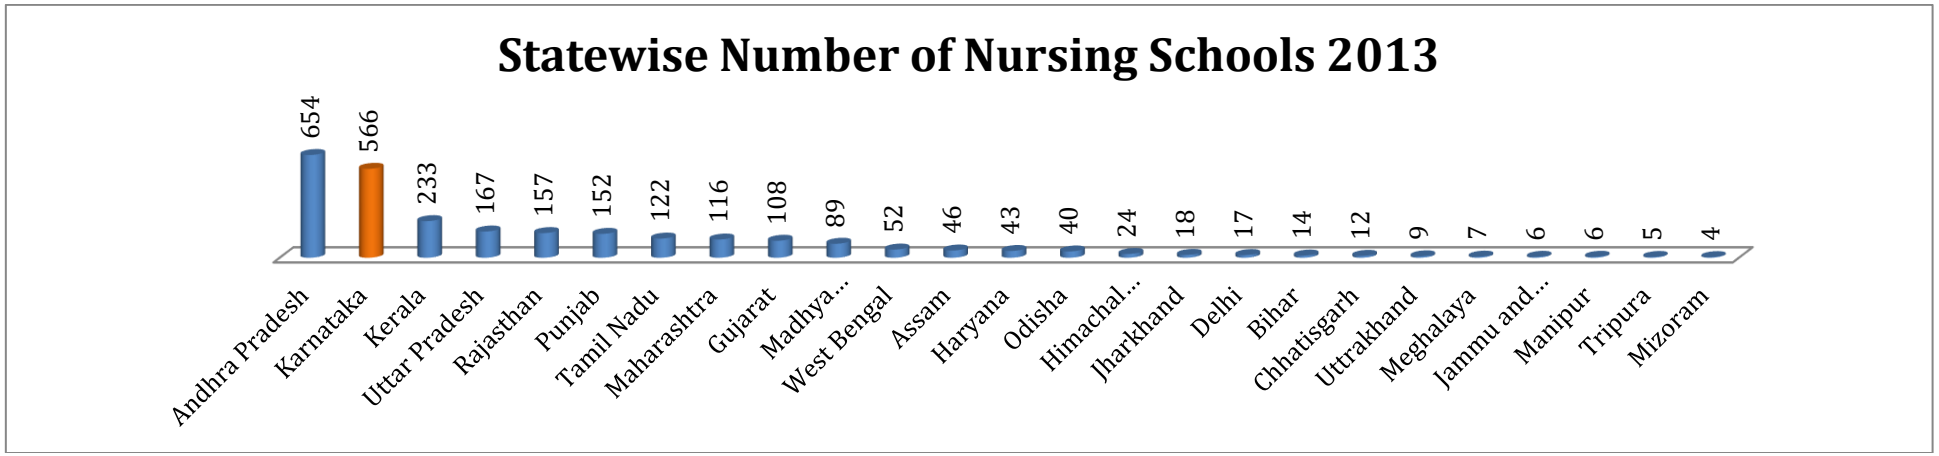
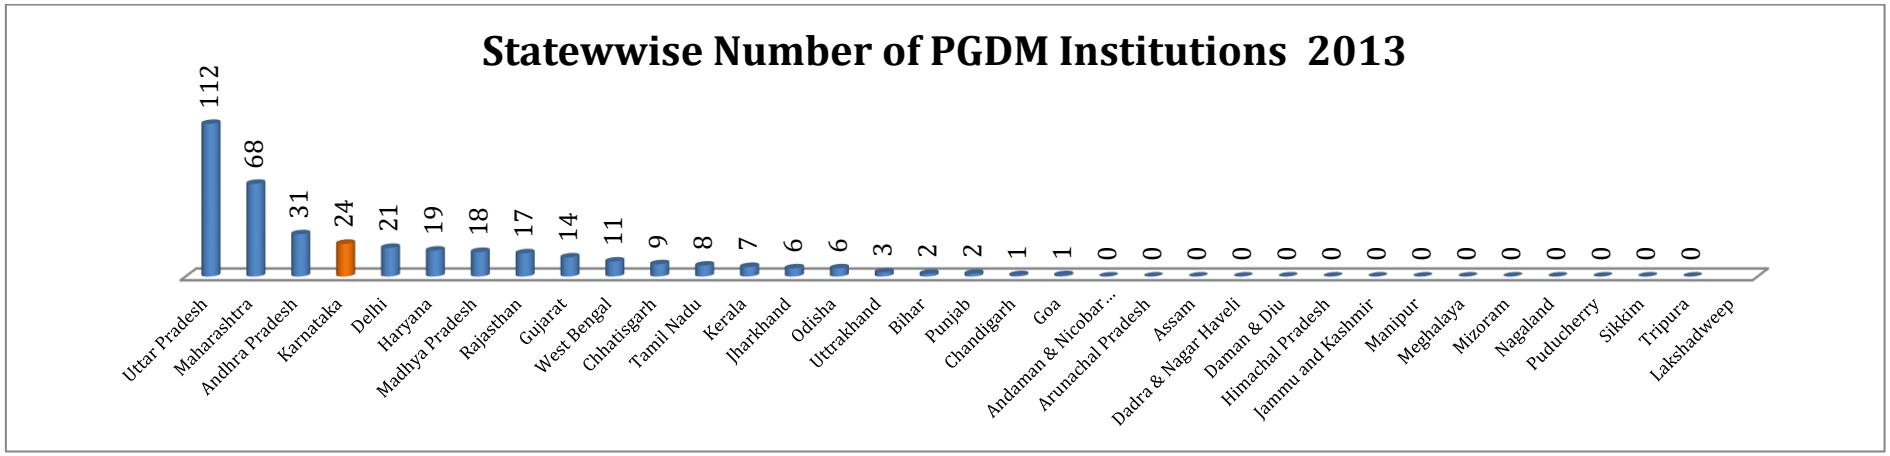
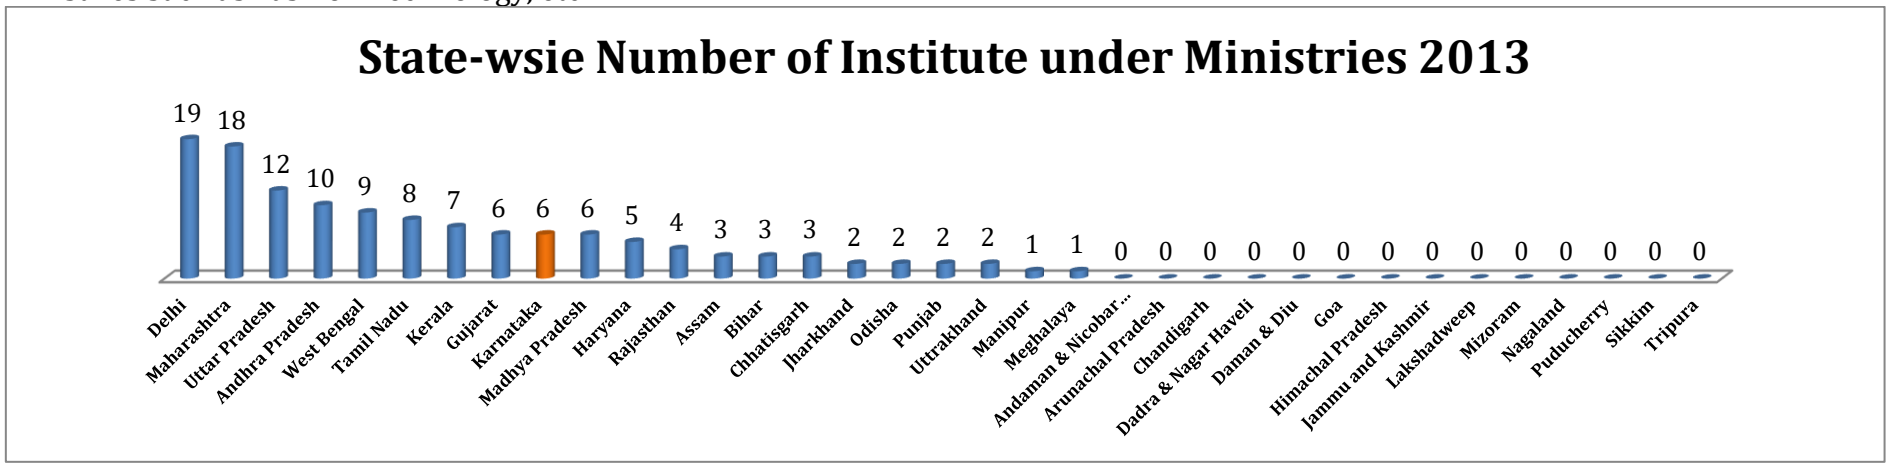
However the enrolment in these institutions will have great impact on enrolment in generak education especially science and arts courses.



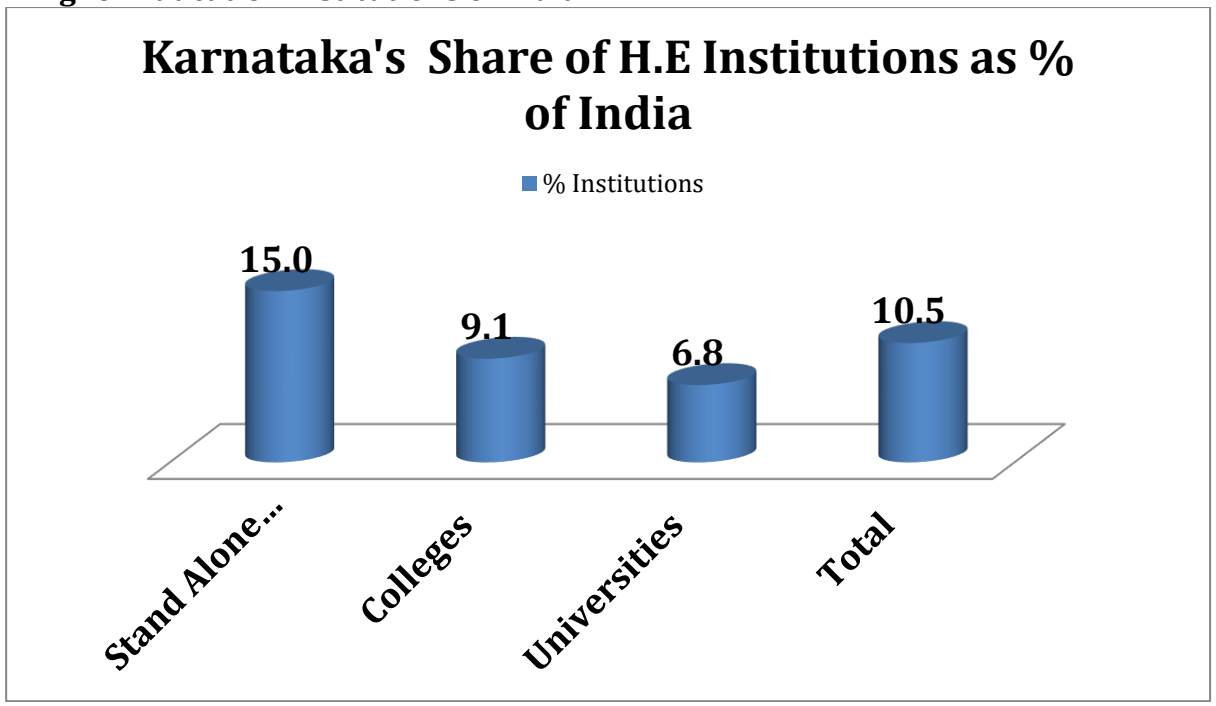




Karnataka is the fourth largest State in having 24 PGDM institutions and 9th largest States in case of number of institutes under Ministries such as Fashion Technology, etc.



Share of Karnataka in Higher Education institutions of India



Karnataka is one of the largest educational State in India and has very significant share of higher educational institutions, i.e., 15% of Stand Alone Institutions, 9.1 % of colleges and 6.8 % of Universities and in all 10.5% of total higher educational institutions in India. Among Stand Alone Institutions, Karnataka has 41.4 % of Nursing schools of India, 27.4% of Teacher training institutes and 15.9% of polytechnics. This share gains importance when the demographic share of the State is only 5.05% and geographic share is only

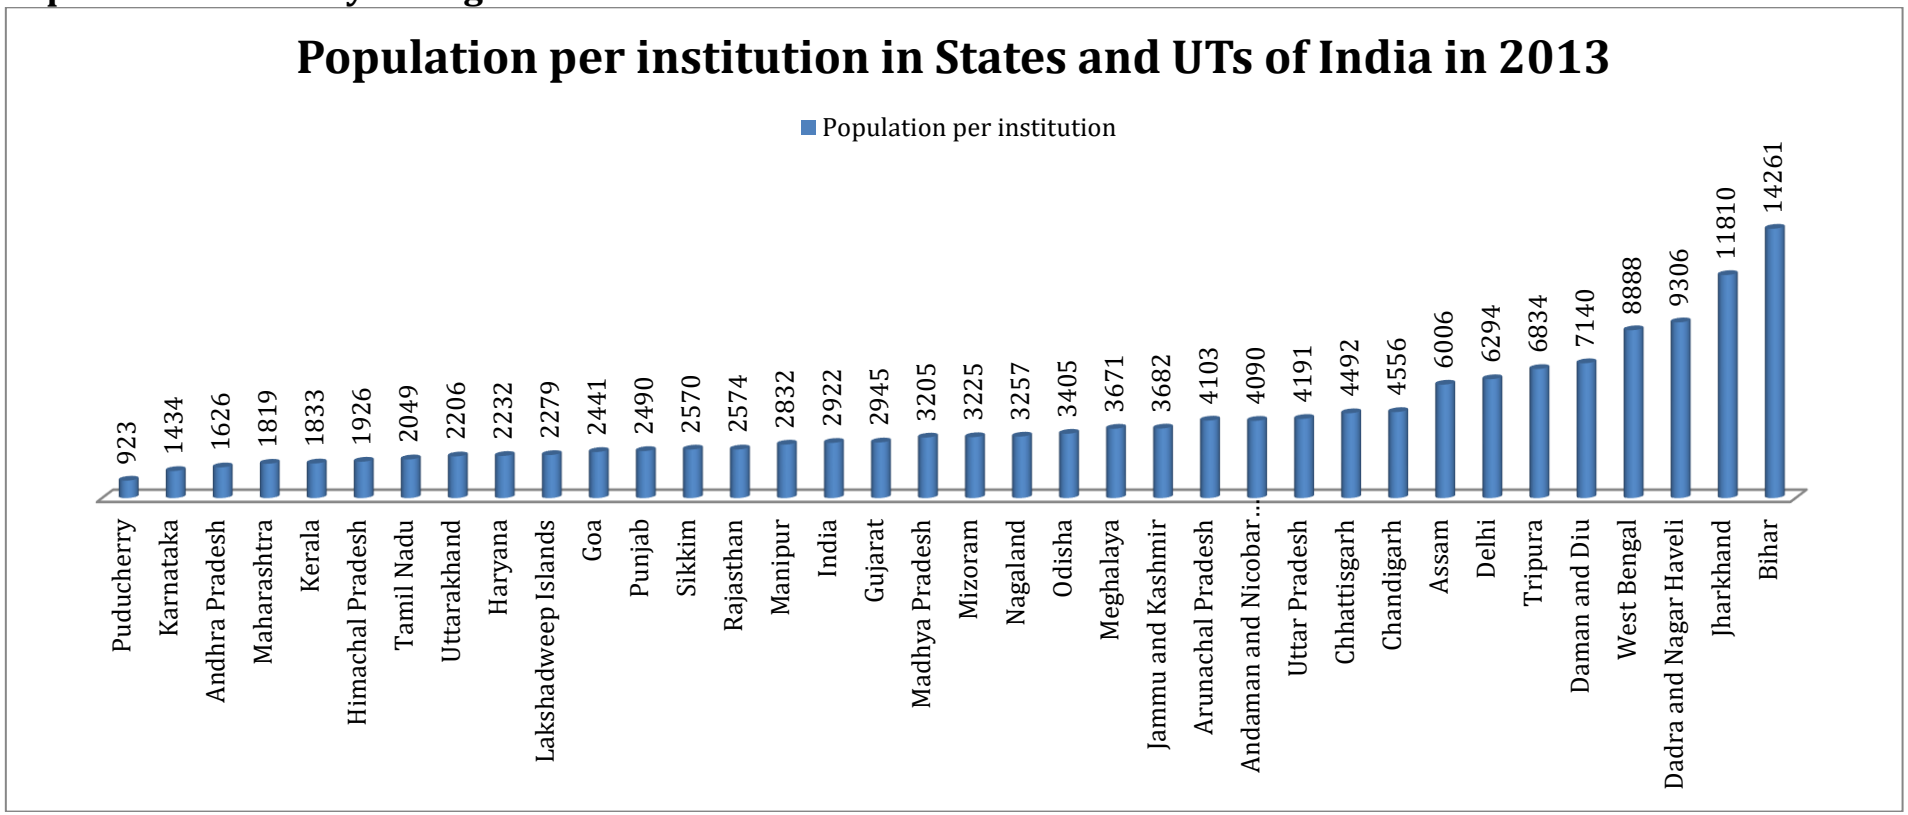
Strength

Karnataka is in the second place among all States as far as Higher education population index is concerned which stands tall at 70 compared next only to 108 of puducherry a small State. India has a comparatively low index at 34. Karnataka certainly needs to be encouraged for putting up a big effort and this effort now needs to be diverted to get global status.

Population served by an Higher Education Institutions in diffeerent States.



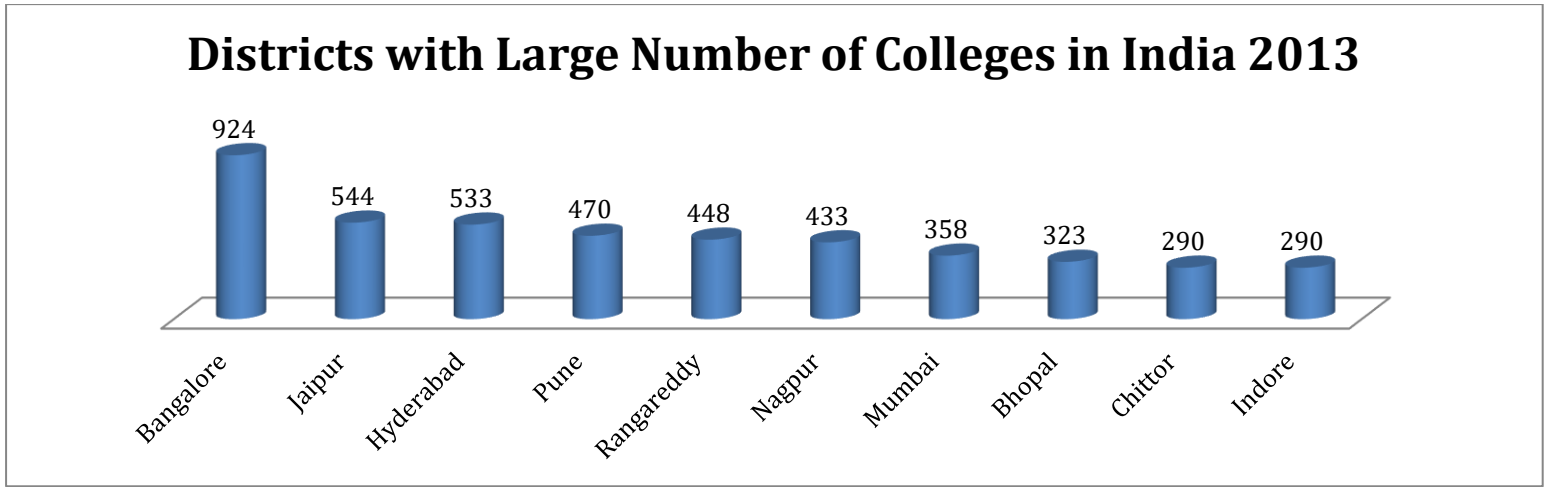
Strength

It would be interesting to know what population in the 18-23 age grioup is being served by a University on an average, so that it gives an indication whether there is scope for more colleges to be built.State like Pondicherry has the lowest number of 18-23 age group population served next only is Karntaka with just over 1400 per higher educational institutions. This number is quite high for any large sized State.

Weakness

What goes unnoticed is that many a times our state educational institutions are filled up up with students from other States as well. Large number of students would be in distance education mode where they would be more than 18-23 age group but included in the 18-23 age group. 56% of enrolment are in distance mode and a word of caution is necessary before coming to a conclusion. Hence one should be cautious before taking any decsion and study carefully its implications.

Bangalore : Knowledge capital of India

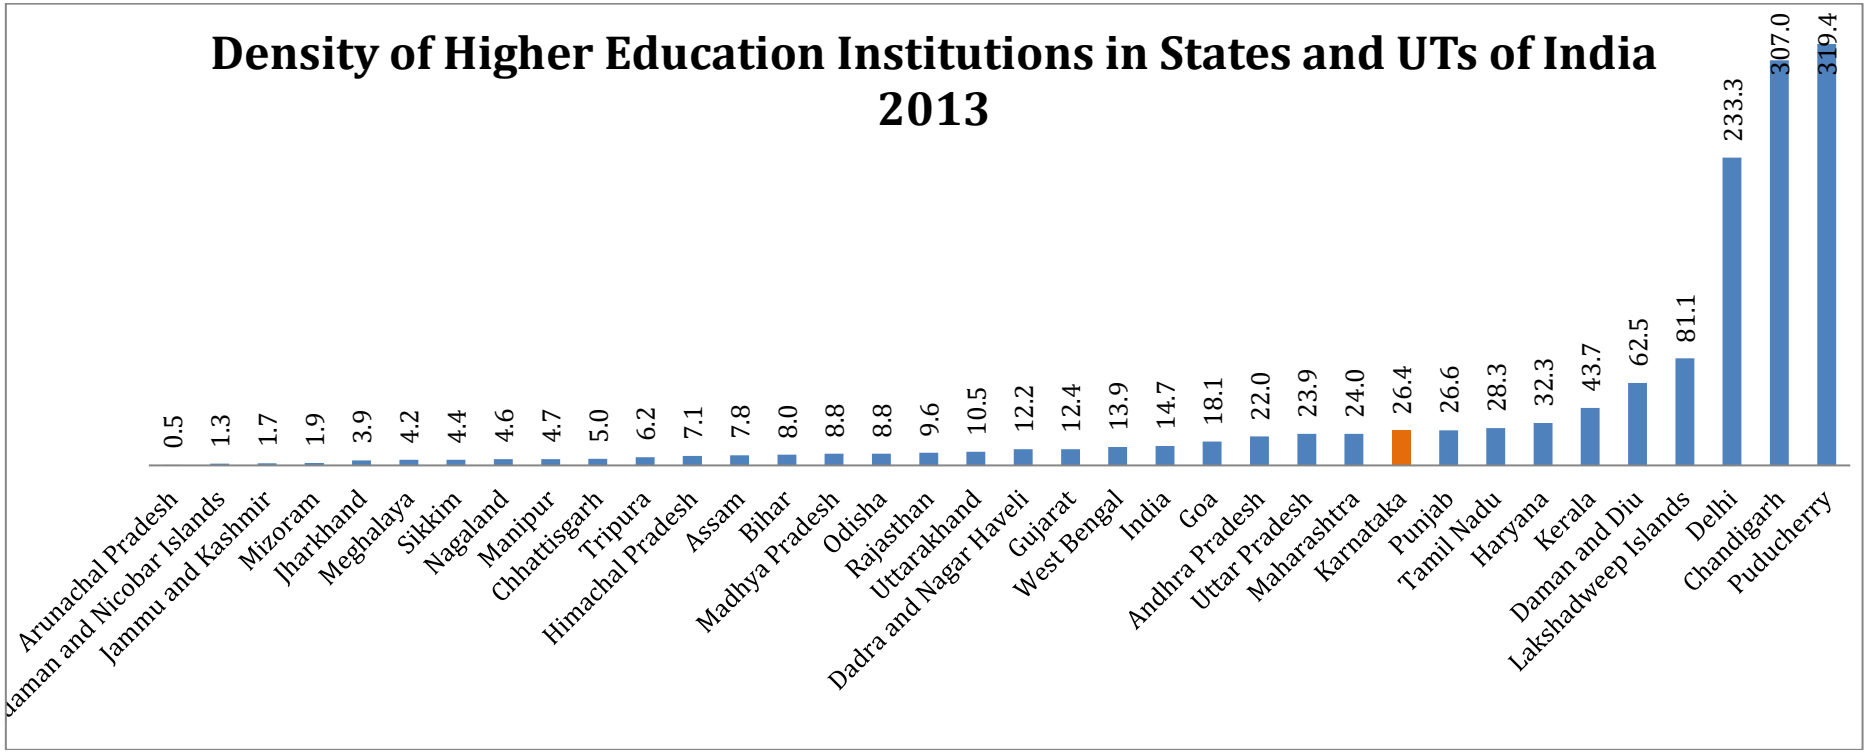


Bangalore has attracted large number of students from all over the country in all educational sectors like medical, technical, law, teacher education and general education. As a result has established a very large number of educational institutions. With globalisation, privatisation and liberalisation policy of both central and State Government educational institutions have really flourished. The presence of large number of Central Government Public Sectors and education and Research institutions Bangalore not only had a strong foundation but also drew great inspiration and got empowered due to cooperation from these organisations. Bangalore District has the biggest number of higher educational institutions among all the districts in the country at 924 while the next district is Jaipur at 544 and Hyderabad with 533. Truly Bangalore is the Knowledge capital o the country with 16 universities, 881 colleges including 282 health science colleges, 90 engineering colleges, 28 law colleges, 17 PG Centres, 9 constituent colleges, 1 Agriculture college, 2 Veterinary colleges and a Horticulture college, besides a number of polytechnics, nursing schools, paramedical colleges and teachers training institutes.

Apart from these there are many research organisations of Multinational companies, Central Government organisations like Indian Institute of Astrophysics, National Centre for Biological Sciences, Raman Research Institute, public sector R&D labs of BEL, BEMEL, ITI, HMT, HAL, NAL, CSIR Laboratories, DRDO laboratories, statistical institute of India, State Government funded R&D organisations like Institute for Socio Economic Change, Institute of Bioinformatics and Applied Biotechnology, Karnataka State Sericulture Research and Development institute, Institute for Human Genetics, other Ministries R & D Organisations like Seribiotech laboratory of Central Silk Board, private R&D organisations like Astra Zeneca, Biocon, several Biotech companies, thousands of IT companies and their R&D units, thus elevating the Bangalore's human capital , Knowledge Capital to the best in the country.

Therefore Bangalore deserves to be elevated to global educational hub and destination.

Density of Higher Educational Institutions in Karnataka



Number of higher education institutions per 1000 Sq Kms area is referred to as institutional density. It is indicator to know geographic variations in distribution of higher educational institutions across the country, State and Districts. Generally the Union Territories or erstwhile UTs had very good development in education sector and being urban conglomerations naturally have higher density of higher educational institutions. However when States include larger rural areas the density falls and more so when there is hilly unpopulated areas and barren tracts with low settlements, the density tends to be lower.

Strength

Karnataka State has a good density of H.E. Institutions at 26 which is lower than neighbouring States like Kerala, Tamil Nadu, besides many Union Territories and other States like Punjab and Haryana. This rank is quite good for Karnataka, despite it harbouring a vast tract of hilly Western Ghats and barren dry deciduous regions spanning across the State. Karnataka slides to 12th rank when college density is considered but it has a density of 17 colleges, which is much higher than that of India at 11 colleges. Karnataka has a stronger base in standalone institutions as evidenced by standalone institutions density at 9 which is three times higher than that of India and occupies 6th place among States and UTs in the country.

Weakness

Some districts have more urban population and greater development in education occurs by establishment of more and more institutions while the rural districts and the districts neighbouring capital district and tier 1 cities suffer from low density of institutions as students would tend to seek education from better institutions situated in larger cities.

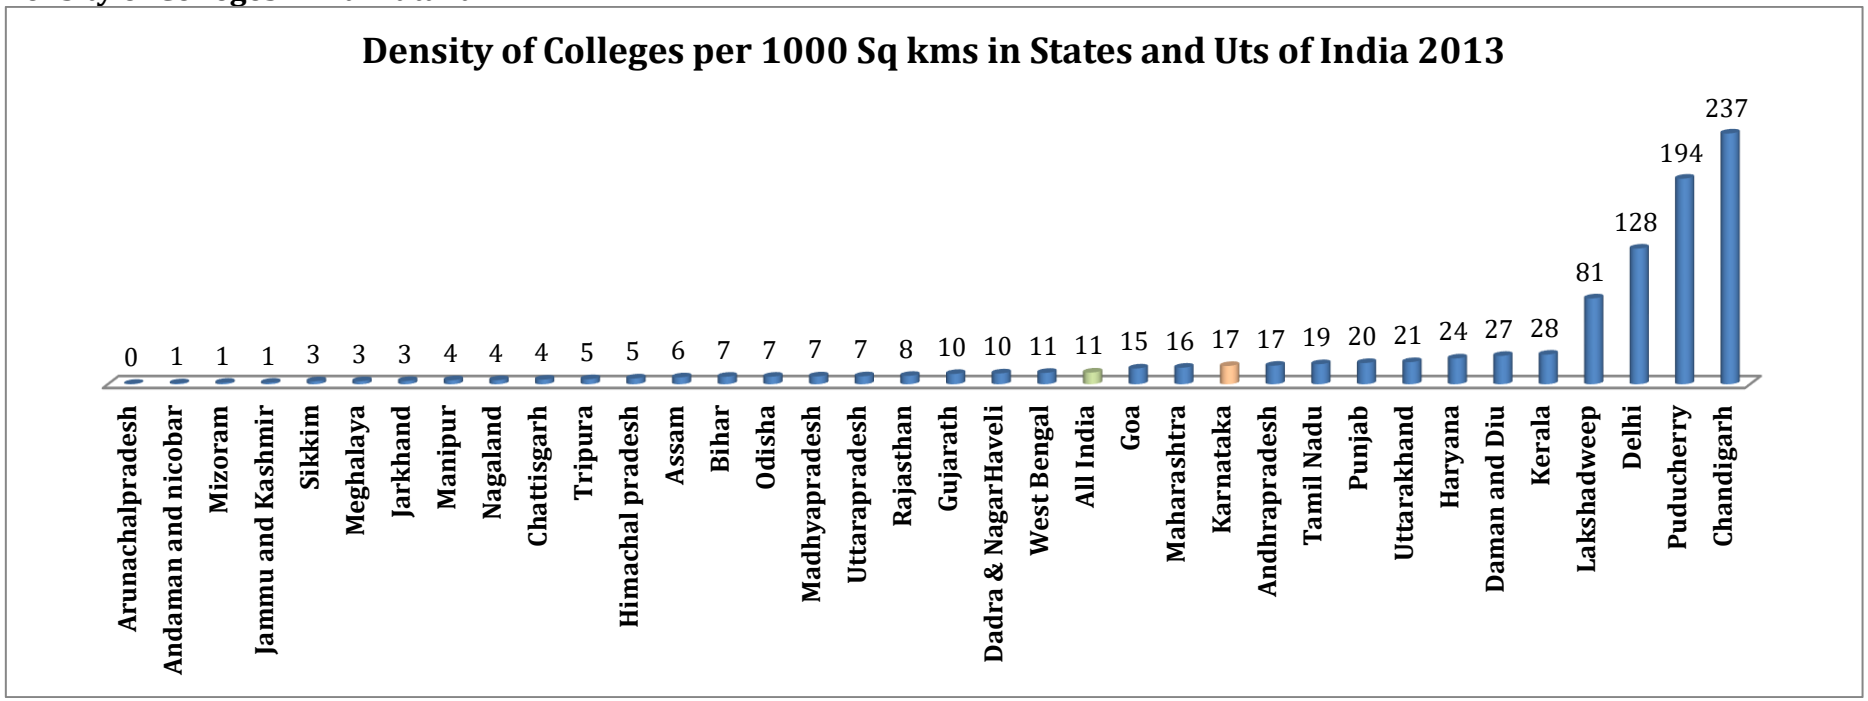
Threat

This anomaly would lead to migration. As many students' time and money is being spent on transportation and daily commuting, it will have adverse impact on their studies, health and results. A knowledge State cannot be distorted in distribution of knowledgeable human resource rather it should be equally distributed across all the regions.

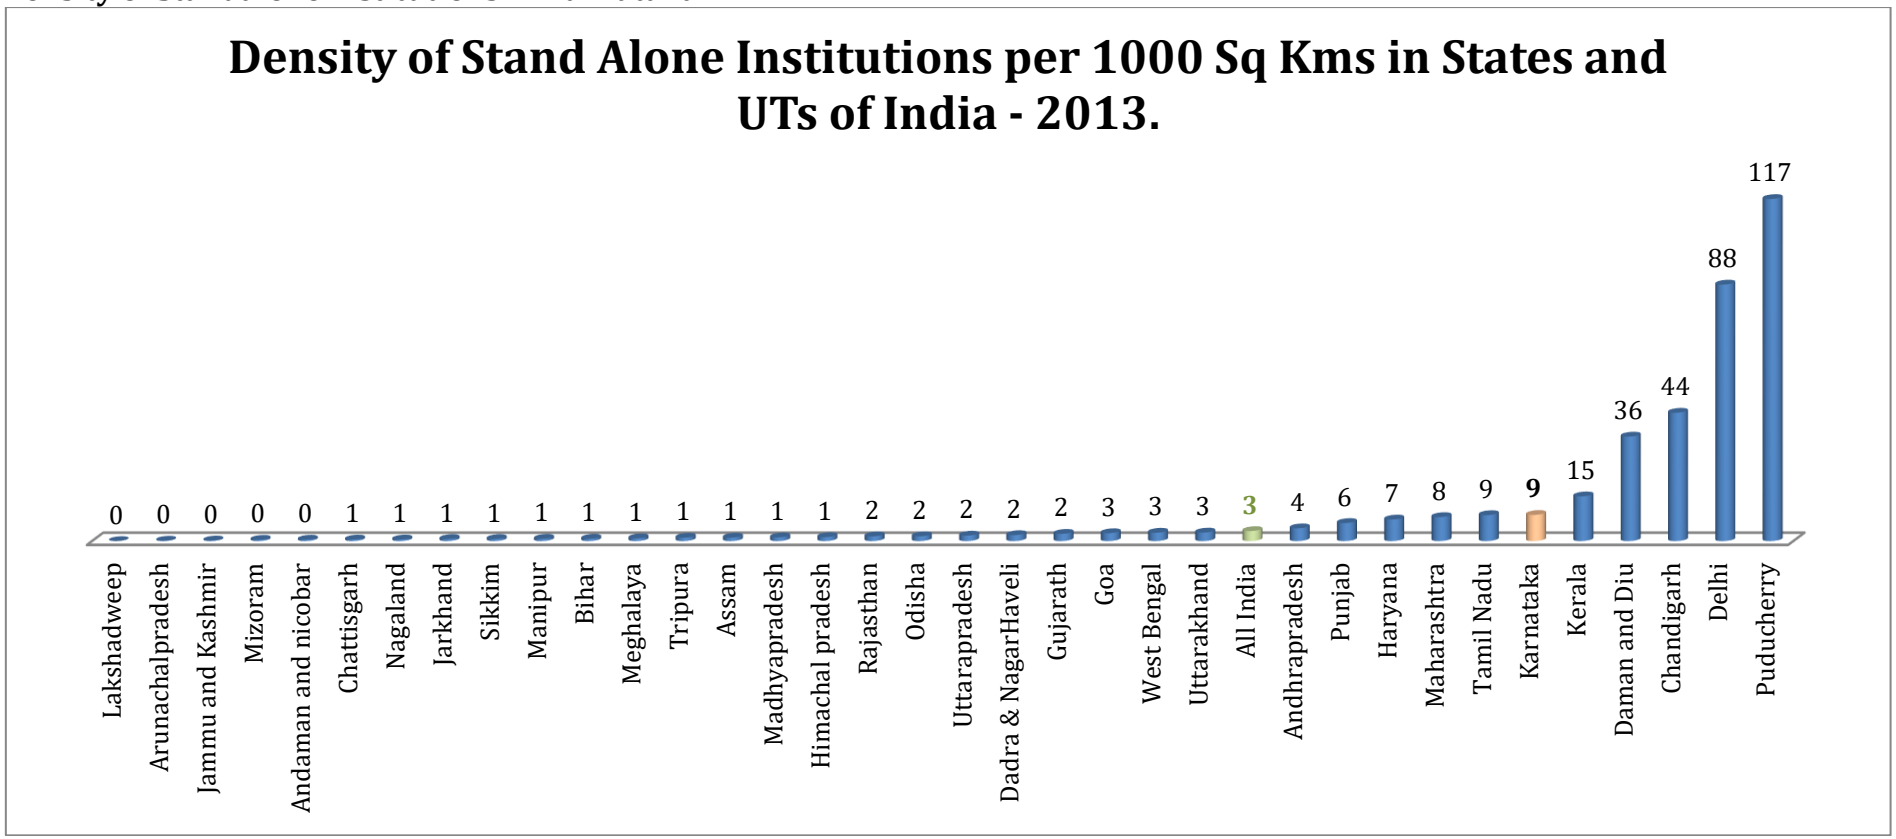
Opportunity

State Government can fund establishment of more and more rural institutions of higher education and also draw funds under RUSA scheme to help establish adequate number of institutions at the rate of one institution per certain quantity of Sq Kms.

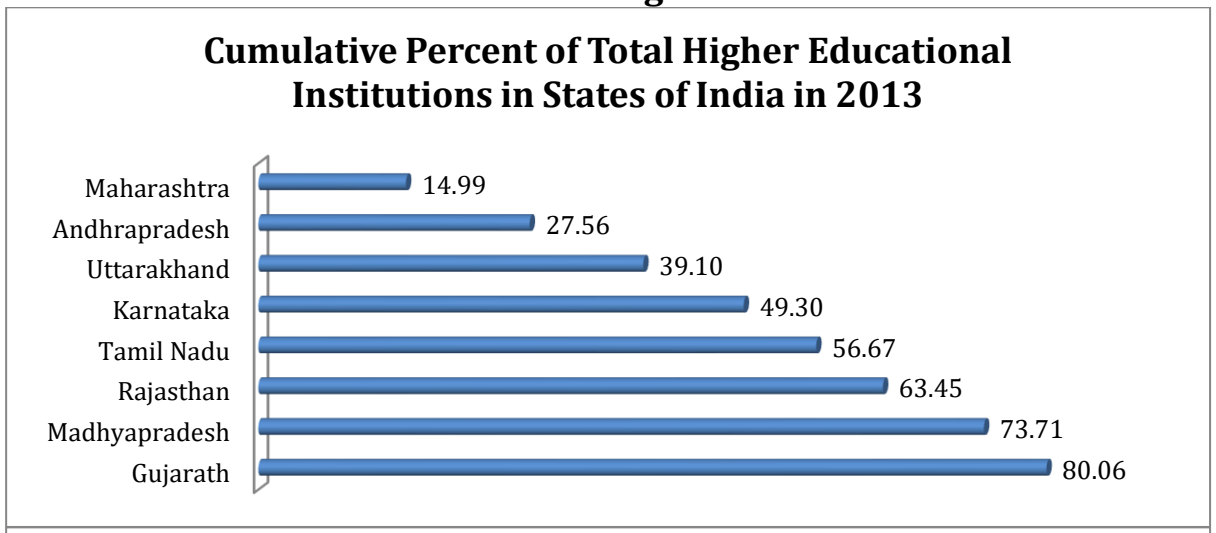
Density of Colleges in Karnataka

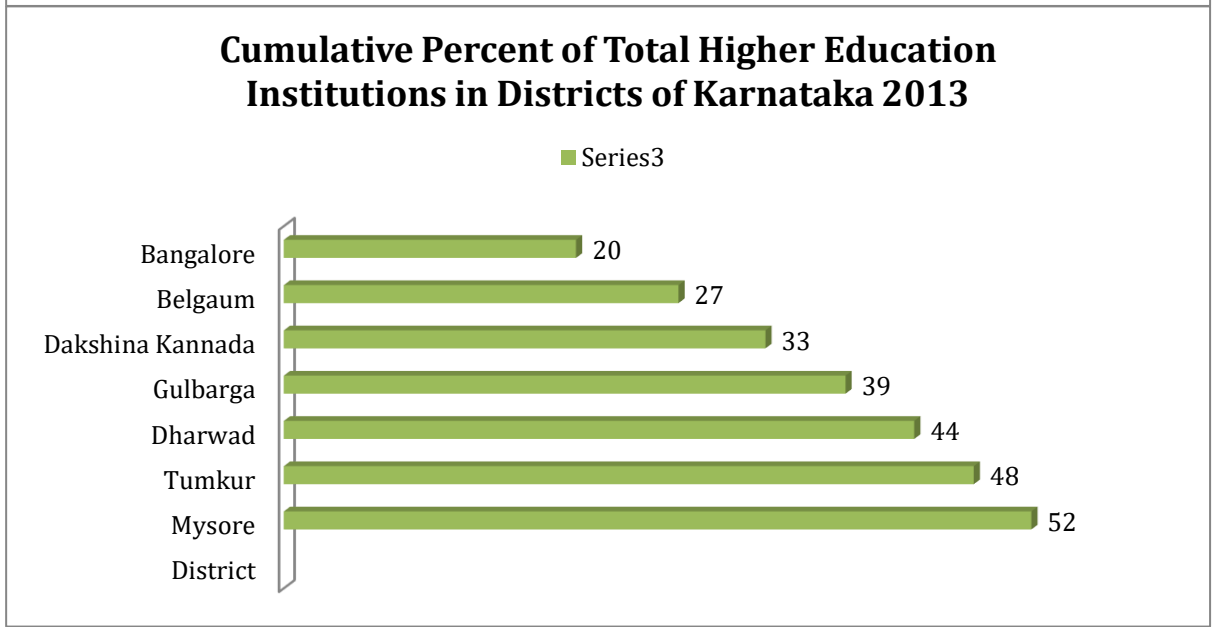


Density of Standalone institutions in Karnataka



Concentrated Distribution of Higher Education Institutions





Strength

8 States in India have 80% of higher educational institutions concentrated in the, while 7districts in Karnataka have more than 50% of the higher education institutions in the state, thus making it convenient to establish meta-university, research hubs, R&D networks, exchange programmes much easier.

Weakness

While 8 States in India have 80% of total Higher Education Institutions of the country, just 7 districts of Karnataka have 52% of the total Higher Education institutions of the State and 50% of the districts have 76% of the institutions which is a concrete proof for asymmetrical distribution of higher education institutions and therefore skewed development in higher education.

Threat

This proves that we have more number of districts to develop in higher education and in the absence of sufficient funds for development it may be a very distant dream and there is a threat of all these districts remaining backward for a long time to come. There are a number of factors that may need full attention like raising the quality of the primary and secondary education who provide the input of students, increasing the number of secondary schools, enhancing the quality of teaching and learning in primary and secondary education which is outside the purview of Higher Education Department.

Opportunity

While RUSA is the best opportunity for the State to obtain funds to redress this inequity, the State also can take up special projects for Districts under Hyderabad-Karnataka Region and Special Development Projects for those taluks which have been identified as the most backward taluks and districts utilising Funds other than that of Higher Education Department.

The basic infrastructure facilities like hostels for boys and girls of backward community, SC and ST and Minority communities can be built out of funds from Union Ministry of Social Justice and also from Union Ministry of Social Welfare and Ministry of Minority Affairs.

All the colleges in Karnataka have to be brought under 2F and 12 B of UGC so that they become eligible for developmental and Research grants from UGC.

Physical Infrastructure in General Degree Govt Colleges of Karnataka

Strength

The boom seen in growth of institutions during the last decade heralded unprecedented increase in number of Government colleges enhanced the access especially in most of the un-served areas in the State. In a short span, State Government was able to provide infrastructure to a larger segment of government colleges incurring huge expenditure.
As a result 74% of colleges have own building, in 240 colleges are conducted in single shifts, 78% of colleges have toilets,, 59% have girls common rooms, 93% have libraries, 70% have staff rooms, 113% have auditorium, 34% have compound walls, 92% have electric supply, 77% have water supply, 59% have play grounds and more than 50% have safe drinking water supply.

Weakness

However, the required physical infrastructure including building required like class rooms, laboratories, libraries were not provided to all the newly opened colleges. Colleges were opened before they were built literally. 21% colleges were started in rented buildings, school buildings, PU College Buildings, polytechnics and other buildings in temporary arrangements and even today are continuing to remain in the same condition although they were inaugurated 7-8 years ago. Many colleges are yet to meet the basic necessity of land. 118 colleges are running in shifts due to paucity of rooms and labs.

While 22% of the Government colleges do not have toilets for students, and 59% of the colleges do not Girl's common room thus discouraging the girls enrolment in colleges. 7% of Govt colleges lack library buildings, and 30% do not have staff rooms for teachers. 66% of colleges do not have compound walls to protect their physical property from intruders and encroachers, 87% do not have Auditorium for cultural and academic events. 23% of colleges do not have permanent water supply facilities and 41% do not have play grounds for physical development of students.

Threat

When colleges lack infrastructure, the students get deprived of the facilities and consequently face problems for their studies and hence feel like quitting higher education. As they cannot fulfil their dream in full of becoming graduates and earning a living they drop out. Girls may not be willing to go to a college without toilets, so also when libraries are not there how will they make use of leisure hours and study without books. Naturally the dropout rate increases in such colleges and the government would tackle a decision to close down the college or merge it with some other college further aggravating the student's problems.

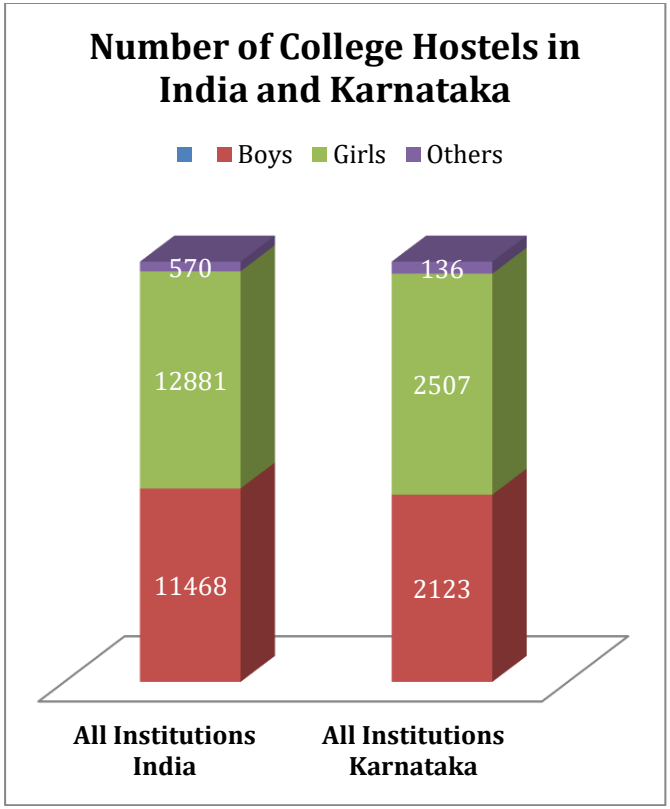
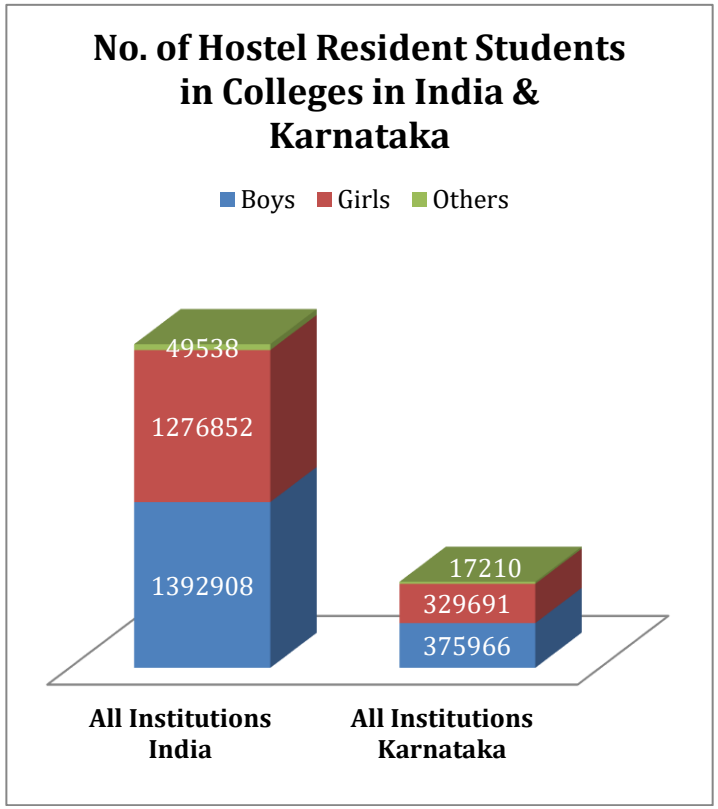
Hostel Facility for residential learning





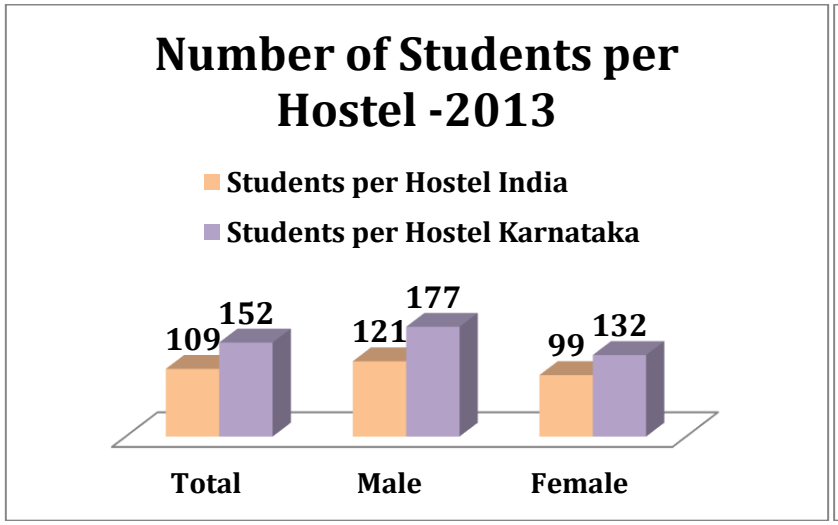
Strength

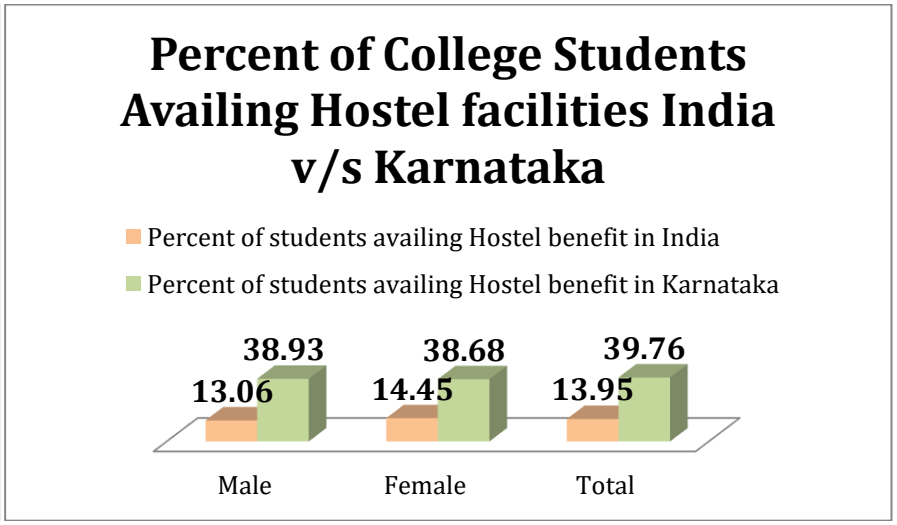
The number of colleges with hostels for girls is higher than boys both at All India level and Karnataka. However, the number of Boys resident in hostels is larger than girls in both India and State of Karnataka. This could be either due to availability of lesser number of seats or due to non-utilisation of available seats about which data is not available.

The capacity utilisation of Hostels is much better in Karnataka compared to that of India. While total number of students per Hostel is 109 in India, it is about 40% higher and stands at152 in Karnataka. While the number of boys per hostel is 121 in India the same is 46% higher at 177 for Karnataka and in case of girls it is 99 in India compared to 132 in Karnataka which is 33% higher than that of India.

Weakness

There are only 8 Hostels in Government colleges and no boy's hostels in any of Govt Colleges. However students can avail hostel facility in social welfare department's hostels which are not attached to the colleges and all students may not get avail the hostel facilities.





Strength

While 99 girls per hostel are there in India, there are 132 girls in Karnataka per hostel, so also there are 12 boys per hostel in India while 177 boys reside per hostel in Karnataka. 109 persons per hostel in India almost 50% higher number of persons are found to be resident per hostel in Karnataka at 152, thereby taking the overall use efficiency of hostel to higher in Karnataka than India.

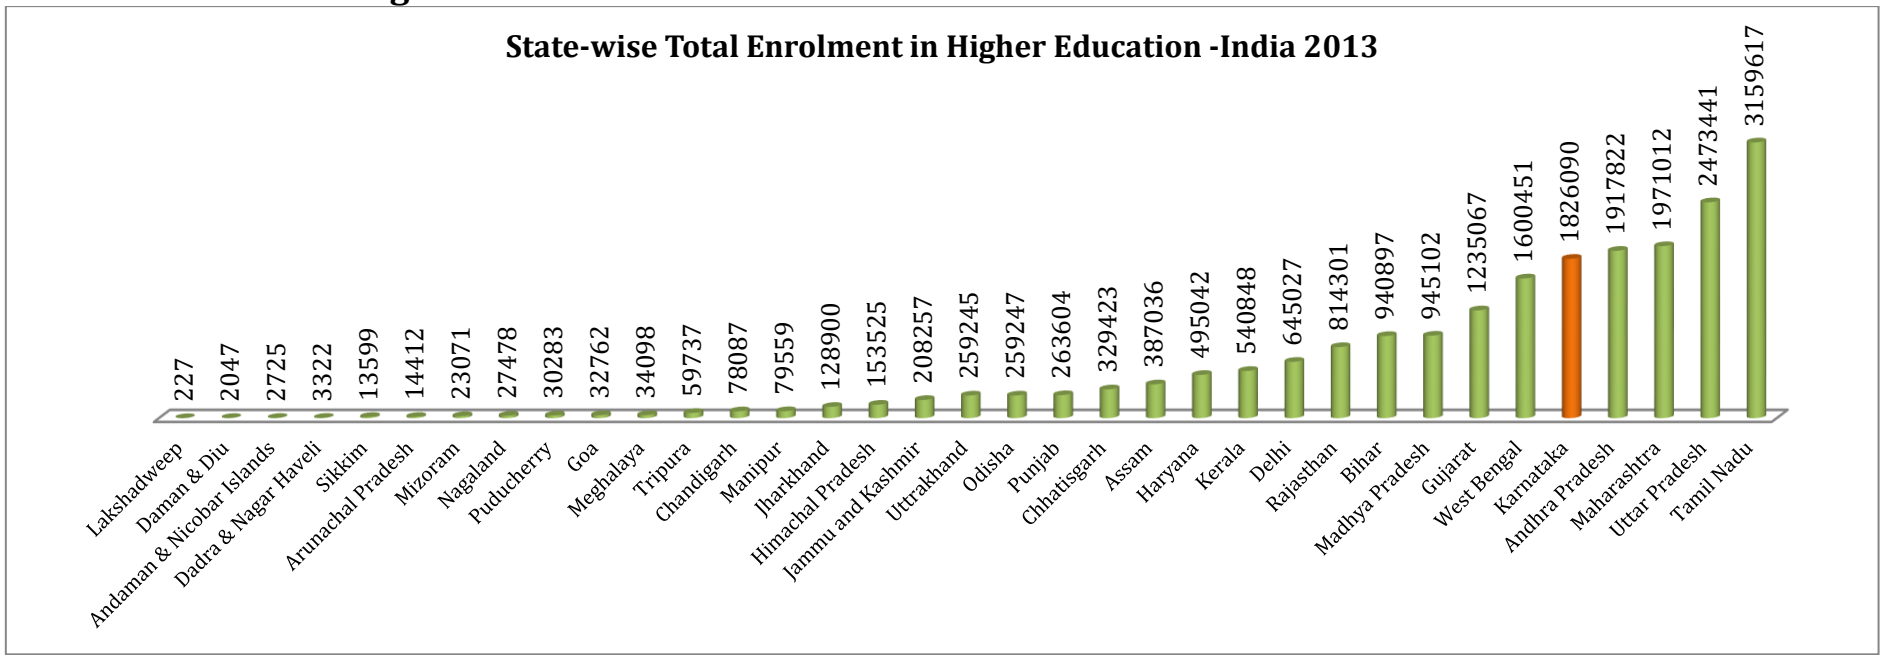
It is interesting to note that only 13 % of boys are utilising the hostel facilities in India it is slightly higher at 14.45 % in Karnataka. Similarly 38.93 % of girls are utilising hostel facilities in India while 39.76% of girls are utilising in Karnataka.

Weakness

Girls and boys from rural area cannot commute every day losing precious time of their studies, wasting their money and energy, and they definitely would prefer to stay in hostels so that they can fully concentrate on their studies like their urban counterparts and compete fully well. But due to lack of hostel facilities will deter them from taking up higher education and settle for mediocre colleges in rural areas. Hostel facilities should be raised to atleast for 50% of women students and at least 40% for boy students. Hence there is still a big gap to be covered, about 11% more hostel facilities to be provided for boys and girls and this needs to happen in Government colleges as there are very few Boys and Girls colleges with hostels.

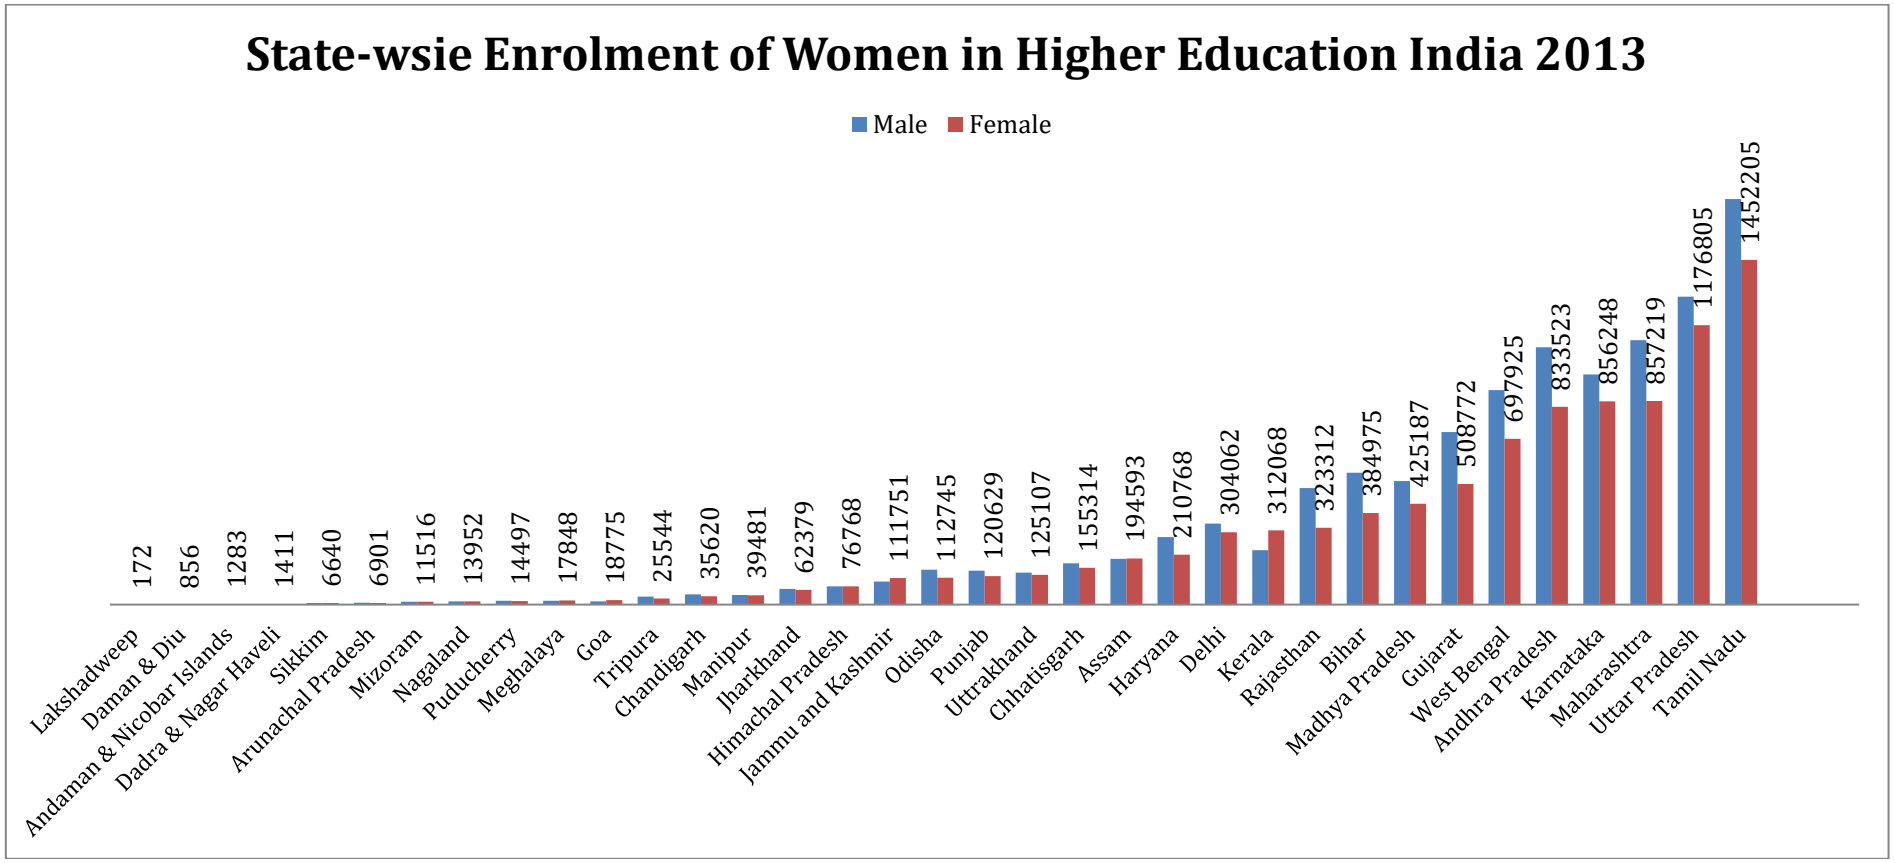
ENROLMENTS

Total Enrolments in Higher Education



Strength

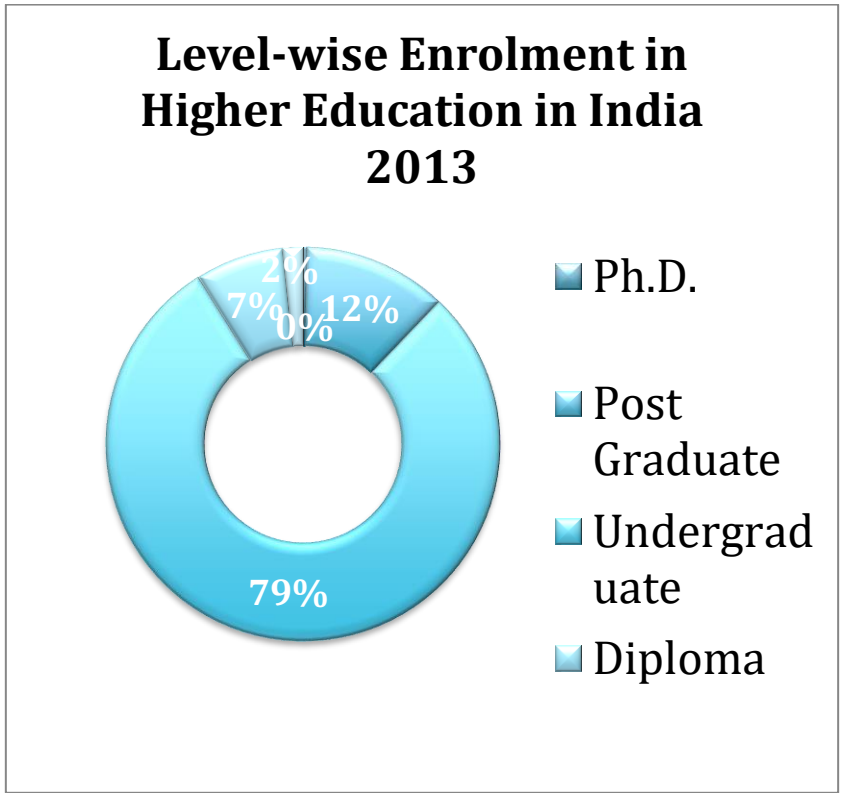
Karnataka ranks fifth in total enrolment in higher education with 1826000 students which is just 58% of that of Tamil Nadu that occupies the first place followed by UP, Maharashtra and Andhrapradesh.

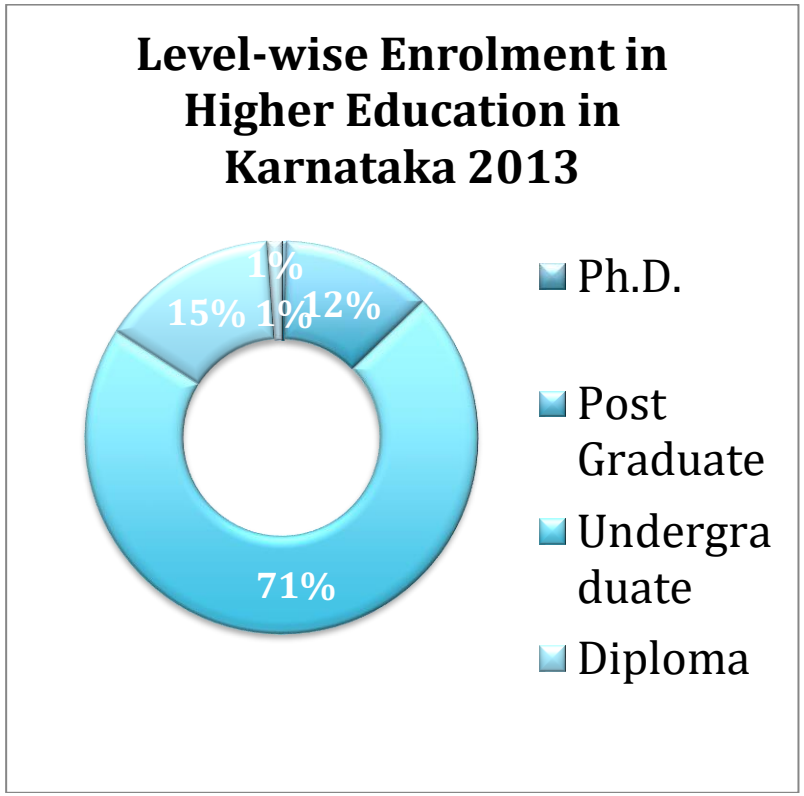


Karnataka ranks fourth among all States in case of total women enrolment in higher education leaving behind Andhra Pradesh.

Level-wise enrolment in Higher education

In India, we can notice higher education PhD and M Phil at Research level, post Graduate, Undergraduate, diploma, integrated course, postgraduate diploma courses at college levels and diploma courses at graduate level, and Diploma and certificate courses at stand alone institutions level. Depending on the type of institutions and courses offered the enrolment at these levels vary from State to State across country.



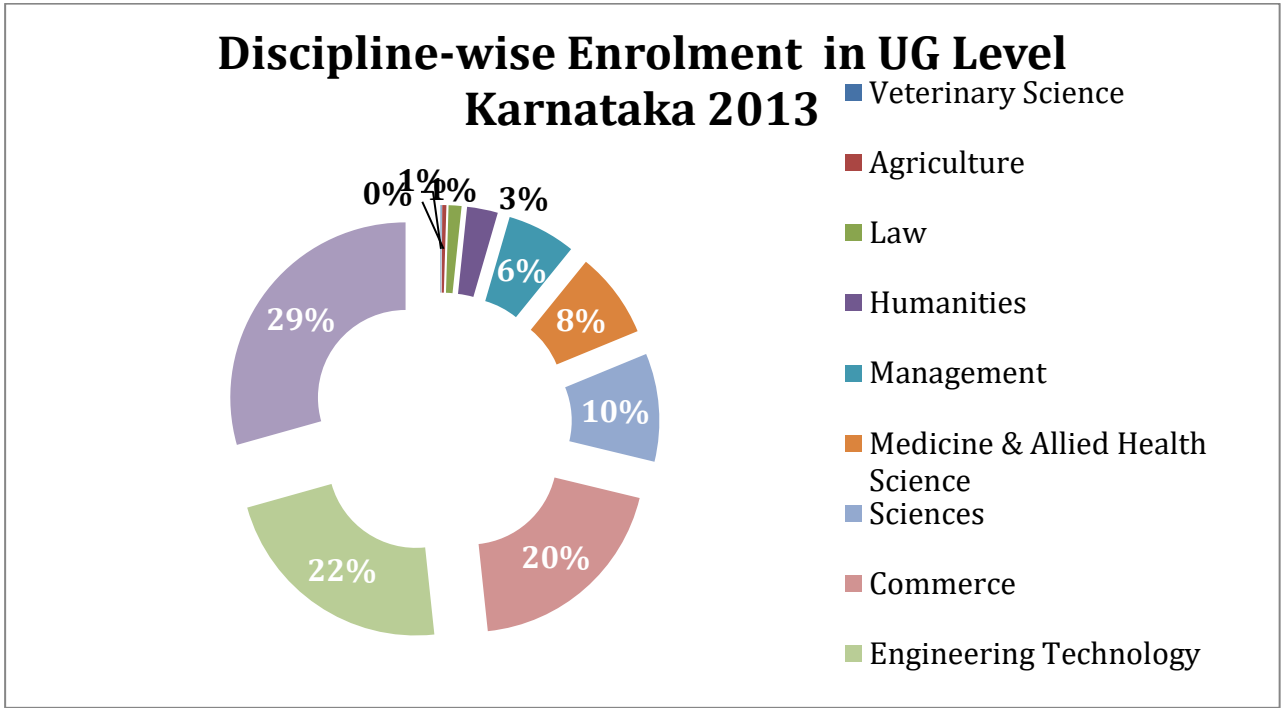


Strength

While India has less than 1% of students enrolled in PhD, Karnataka has about 1% of students in PhD studies. Karnataka has 12% of students enrolled in PG courses on par with India, in spite of having a lesser proportion of students studying in UG courses at 71% compared to 79% in India. Karnataka has a better share of diploma students at 12% compared to only 7 % in India. Keeping the research tradition that exists in the State we need to promote it in a big way so as to be the major research force in the country.

Discipline-wise Level-wise Enrolments

Discipline-wise UG Level Enrolment



Strength

29% of students in under graduate level are in Arts discipline followed by 22% in engineering and technology, 20% in commerce and only ten percent in science disciplines. While 41% of students are in science, engineering , medical and agriculture disciplines.

Weakness

35% of students are in Arts and humanities disciplines of which 29% are in Arts and 6% are in humanities. Enrolment in Arts + humanities and commerce + Management courses together constitute 58%. Greater proportion of students enrolment is found to occur in arts and commerce course and is a cause for concern as all of them may not fins job. Commerce may be exceptional currently but in due course such a bloom ill turn into gloom as surplus out turn always result in unemployment and underemployment, as found earlier in case of new subjects introduced like biotechnology, microbiology, management courses, B Ed courses, D Ed courses. The reason for greater enrolment in arts courses could be also due to the fact that it is easier to pass and the only course available in rural areas. Lack of quality education in primary and secondary education has resulted in poor enrolment in Science, the trend, which needs to be stalled.

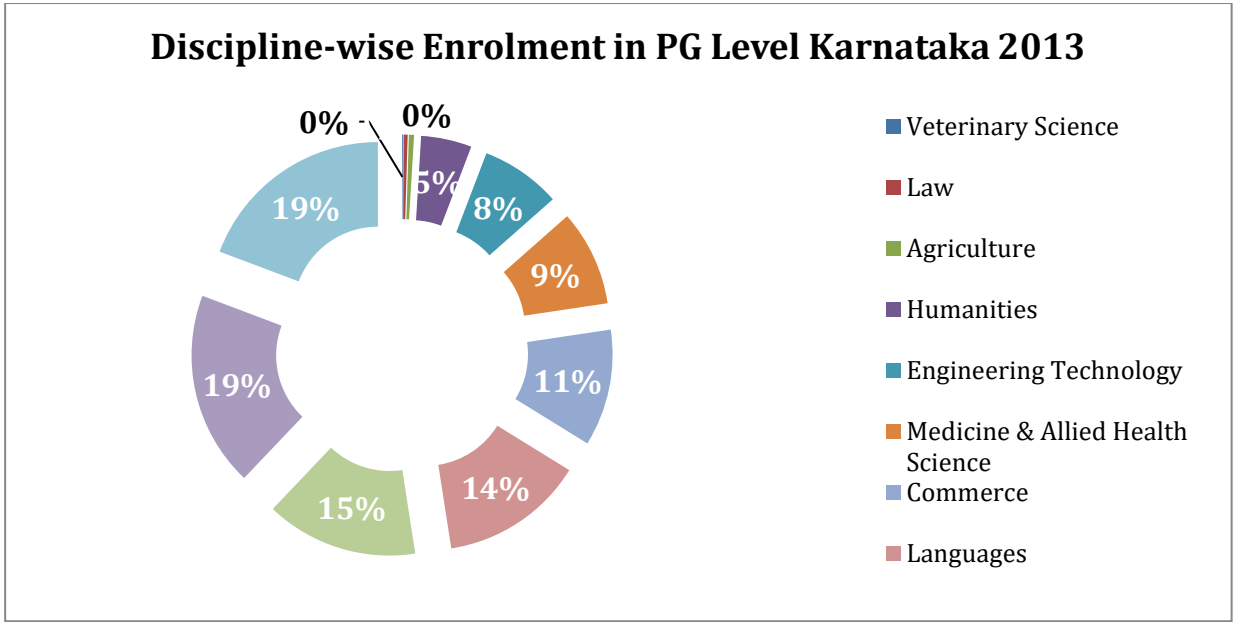
Threat

More the enrolment in courses with lesser employability and which are lesser job oriented greater the threat of unemployment and underemployment. Unless new courses that are relevant to the needs of the industry and the employers, there will be lesser economic development as it will result in more and more unemployable graduates on one hand and scarcity of skilled workforce and lagging behind of Indian industries due to shortage of skilled manpower leading to a paradoxical situation.

Opportunity

India needs to redesign courses keeping in mind the equitable development of all sectors and their need for trained manpower and also the sector-wise manpower requirement all over the world. Unless we produce world class human resource by raising the quality of higher education to global standards, we will not be able to harness the demographic dividends and we will reach a point of no return. As greater number of students exit after graduation there is an urgent need to ensure their employability. Either we need to include the skill component for employability or reduce the courses which do not fetch them jobs. RUSA provides the best opportunity to revamp and restructure degree courses and curriculum in consultation with the industry. Therefore there is an opportunity to introduce science in all rural Government colleges for two reasons, namely, to make it convenient to introduce Choice Based Credit System and to promote science studies, scientific temper and also to overcome superstitious forces of society and derive benefits of applications of Science in life in the State.

Discipline-wise UG Level Enrolment



Strength

The enrolment in science has risen from just ten percent at gradate level to 19% at PG level. The Arts enrolment that is 29% has been reduced to 19% in the State at PG level which marks a welcome trend, so also in case of commerce which gets reduced from 20% at UG level to just 11% at PG level. The percent of enrolment in Medical Science remains almost same which is due to professional demand that an individual with UG need to complete PG in order to gain the required proficiency.

Weakness

But huge enrolment in languages up to 14% when there was nil enrolment in UG level is cause for worry especially when the job prospects are concerned for languages courses that too when they are revolving around only Kannada and English rather than other foreign languages. Reduction in enrolments in engineering courses from 22% in UG to just 8% in PG level is an issue of concern. 15% enrolment in management may not sustain over the years as already there many students struggling to get jobs. Arts, humanities, languages, commerce and management still constitute the bigger chunk at 64% while science, engineering, medicine and allied courses register only 36% which should have been the other way round.

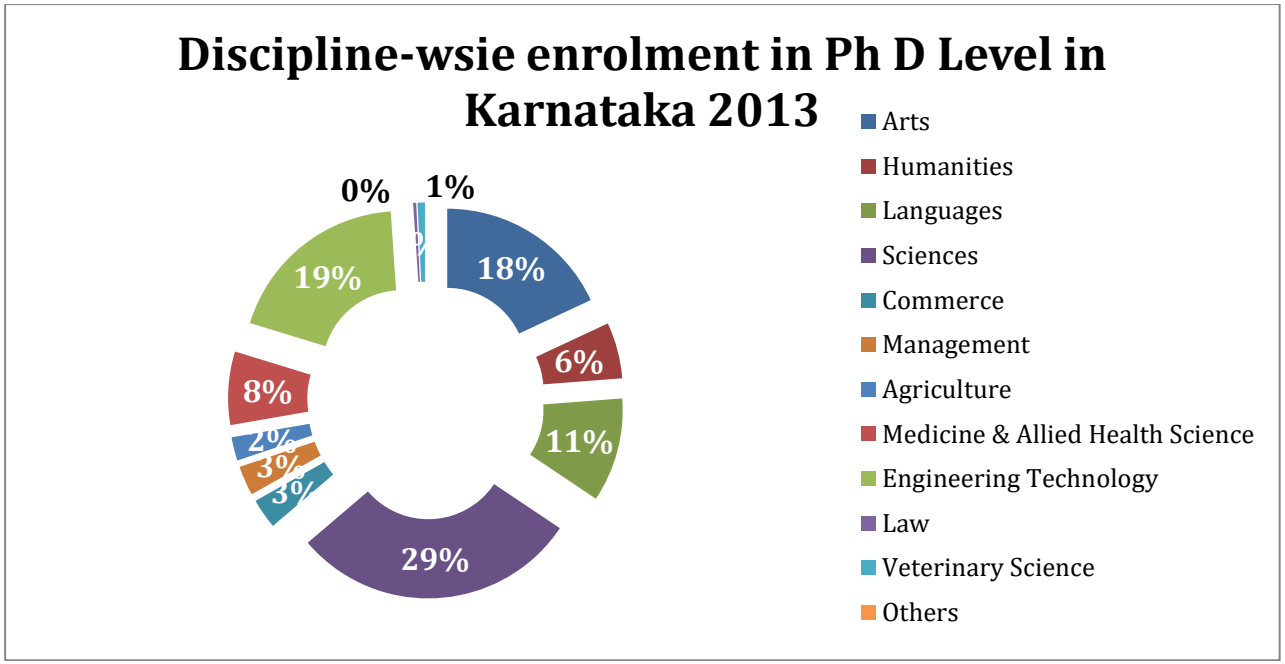
Threat

More and more science, engineering, technology, health science, agriculture courses are to be encouraged at PG level lest we will not be able to provide the required manpower for research and innovation in the State. Even if we produce these post graduates in these courses if the quality is not maintained we will be creating more trouble to both the students and parents one hand and the society at large on the other.

Opportunity

RUSA provides special grants of Rs 120 crore for Research, innovation and quality improvements. Besides there is also scope for harnessing funds from CSR sources. We need more and more teachers at PG level not only to teach but also to produce research output and there is opportunity for faculty recruitment under RUSA which the State has to make use of it for science and engineering courses and build a solid base for these courses at both PG land PhD evels in the State.

Discipline-wise Enrolment at Ph D Level



Strength

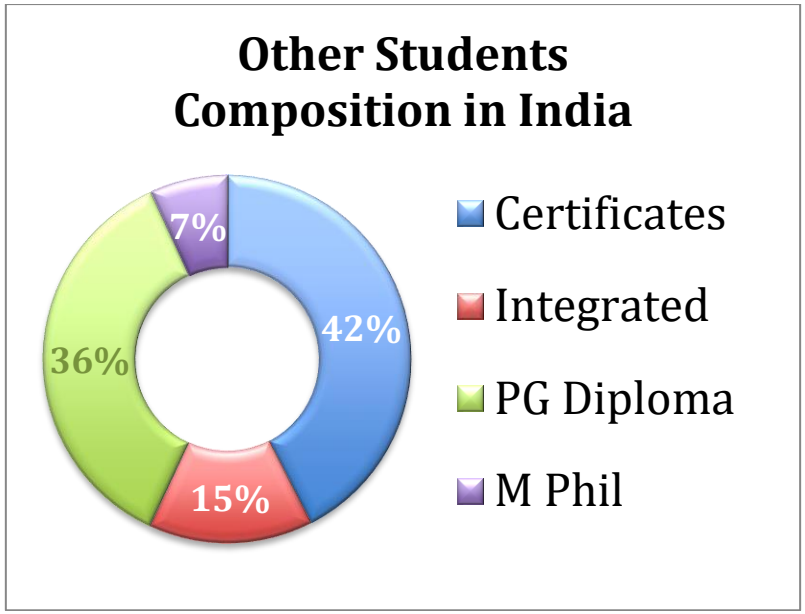
Science establishes its supremacy in enrolment in PhD level with 29% while Engineering &Technology with 19% which is a good sign for the State thus catapulting the State to the glory of an important National Scientific Research hub. Together science, technology and allied sciences constitute 59% and the arts, humanities, commerce and others get reduced to 41%.

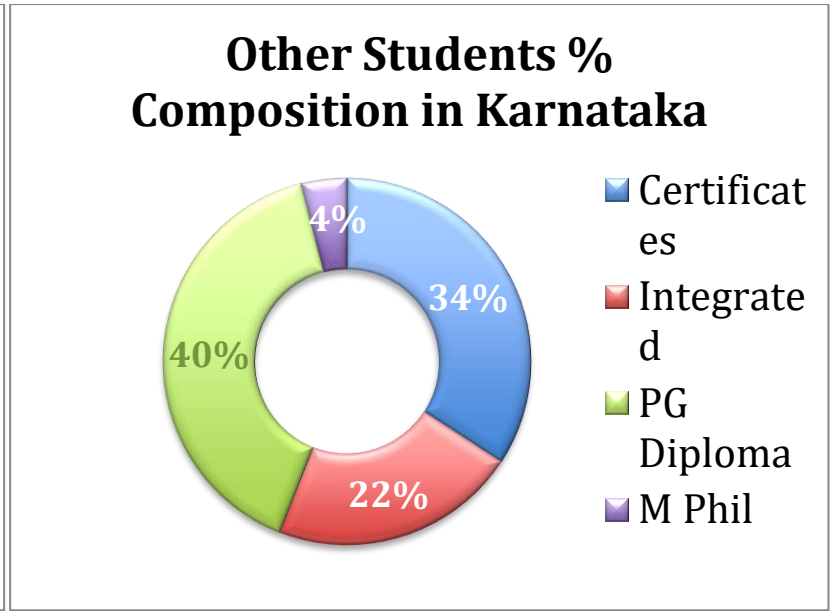
Weakness

The PhD enrolment is largely due to IISc and other centrally funded institutions like JNCSR, NIMHANS and Health Science courses. General Universities role in providing PhD enrolment is still wanting as many of them suffer due to shortage of both faculty and funds.

Threat

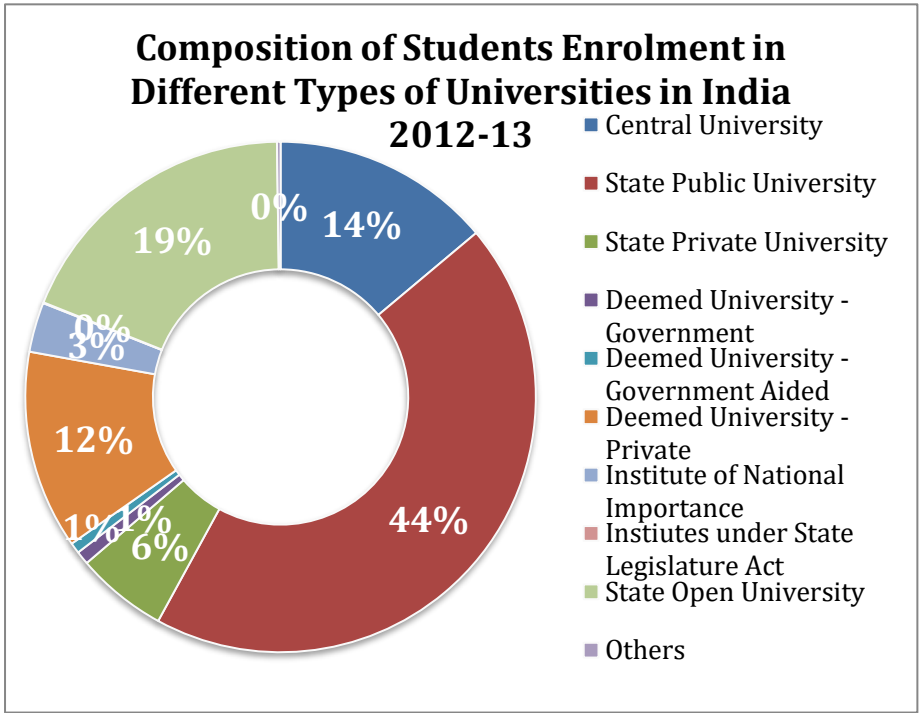
Karnataka cannot make it to the top notch in research and innovation unless it improves its University research especially in Science and that too in frontier areas and cutting edge technologies. Not only faculty but also grants for equipments and appliances need to be provided lest the research will suffer in the State and the preeminent position cannot be sustained for long.

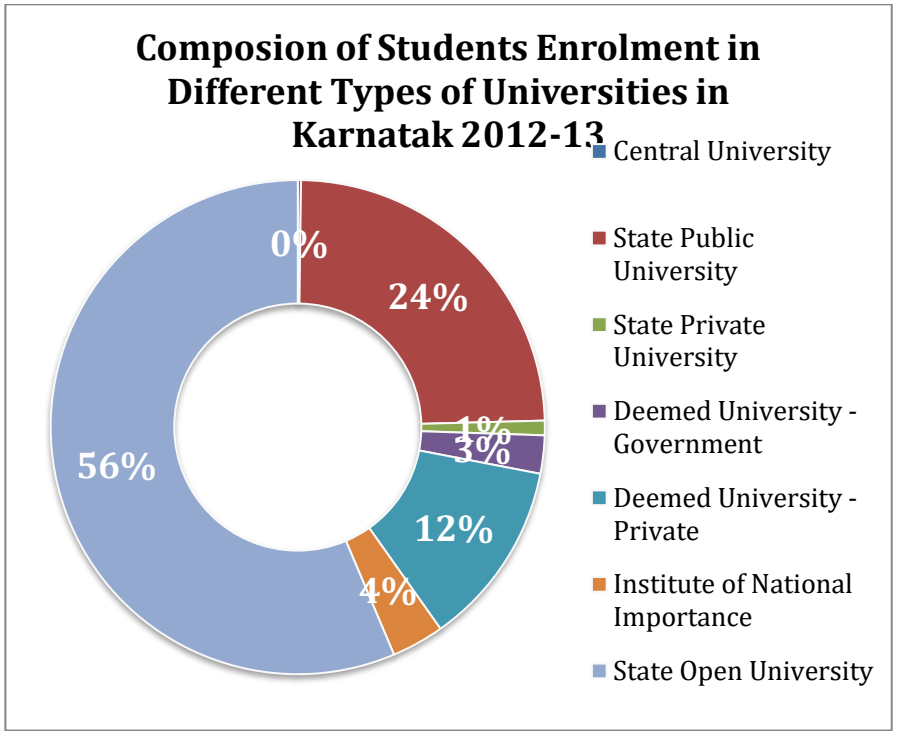




Looking at the proportion of students pursuing Certificate courses Karnataka has lesser students when compared to India. There is greater proportion of students pursuing integrated courses in Karnataka compared to India. While more students are studying PG Diploma courses in Karnataka compared to India, there are lesser M Phil students in Karnataka at just 4 when compared to 7% In India.

Composition of Students Enrolment in Different Types of Universities in India versus Karnataka 2012-13





Strength

44 % of students are enrolled in State Public University in India, only 24 % are enrolled in State Public Universities of Karnataka. 6% are in State Private Universities of India, while in Karnataka it is only 1%. Enrolment in Private Deemed Universities is 12% in State of Karnataka as well as India.

The biggest difference is found in enrolment of students in State Open Universities. While it is only 19% across India, it is 56% in Karnataka, three times larger than the proportion in India.

Weakness

Considering the general perception that the quality of distance educated students needs to be made desirable, the fact that 56% of enrolment in Karnataka in distance education is worrisome. The Pupil -teacher ratio in universities is a constraint for expanding the admission intake in Universities. The bigger contribution of distance education to GER in University education in Karnataka is definitely a cause of concern especially in the light of poor standards of content, teaching and examination in open universities with distance education system.

While 14% of University enrolled Students are studying in Central Universities in India, less than one percent are enrolled in Central University in Karnataka. Considering the fact that the Central Universities have no dearth of funds and facilities, the quality of higher education is certainly much better than the state funded universities and colleges.

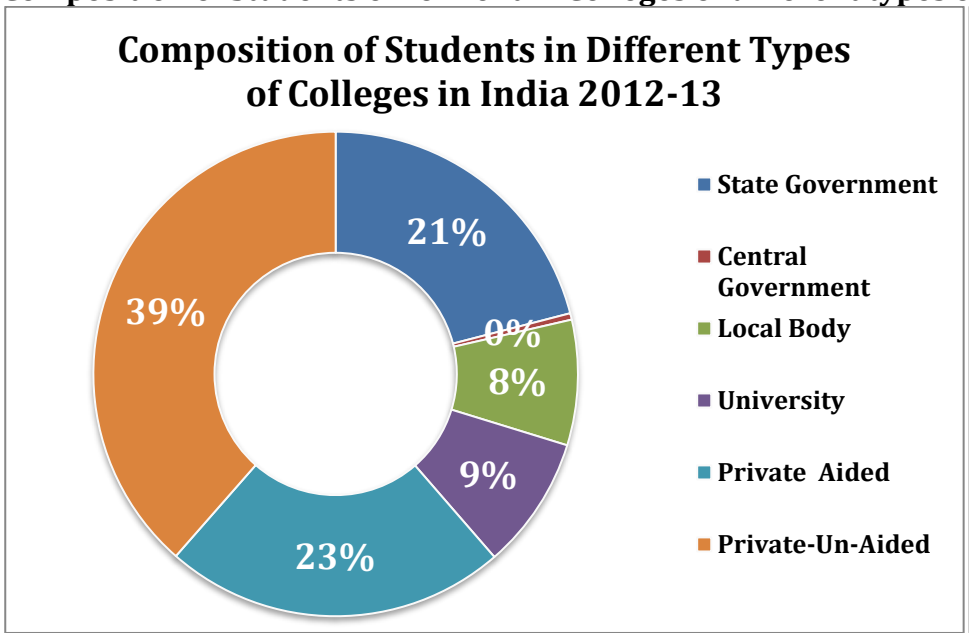
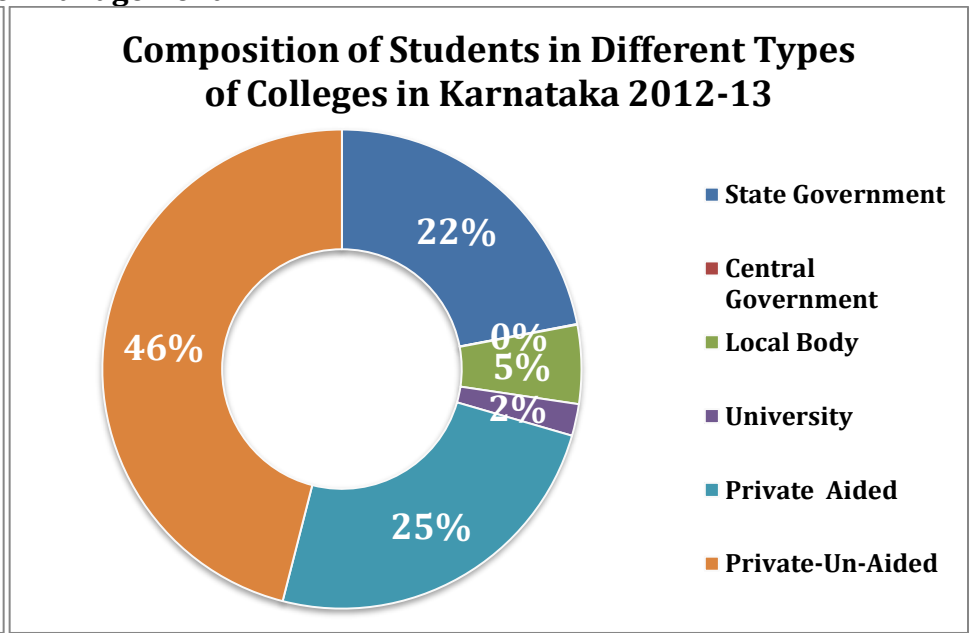
Weakness

73% of University enrolment is through distance mode and only 27% is through regular mode and thus the University enrolment is mainly influenced by the distance education rather than regular mode in Karnataka as can be seen from the above graph. The Total enrolment in University education in both PG and UG is mainly due to enrolment in distance mode which is almost three times greater than the regular mode that forms only one fourth of the total enrolment. And more of PG enrolment is through distance mode. Are we producing quality PG students is a moot question to be answered?

Composition of Students enrolment in Colleges of different types of management.





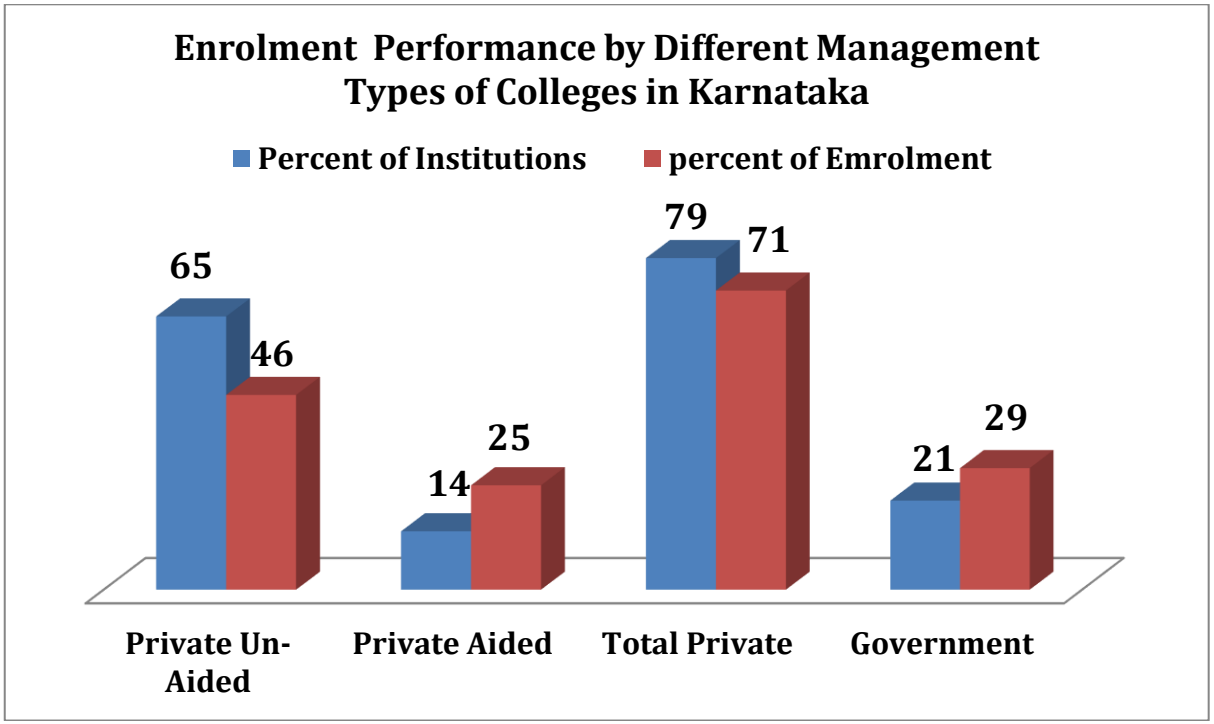
Strength

While the proportion of students in State Government owned Colleges is almost same both in State of Karnataka and across India, the proportion of students studying in private unaided and private aided colleges is significantly larger in Karnataka at 46% and 25% respectively, together constituting 71% while in India the corresponding figures are 39% and 23% and together constitute 62%. Thus Karnataka has encouraged greater role for private participation in Higher education. With greater participation of private sector Karnataka has ensured private investment by private sector and thus enable greater proportion of population to reap the benefits of higher education.

Weakness

Private institutions driven largely by profit motive do not pay salaries on par with UGC prescribed norms and exploit temporary teachers who are not committed and not so brilliant to run the institutions. This will result in poor quality of higher education rendered to the students.

Enrolment Performance by Colleges of Different Management Types



Strength

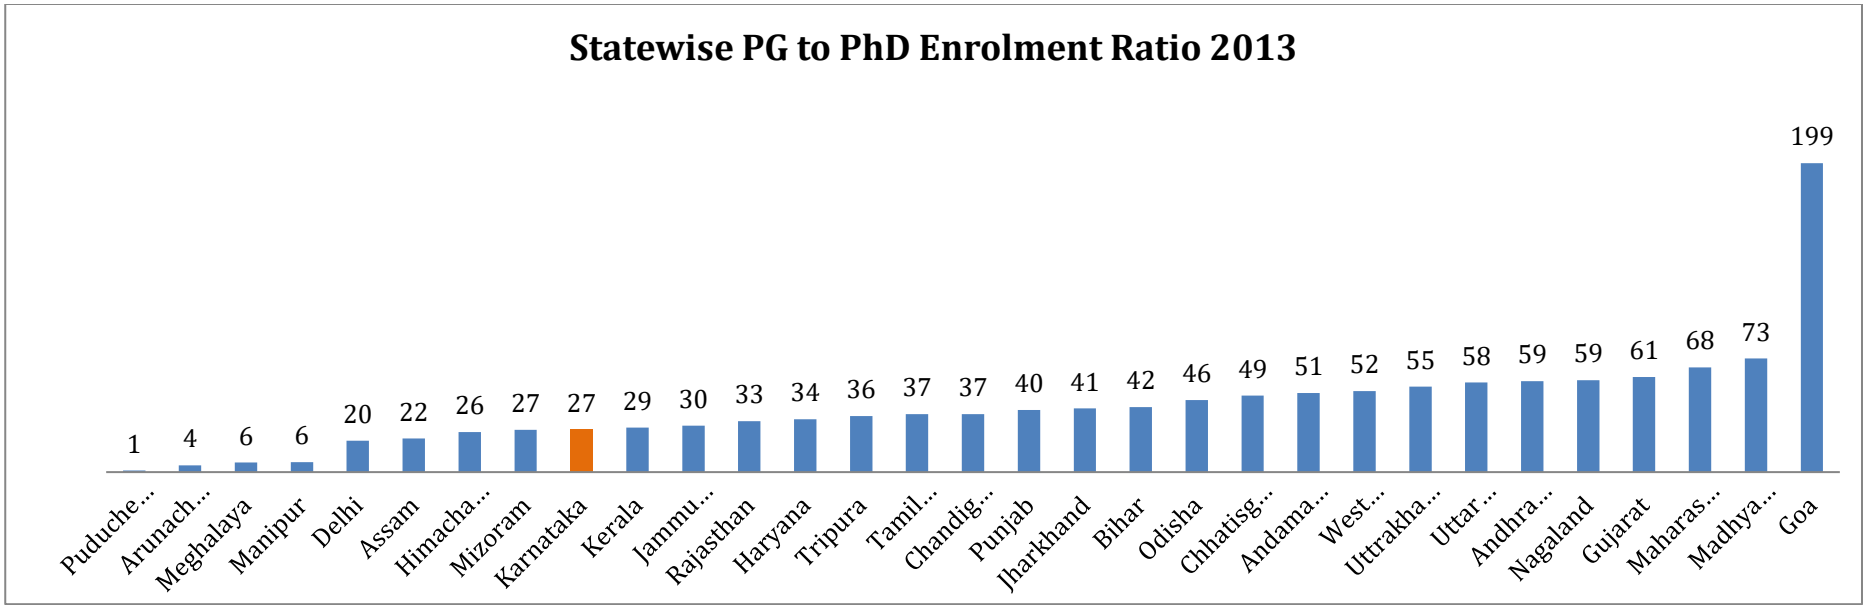
The contrast in performance of Private unaided and private aided institutions is very clear. There are 65% Private unaided institutions in Karnataka which together are enrolling only 46% of students in the State. Whereas the Private Aided institutions constitute only 14 of total collegiate institutions in Karnataka but their enrolment is 25T. Together the Private colleges constitute 79 percent enrolling 71 % of students. Whereas Government institutions constitute only 21% but enrol 29% of students. Therefore it is clear that performance wise the Private aided institutions do better in enrolment followed by Government institutions and last private unaided institutions. The fact that there is only one Govt colleges which is autonomous and the remaining 48 are aided institutions vouches for the quality of education which is in great demand by students and hence explains the reasons for larger enrolment performance.

Weakness

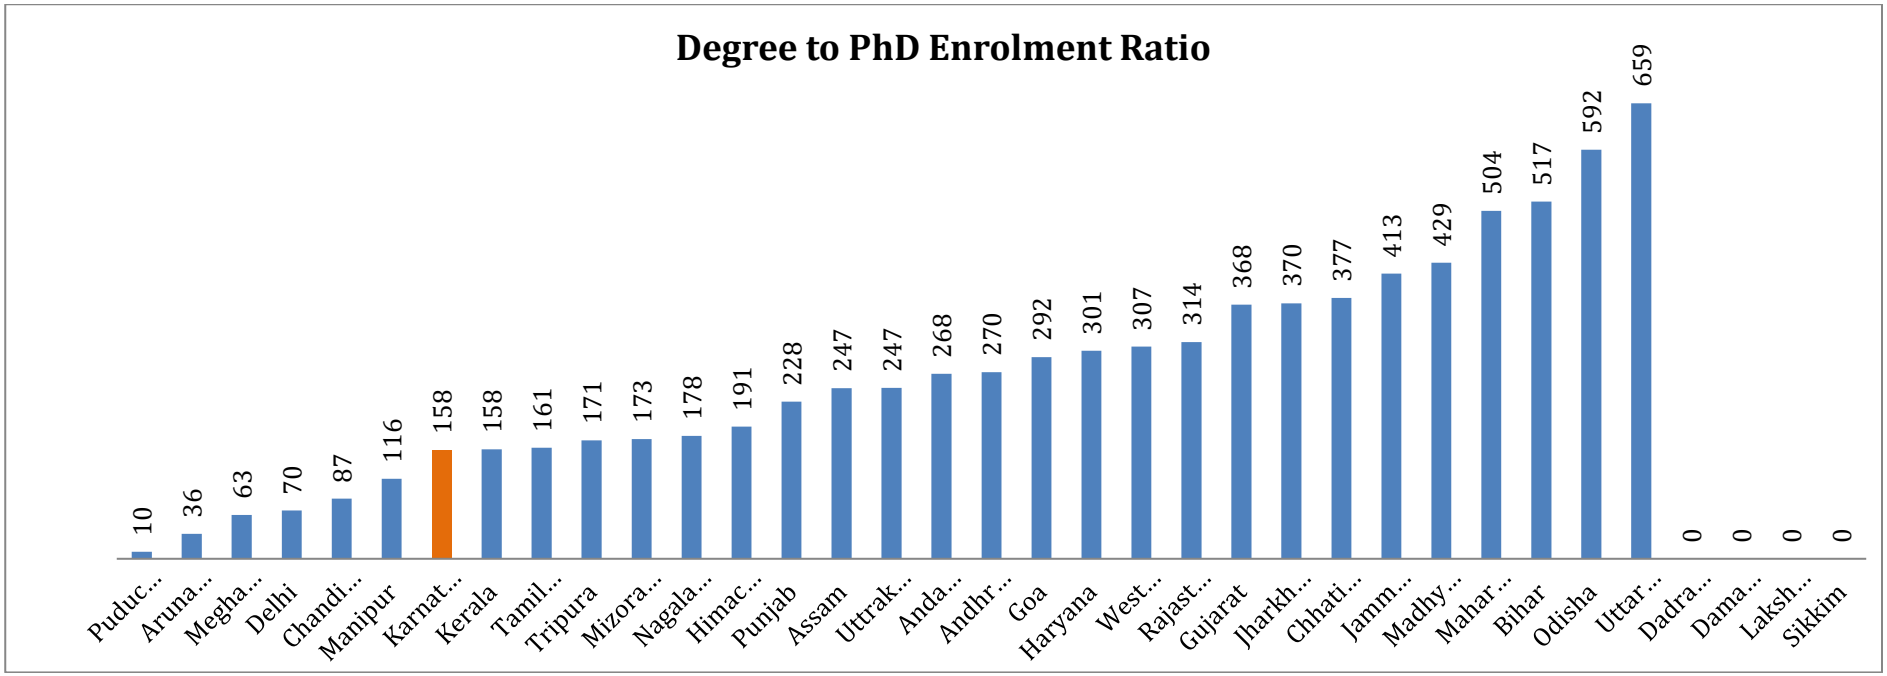
Not all Government colleges have adequate infrastructure and most of them operate even in rural areas. Therefore despite infrastructural deficiency, the Government colleges enjoy bigger enrolment due to geographical proximity and lower fee structures and not necessarily due to the quality of higher education as evidenced by the percent of results which stands at 56% compared to 57% in private colleges.

Threat
Over dependence on private unaided will result in deterioration of quality in higher education sector and also lead to commercialisation and exploitation of students.
Opportunity
Private Aided colleges maintain quality as well as greater enrolment and thus they have greater opportunity to grow and develop higher education in Karnataka followed by Government colleges unless the Government colleges are provided with sufficient infrastructure.

PhD Students Enrolment Proportion to PG and UG Enrolment in Karnataka and India 2012-13.



Strength
Karnataka has a better proportion of PG students pursuing PhD courses after their PG degrees. For every 27 students enrolled in PG courses in Karnataka one students get enrolled in PhD programme compared to 29 in Kerala, 37 in Tamil Nadu, 59 in Andhra Pradesh and 33 in All India level.

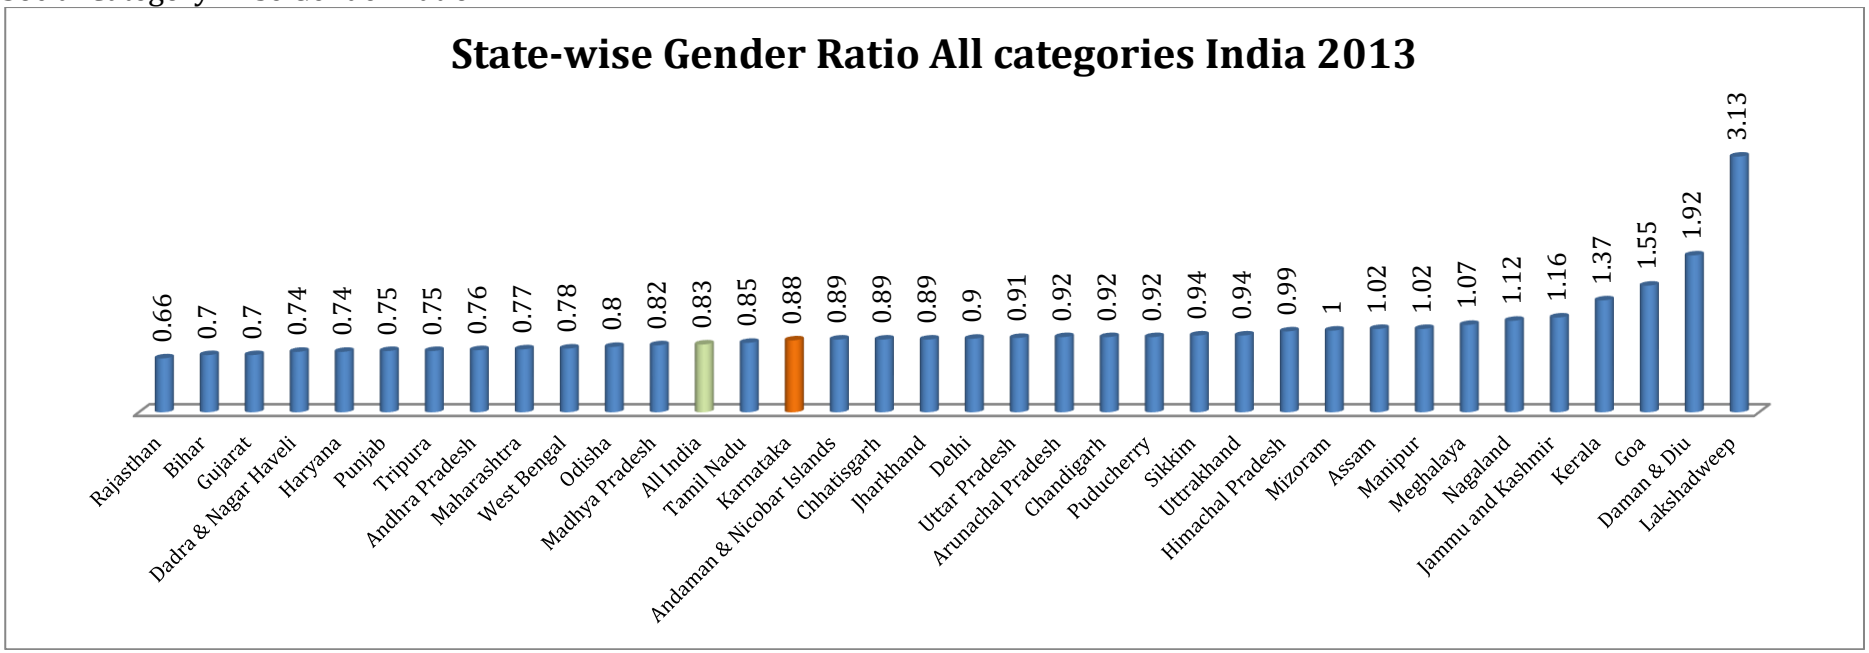


Strength

Similarly for every 158 students one student would pursue PhD courses in Karnataka when compared to same number in Kerala, 161 in Tamil Nadu, 270 in Andhra Pradesh, and 223 in All India level. Hence a better trend among students is noticed in Karnataka hence there is vast scope for encouraging research in Karnataka compared to other States in the country.

Equity issues

Social Category-wise Gender Ratio



Strength:

The gender ratio of all categories of students in Karnataka is at 0.88 and better than that of India at 0/83.

The gender ratio among SC students in Karnataka is also better at 0.83 than that of India at 0.81

The gender ratio among OBC group is also much better at 0.96 compared to 0.86 in India.

The gender ratio is in favour of female gender only in other minority communities in both Karnataka and in India and it is much better in Karnataka at 1.36 to India's figure of 1.26.

Karnataka's gender ratio is somewhat in middle range and much better than that of neighbouring Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu states.

Weakness

In both students of ST and Muslim communities the Gender ratio of Karnataka is lower at 0.77 and 0.74 respectively compared to that of India at 0.82 and 0.88 respectively for ST and Muslims community students.

Although Karnataka fares better than India in Gender ratio among different social categories, still it is for away from the ideal gender ratio of one. Hence there a need for taking up several measures to improve the gender ratio by various state sponsored measures.

Threat

It is a known fact that by providing higher education to women, it would be possible to achieve better equality of gender, gender sensitisation in society, raise the family income and provide better education to children and overcome economic and financial tensions due to single salary. If measures to improve gender ratio is not taken up and correction measures are not implemented to promote women education then weaker sex concept prevails and weakened women would be exploited more and more in society resulting in lesser peace and harmony in society.

Opportunity

As in most categories the gender ratio is lesser than the ideal one except the other minority community, there is vast scope for mainstreaming the women students by initiating several women friendly measures like construction of women hostels, women rest rooms in colleges, women toilets, scholarships, fee concessions, especially in those regions and those courses where there is marked deficiency in gender ratio in favour of women.

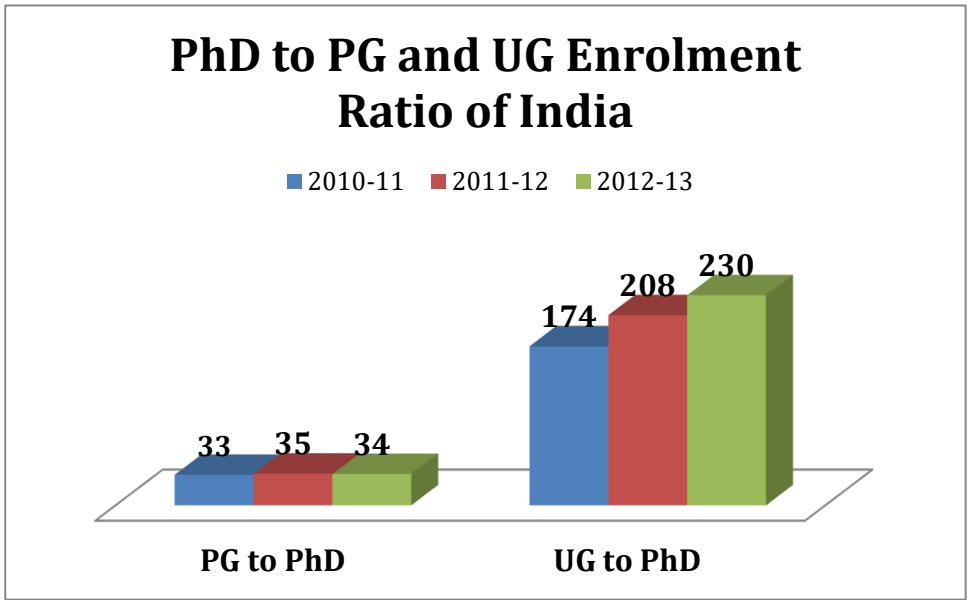
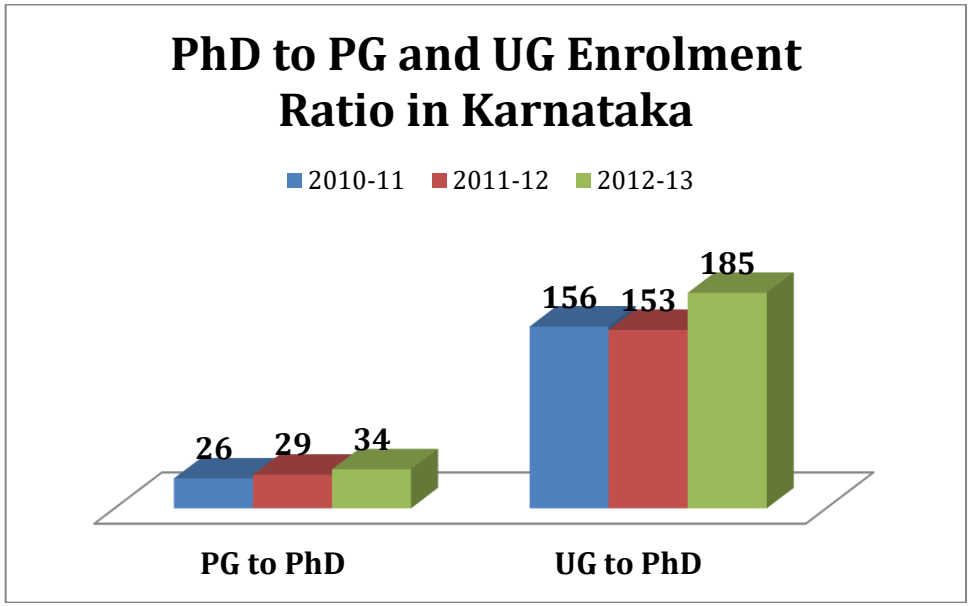
Strength

Karnataka has the second highest PhD student enrolment capacity among all States and Union territories in the country reflecting a good capacity for Ph D course.

For every 158 degree students there is one PhD enrolment in Karnataka which is on par with Kerala and much better than the All India average at 267 and also better than the neighbouring States namely, Tamil Nadu at 161, Andhra Pradesh at 270 and Maharashtra at 504.

When PhD enrolment is compared with PG student's enrolment it was found out that for every 27 students there is one PhD students enrolled. This is far better than that of India which stands at 40 and also better than the figures of neighbouring States namely, Kerala at 29, Tamil Nadu at 37, Andhra Pradesh at 59 and Maharashtra at 68.





Weakness

The PG to PHD enrolment ratio is increasing in Karnataka between 2010-11 to 2012-13 from 26 to 34 and has increased to All India Level. The PhD to UG enrolment is however less than that of India but showing an increasing trend which is disturbing.

Patent Applications filed

Strength

Karnataka has been placed overall third place among States with respect to number of patent applications file in the Patent Registration Office of India. Karnataka's Share in the total applications filed for the year 2011-12 and 2012-13 in the category of Ordinary Applications for Patent stands at 10% and 12%, 27% and 35 in convention category, and 9 % and 11 % in the category of National Phase Application.

Geographic Indicators registered

Among all States, Karnataka has the highest percent of Geographic Indicators registered at 32 comprising 17% of whole of India.

Governance Quality Issues

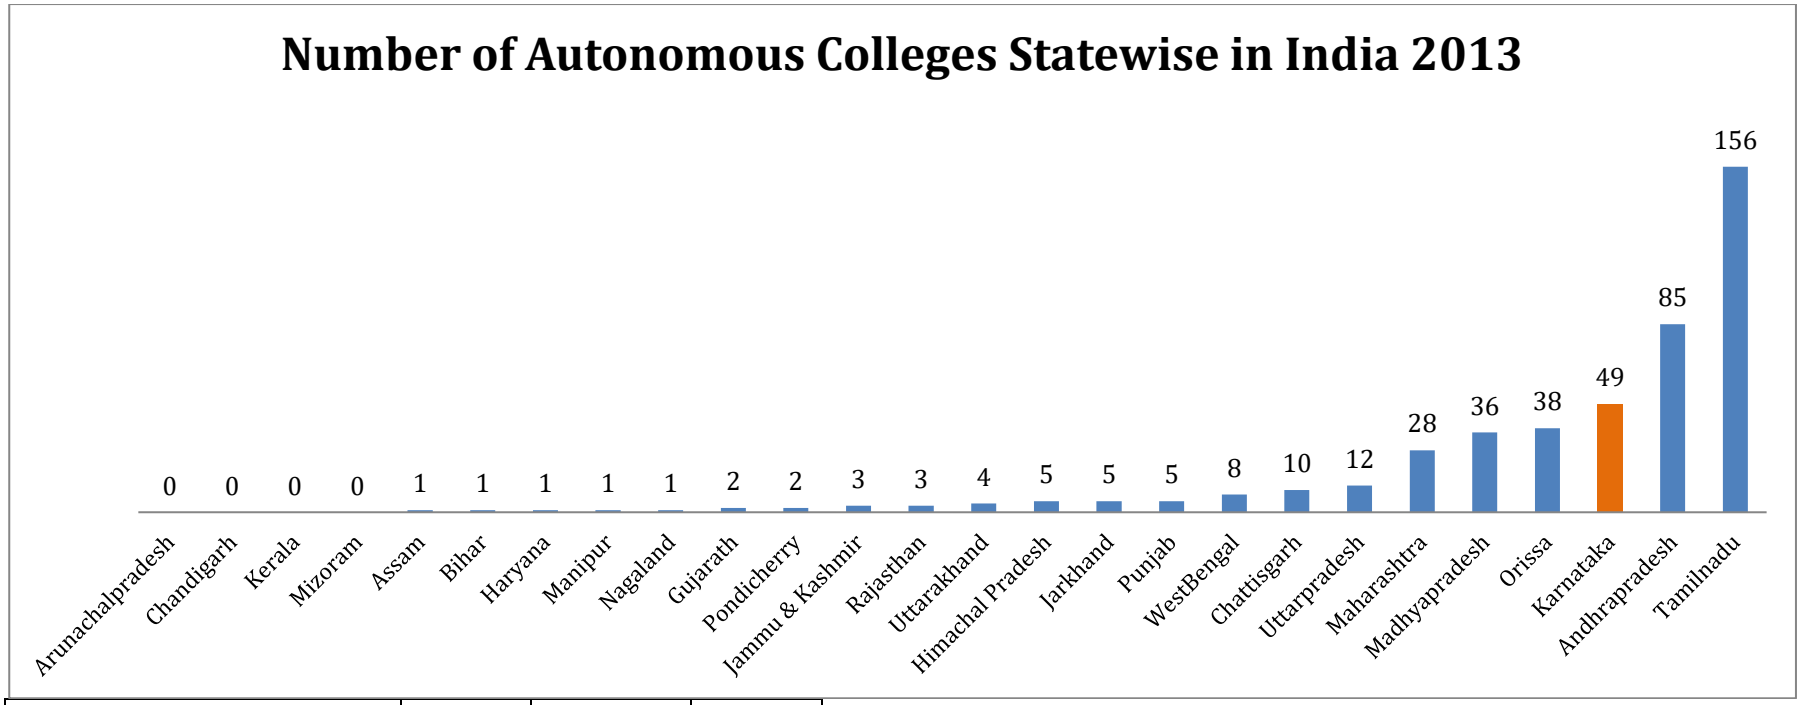
Percent of autonomous of colleges out of total colleges covered under RUSA

Strength

There are forty nine Autonomous colleges in Karnataka and there are about 1074 Govt. and Government aided Private institutions in Karnataka that can be brought under RUSA. About six percent of colleges covered under RUSA are Autonomous colleges. Karnataka is the third largest State with 49Autonomous colleges constituting about 11 percent of a total of 456 autonomous colleges in the country.

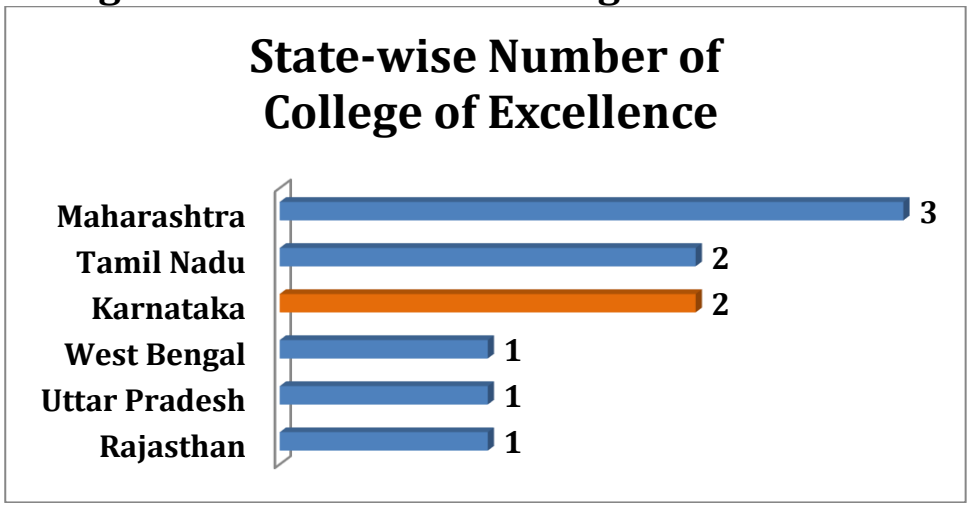
Weakness

Of the forty nine there is only one Government college which is autonomous despite the fact that has the highest number of Govt and aided institutions more than any other State in the country.



Parameter	India	Karnataka	%
Number of Autonomous Colleges	456	49	10.75

College of Excellence and Colleges with Potential for Excellence



Strengths

Karnataka ranks second in the country with two colleges of Excellence and has bagged 20% of colleges of excellence (two out of ten) in the country.

Karnataka is also ranks second in number of colleges with potential for excellence among all States in the country with colleges with potential for excellence with 23 out of 211 which forms about 11%. Of the 49 Autonomous colleges 23 colleges have earned the CPE status that accounts for 47% of Autonomous institutions, while Maharashtra has same number of Autonomous colleges and CPEs at 36. In spite of greater number of autonomous colleges in Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka has the larger number of CPEs than these States. Only Maharashtra is ahead of Karnataka which leaves behind all other neighbouring States.

Bangalore University has the largest number of 6 CPEs among all State Public Universities in Karnataka followed by Karnataka University with 5 CPEs. With CPE and CE together it ranks second in the country among all State affiliating Universities.

Weakness

Karnataka has a large number of Government institutions more than one thousand and only one Government college has earned CPE status. Except Govt Science College in Bangalore all other CPEs are Govt. Aided colleges.

Out of 3000 colleges only 23 colleges have CPE status and only two college have got College of Excellence status which shows that the quality of collegiate education is still far away from the desired level.

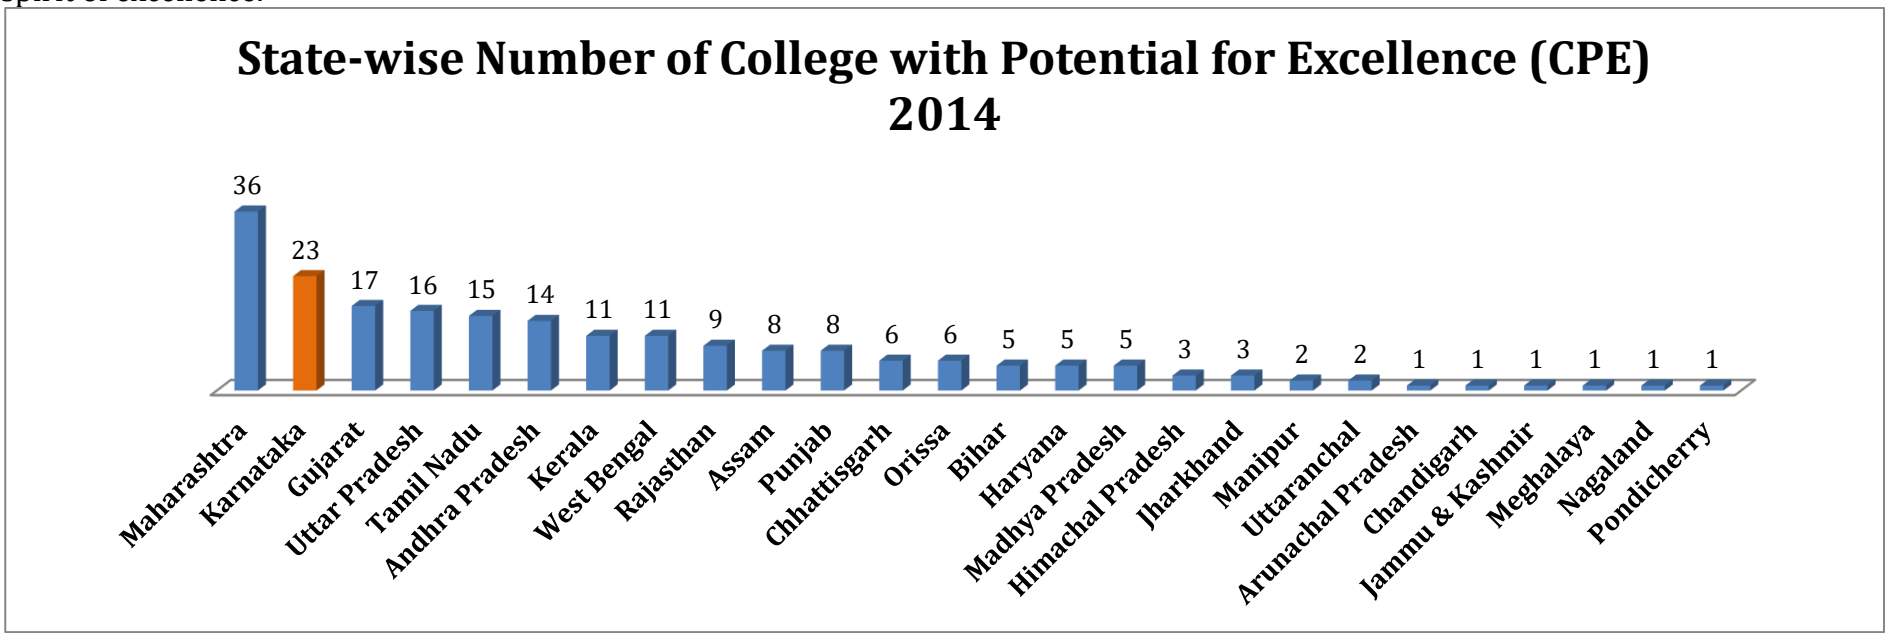
Only Bangalore and Karnatak Universities have good number of CPEs. Although there are 15 affiliating Universities in the State only 8 universities have one or more CPEs.

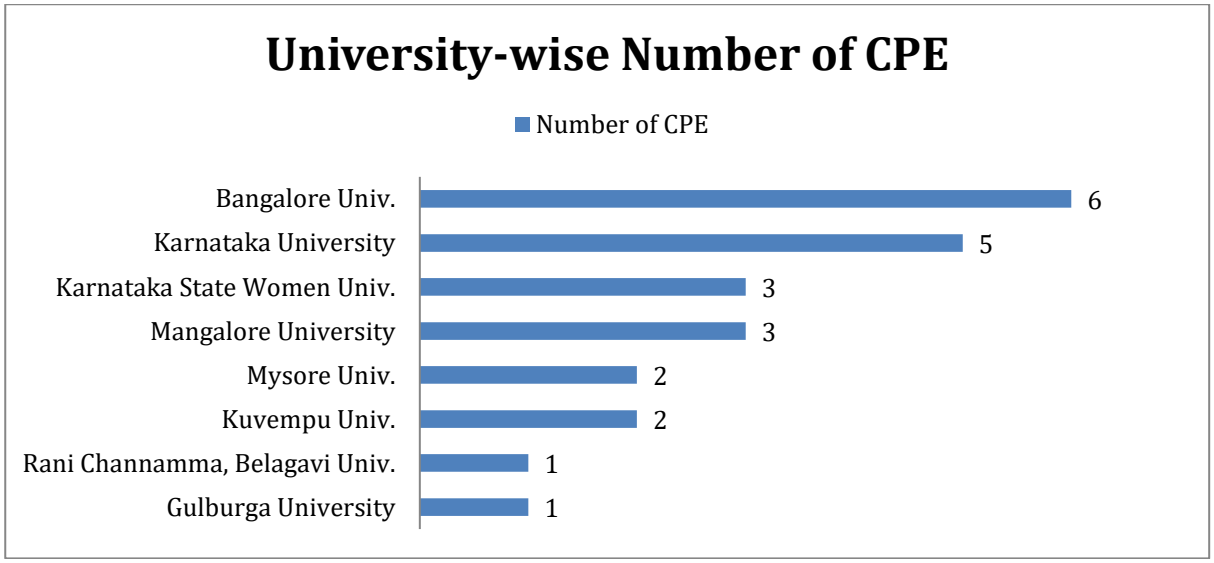
Threat

Every college that gets the status of CPE of CE is entitled for a lump sum amount from UGC for further development of the college. Hence most of the colleges are losing out on this account. They also lose both on account of lack of demand for seats by students and especially meritorious students as well as reputation over a period of time.

Opportunity

The remaining 26 colleges that have already attained status of autonomous status should be able to utilise the opportunity to become CPEs and later on CEs. All other colleges also can strive towards excellence so that in the long run State institutions gain quality consciousness and spirit of excellence.





Academic Staff Colleges (ASC) and Their Performance

Descriptor	India	Karnataka	Descriptor	India	Karnataka
Academic Staff Colleges	66	3	Percent of ASCs to Universities	10	7
Performer	13	2	Percent of PerformerASC	20	67
Under -Performer	46	1	Percent of Under Performer ASC	70	33
Non-Performer	7	0	Percent of Nonperformer ASC	10	0

Strength

Karnataka better perfoming Academic staff colleges with 67% compared to India at only 20%. India has 70% under perfomer Academic Staff Colleges while Karnataka has only 33 percent. India has ten percent nonperformer Academic Staff Ceolleges while Karnataka has none.

Weakness

India has Academic Staff Colleges in atlest ten percent of its Universities, while Karnataka has Academic Staff Colleges in only about 7 percent of its Universities. Karnataka has a large number of Government funded higher educational institutions in the country and the number of teaching and non-teaching staff is quite large. It is only the teaching staff in colleges and Universities among the professional jobs that do not undergo pre-service training or capacity building and human development. The in service training and development is also inadequate as one orientation and two refresher programmes are to be imparted during the long service tenure of over 30 years. Despite making orientation and refresher course they have limited impact on the development of teacher as a professional.

Threat

If at least two to three more Academic Staff Colleges are not provided to Karnataka it may become difficult to provide in service training to all faculty and the teaching staff may not upgrade in knowledge, skill and administrative techniques.

Opportunity

RUSA can provide an opportunity to State of Karnataka to cater to the necessity of providing pre-service and in-service training in a more systematic manner to professionalise all the teachers by funding to establish Higher Education Academy on the lines of IAS Academy, IPS Academy, Air Force Academy, Naval Academy and so on. Any teacher should have any time access and provision for self improvement and professional development. A non-professional teacher does more harm to a country either by failing to exercise his responsibilities or underperformance or non-performance.

Karnataka has a large number of Government funded higher educational institutions in the country and the number of teaching and non-teaching staff are quite large. It is only the teaching staff in colleges and Universities among the professional jobs that do not undergo pre-service training or capacity building and human development. The in service training and development is also inadequate as one orientation and two refresher programmes are to be imparted during the long service tenure of over 30 years. Despite making orientation and refresher course they have limited impact on the development of teacher as a professional.

Karnataka has a wide variety of higher educational institutions that need to be accredited. It has as many number of Higher Educational Institutions as accredited by NAAC in India so far.

Performance of Academic Staff Colleges

It is a known fact that NAAC has not been able to fulfil the demand of assessing and accrediting all Higher Educational Institutions in the country. The task of UGC has become all the more challenging especially in the context of UGC making it mandatory for all the Higher Educational Institutions to undergo Assessment and Accreditation since January 2013 and also attaching the funding to accreditation status of the institution.

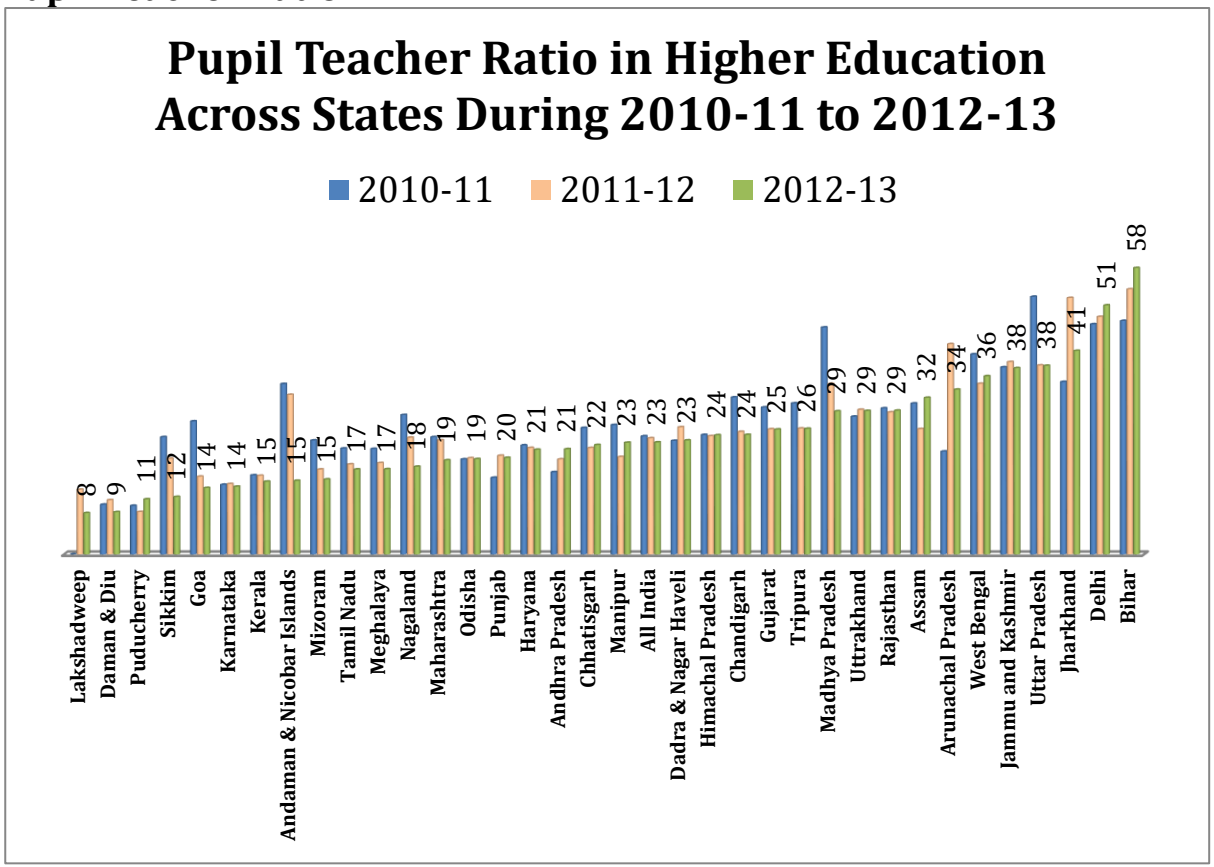
Pupil Teacher Ratio



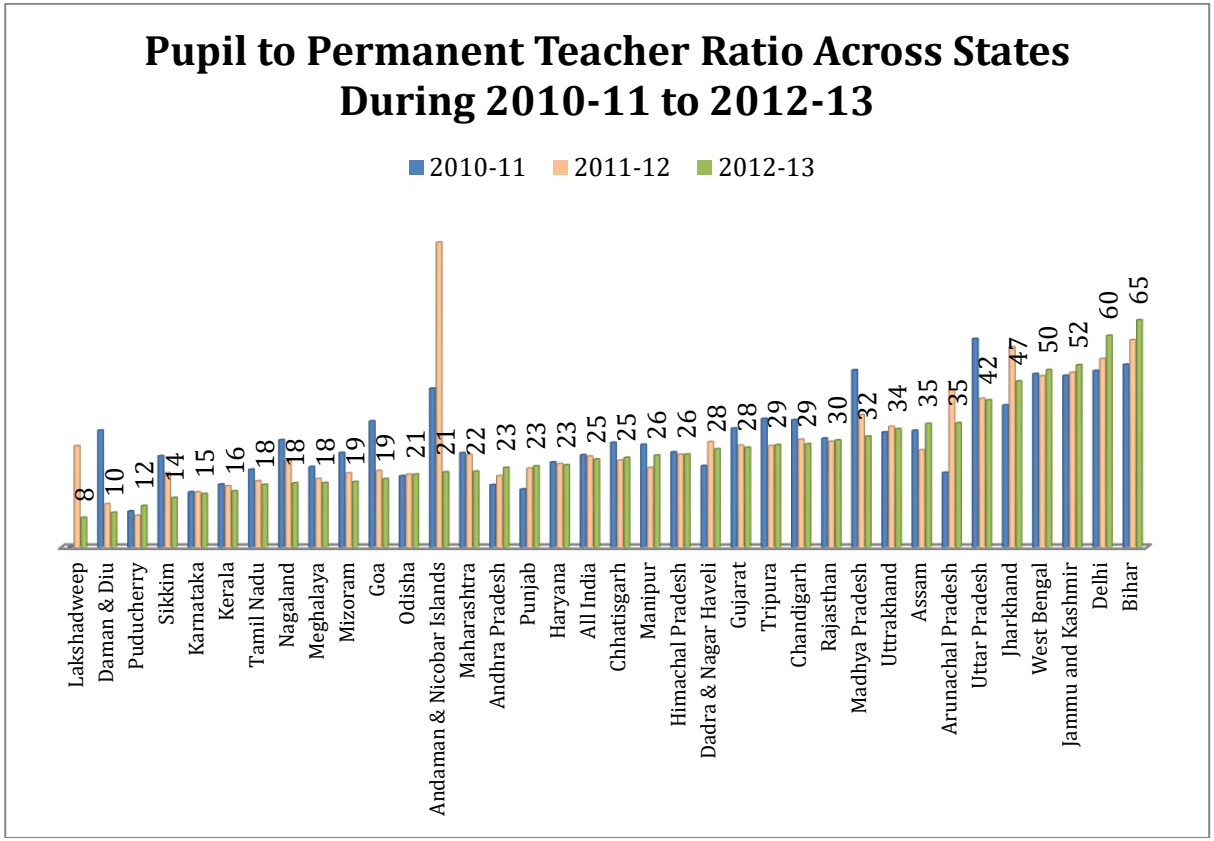
Strength

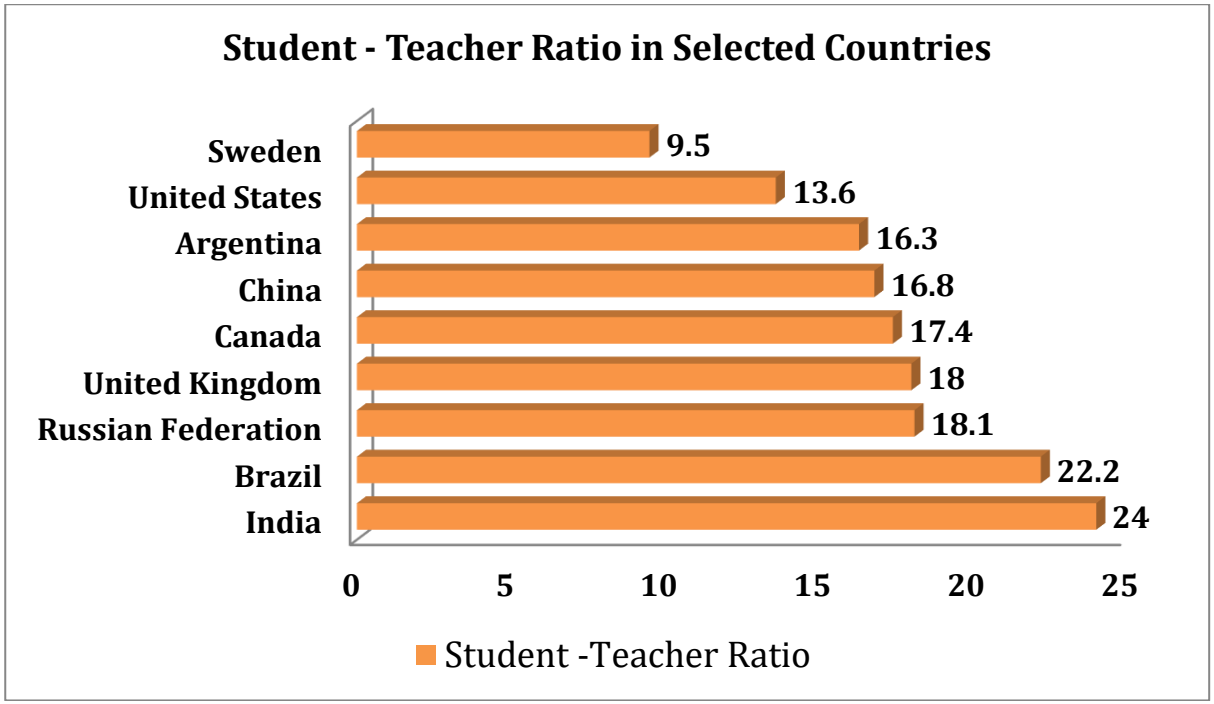
Karnataka has consistently maintained a much better overall Pupil Teacher Ratio (PTR) of 14:1 and stands at sixth position among all States and UTs in the country. It is much better than that of All India average of 23 and also better than the PTR of neighbouring States of Kerala, Tamil Nadu Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra.

The PTR ratio of Karnataka is still within the desirable levels at 15 even when only permanent faculty are considered and ranks 5th among all States and Union Territories. The PTR in neighbouring States of Kerala is at also at 15, Tamil Nadu 18, Maharashtra 22, and Andhra Pradesh 23 while that of India is at 25.

Karnataka is the first large State to have better PTR after the first three UTs and Sikkim State.

When the global PTR scenario is studied in select few countries the PTR in Karnataka is better than Brazil (22.2), Russia (18.1), UK (18), Canada (17.4), China 16.8) and Argentina (16.3).





Weakness

Although Karnataka fares well with better PTR, there is a huge vacancy of teaching posts both in Universities and colleges especially in State Government funded aided institutions. The teaching posts in new and frontier areas of Science and cutting edge technologies is still wanting as there are no permanent faculty available for recruitment. There are almost eleven thousand guest lecturers in Govt colleges. The guest faculty are working in large number in Universities. It is also tru that many subjects do not have demand and the student strength in them is dwindling taking the PTR to a lower level.

Threat

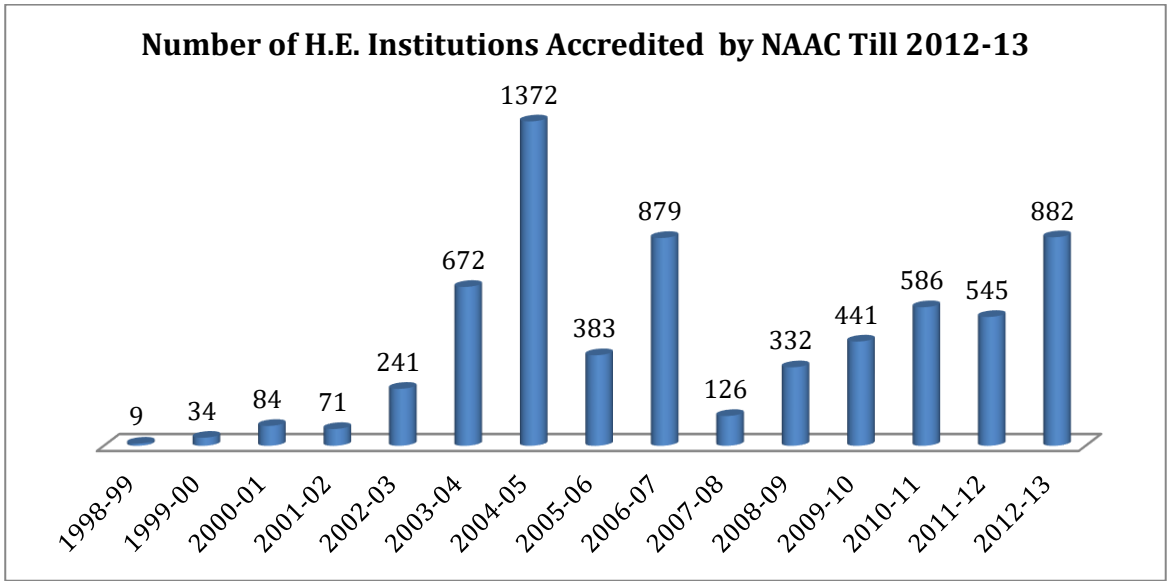
The quality of teaching suffers if vacancies are not filled up and PTR across disciplines is normalised. There would be financial burden on account of lack of deployment of excess teachers across Universities and also deterioration of work culture among teachers. Hard working teachers will be grumbling at not working teachers and they get demoralised. The Teachers without or lesser workload unless properly deployed would be getting involved in activities other than teaching and would be source of problems in institutions.

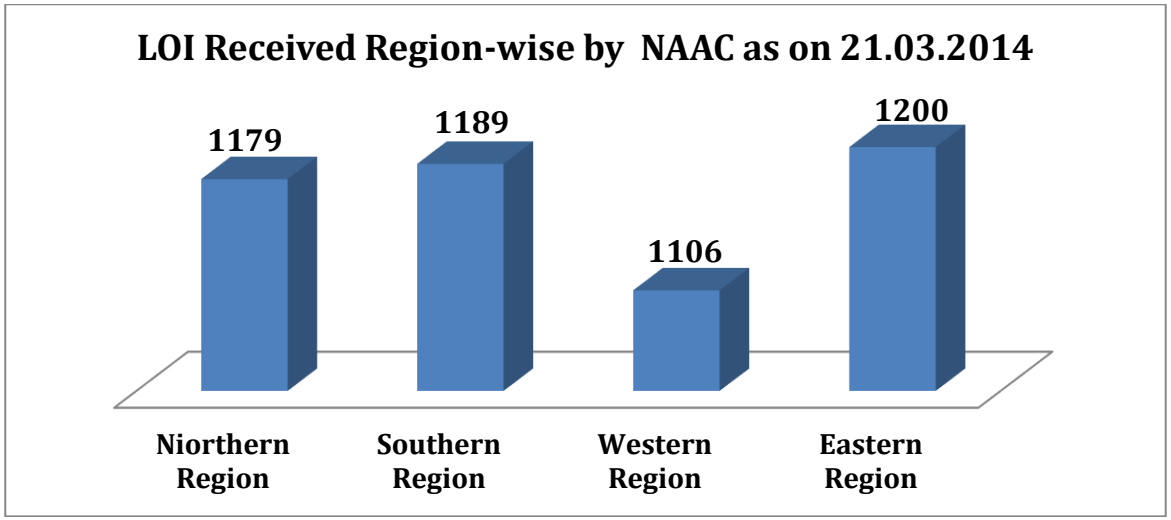
Opportunities

There are a huge number of NET and SLET qualified candidates on one hand who are looking for teaching jobs and on the other there universities and colleges facing shortage of candidates as State policies would restrict the better candidates from outside the State on account of policy of recruitment discriminating on the basis of language, region and cast and other parochial deterrents.

In order to move to global standards in Higher Education Karnataka can now afford to recruit international candidates especially of Indian Origin who would like to return to their motherlands after having earned enough name, fame and money abroad as has been done in IIM Ahmedabad. This is the time to take support of Indian Diaspora and establish world class institutions in Karnataka and make it an educational destination of India, Asia and gradually that of the World.

Percent of institutions accredited by NAAC/State Accreditation Authority

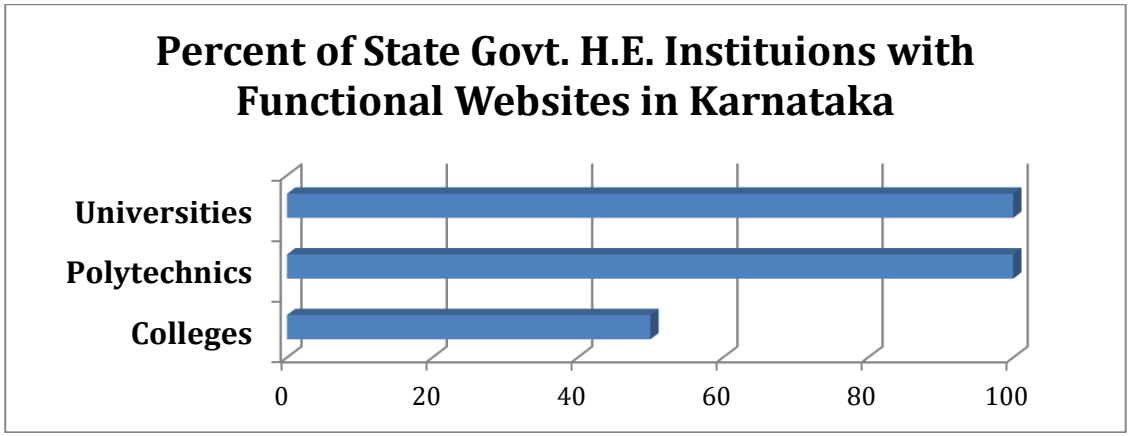




Delay in exam conduction and declaration of results (in %)

Strength
Karnataka has implemented Uniform Academic calendar and the delay in conduct of examinations and declaration of results is a thing of the past.
Weakness
However, there could be some delay especially in large Universities with large number of institutions especially in common subjects like English or commerce where the number of teachers who are on temporary appointment in most of the aided institutions will not be available for evaluation causing the delay.
Opportunity
With online examination system and implementation of online evaluation, result processing and marks card generation system by application of ICT technology, it is now possible not only to streamline the examination system but also to reduce the delay, reduce the drudgery and eradicate redundancy in examination and results declaration systems.

Percent of higher educational institutions with a functional website



Strength

100% of Universities have their own websites which are regularly updated providing maximum of information required by the students, parents, public and other stakeholders. 100% of all Polytechnics also have functional websites. However only fifty percent of colleges have functional websites and all the remaining colleges will soon have a functional website of their own to be developed and hosted by NIC and are under construction.

Karnataka has the highest number of NKN connectivity to Universities and colleges and polytechnics among all States in India.

Department of e-Governance has agreed in principle to provide Karnataka State Wide Area Network (KSWAN) connectivity to all H.E. institutions.

Weakness

However, these websites have only static information and are required to be converted into dynamic and current in nature.

The access to web information is poor due to lack of connectivity, poor bandwidth and lack of accessing devices in rural areas and semi urban areas.

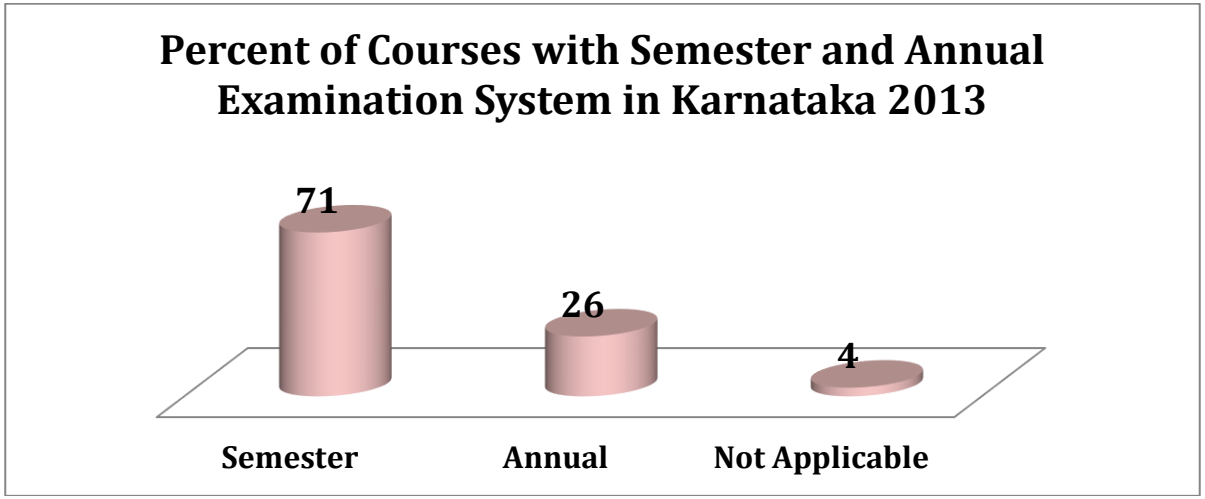
Not all but lesser percent of the Aided and Private unaided H.E. institutions in Karnataka have functional websites.

Opportunity

Department of Electronics and telecommunication, GoI, has brought Education under Mission Mode Project and if this could be extended to Higher education as well then all the institutions could be not only provided with sufficient number of computer devices but also interconnected with NMEICT but also provided with applications software for e-Governance and online systems to both students and teachers as well as common public.

Percent of Institutions Offering Education in Semester System

Karnataka is one of the premier States to have implemented Semester System of Examination in all Universities and colleges of general education. Of 13672 courses offered in Karnataka 71% of courses are offered in Semester mode while 26% are offered in Annual mode and 1% offer courses which this does not apply. However, the B Ed colleges in some universities are yet to switch over to Semester examination system in General Universities.



The annual Examination system is persisting in Fine Arts, Visual Arts, Painting courses, both UG and PG Courses in Nursing, Medical, Dentistry, and Pharmacy courses and these courses or colleges are not coming under RUSA Scheme and therefore there is no worry to shift from annual to Semester examination system. PhD examination does not come under Semester or Annual Examination Scheme.

Percent of institutions offering CBCS

Strength

Karnataka has a good spread of colleges with different faculties/disciplines across the State and therefore in a better position to initiate steps to introduce and implement Choice based credit system in the State. Already many Autonomous colleges have been offering much Choice Based Credit Courses and have made it mandatory for students to earn a minimum of credits from these CBCS. For example Mount Carmel College (Autonomous) has introduced 125 CBCs in which 20 hrs of teaching amounts to one credit and every student has to get a minimum of ten credits from different courses during their study period with terms and conditions of minimum and maximum of credits that can be earned in one semester. The Marks scored in these CBCS are entered in the Marks Card and students gain from outside classroom learning.

Weakness

No University has introduced CBCS scheme in Karnataka.

Threat

If CBCS is not introduced then students lose out many job opportunities and also opportunity to develop interdisciplinary knowledge. If CBCS is introduced then there is a risk of requirement for a large number of faculty to various subjects and hence greater financial burden to the State. Many grant-in-aid colleges lose out on account of migration of students to other colleges to pursue the courses of their choice after joining a particular course and a college.
